AGREEMENT REACHED FOR DISSOLUTION OF BIG PACIFIC MERGER

Principles of Plan Agreed On by Attorney General and U. P. Attorneys in Harmony With President's View

ADJUSTMENT MEANS NO GOVERNMENT RECEIVER

Plan Goes to U. S. Court in St. Paul Monday—Union Pacific to Release Holdings in Southern Pacific

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Attorney General McReynolds and representatives of the Union Pacific, it was definitely learned today, have reached an agreement for the dissolution of the great Harriman merger. The principles of the plan are in harmony with the views of President Wilson and he is expected to approve. It will be submitted Monday to the judges of the United States court for the eighth circuit at St. Paul.

The plan will go to the court with the government's approval, qualified only by a request that the judges give a limited time before entering a final decree, during which the government may possibly make objections which cannot now be foreseen. Attorney General McReynolds does not expect to go to St. Paul, but will send G. Carroll Todd, special assistant, who has been associated in the negotiations.

WHAT PLAN PROVIDES.

Attorney General McReynolds today said he was not ready to discuss the situation or details. It is understood, however, that the plan will provide for exchanging $38,000,000 of Southern Pacific stock held by Union Pacific for Pennsylvania's interest in Baltimore and Ohio, and the sale of the remaining $88,000,000 of Southern Pacific through the medium of a trust company under such safeguards as will end control of the Southern Pacific by either the Union Pacific or its shareholders.

Officials today declared that President Wilson and Attorney General McReynolds had been in perfect accord all along and that in case public discussion of the proposition and further study by officials shows any weaknesses, the hands of the administration will not be tied.

OTHER PROCEEDINGS LATER.

It is generally understood, that, apart from the dissolution, the attorney general later will begin proceedings under the Sherman law to separate the Central Pacific from the Southern Pacific. The supreme court did not decide that question in the Union Pacific case but held that nothing in its mandate should prejudice further proceedings or actions or litigation to sever the Central Pacific from its parent.

The proposal by which the Union Pacific would give $38,000,000 of its holdings in Southern Pacific to the Pennsylvania for the latter's interest in the Baltimore and Ohio is favorably regarded and today's consideration related primarily to the suggestion of placing the $88,000,000 of Southern Pacific stock in the hands of a trust company to be sold within a reasonable time and under such conditions as will prevent the shareholders of the Union Pacific from acquiring any substantial proportion of the Southern Pacific.

The government has contended and the supreme court has sustained the contention that no adequate dissolution can be accomplished simply by a transfer of the ownership of any great block of Southern Pacific from the Union Pacific to a broad company to the stockholders of that corporation.

WALTER COLQUITT QUITS AS U. S. COMMISSIONER

Atlanta Lawyer Resigns Important Court Job—Successor Not Indicated

Walter T. Colquitt, United States commissioner for the northern district of Georgia for nearly fifteen years, resigned effective Friday in a letter to Judge William T. Newman, the resignation to take effect June 30. Judge Newman has not announced the name of Mr. Colquitt's successor for the office, but it is expected he will do so early next week.

The reason given by Mr. Colquitt for resigning the commissionership is that his law practice requires all of his time. Last March he wrote Judge Newman requesting to be relieved of the duties of the office at the end of that quarter, but at Judge Newman's request consented to remain as commissioner until the end of June.

Mr. Colquitt is a member of the law firm of Colquitt & Conyers, general counsel for the Georgia Railway and Electric company and other prominent interests. He is a nephew of the late Senator Alfred H. Colquitt, and one of the best known lawyers in the state. Judge Newman states that he has accepted Mr. Colquitt's retirement from the position with considerable reluctance.

Discuss Commission Plan

WEST POINT, Ga., June 28.—An enthusiastic mass meeting was held at Lanier's hall to hear the report of the committee which had been appointed to draft a bill to change the form of West Point's present form of government to the commission form of government. The bill was approved by unanimous vote of the mass meeting, and will be introduced in the legislature.

Resigns as Commissioner

Atlanta lawyer who has given up important work with U. S. Court.

THEY'RE WEARING OVERCOATS NOW IN OLD DULUTH, MINN.

Temperature There 42—They Are Shivering Over Radiators, While Rest of Nation Swelters From Heat Wave

The intense heat wave continues over a greater portion of the country today, being severest in sections extending from Chicago on the north to Cairo and Memphis on the south and from Kansas City east to the Atlantic seaboard except in the Appalachians, according to a special bulletin issued by the weather bureau. No relief is promised, although the bureau announced that occasional local thundershowers are not improbable.

Continuance of the wave is indicated for at least a day or two.

Two in Atlanta Are Prostrated by Heat

Two cases of heat prostration were reported in Atlanta during the morning Saturday, although in neither case was the name of the victim obtainable.

Between 11:30 o'clock and noon, when the heat had just begun to grow extremely oppressive, two men stumbled into the United Cigar company store at the corner of Decatur street and Peachtree within five minutes of each other and fell over unconscious.

One man was laid down beneath the counter, where he revived after a fifteen-minute rest; the other was placed on the floor and recovered only after he had been worked over for full twenty minutes. Each left the place without assistance.

Two more days of heat in Atlanta were Friday and Saturday, adding to the record for continuous temperature of 90 degrees or over, which have been set by the last dozen days here.

On Friday the mercury went to 94, a record equalled only twice before this year, once on June 17 and once on June 18. At noon Saturday the 92 degree mark had been passed and it was a practical certainty that Friday's record would be topped before the day was over.

The weather man says that he is expecting a thunder storm Sunday afternoon, but that it alleviate the weather slightly.

"It looks like a hot summer," said he, Saturday morning.

But They Wear Overcoats In Duluth, Minn., Today

(By Associated Press.)

DULUTH, Minn., June 28.—Smoke rolling from smokestacks of big building spoke convincingly of a resumption of steam-heating here early today—the coldest June 28 in years. Street thermometers registered as low as 42 degrees at 6 a. m., but warmed up to 45 at 9 o'clock. Pedestrians wore overcoats and men in women in automobiles snuggled down in furs. A high wind off Lake Superior, carrying in thick fog, added to the chill.

NEW GOVERNOR IS USHERED IN WITH LITTLE CEREMONY

Ceremonies That Made John M. Slaton Governor of Georgia Were Held Saturday Noon at Capitol

GOVERNOR BROWN PAYS TRIBUTE TO SUCCESSOR

Scores of Friends of Both Governors Attend Inaugural Exercises—Justice First Administers Oath of Office

John Marshall Slaton is governor of Georgia.

Before a throng of admirers which stormed the galleries of the house chamber at the state capitol, overflowed onto the floor of house and packed capitol corridors, he was inaugurated with simple ceremony as the state's chief executive at noon Saturday.

Cheers rose to dome of the house chamber when President J. Randolph Anderson, of the state senate, wielding the gavel for the legislature assembled in joint session, formally presented Mr. Slaton as he came to the rostrum with his official party. Governor Brown, too, was cheered when he spoke feelingly of Governor Slaton's qualifications for the office into which he was being inducted.

In presenting the great seal of the state to Governor Slaton, a ceremony which follows the formal administration of the oath of office, Governor Brown, his thin voice shaking with emotion, said:

"Governor Slaton:

"In the last hours on earth of Alexander the Great, he was asked to whom would he leave that colossal empire which his genius and valor had created. The dying man replied: 'To the worthiest one.'

"Today we neither participate in nor view any death-bed scene, but the willing transfer of the executive authority of a great and noble people from him to whom I have full often felt they had been too considerately kind to him whom with voice no one can doubt they have declared: 'The worthiest one.'

"And so, in obedience to their mandate, it is my pleasure to deliver to you the symbol of Georgia's sovereignty and good faith—her Great Seal of State.

"May God bless you! May God bless the people of Georgia."

The official parties of both governors entered the house chamber shortly before 12 o'clock, five minutes after the house and senate had convened in joint session. The two governors came in together, followed by former Governor Hoke Smith, Colonel Peter J. Hines, Henry Newman and Don A. Pardee, judges of the state supreme court and appelate courts, state house officers and friends.

The oath of office was administered by Chief Justice William H. Fish.

Immediately after the oath was administered, Secretary of State Phil Cook conveyed the great seal of the state into the hands of Governor Brown. He in turn presented it to Governor Slaton and the latter restored it to the keeping of Secretary Cook.

Then Governor Slaton, thanking Governor Brown for his eulogy, began his inaugural address.

During the ceremony Mrs. Joseph M. Brown sat in a front seat facing the rostrum on the left side of the house chamber and Mrs. Slaton sat in similar seat on the right hand side.

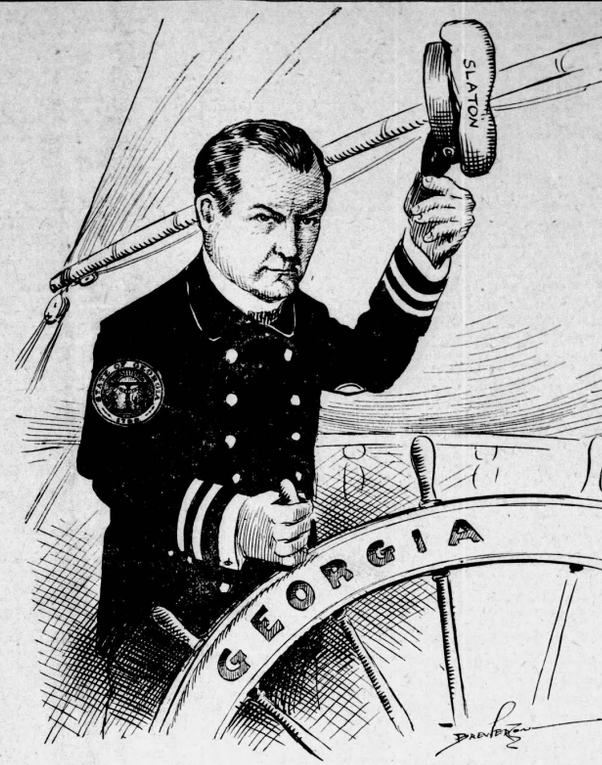
About 250 of the immediate relatives and close personal friends of the retiring and incoming governor were given seats around the speaker's rostrum.

Among those who occupied seats on the side allotted to the relatives and friends of Governor Slaton were Major W. F. Slaton, Mrs. John M. Slaton, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Slaton, Mr. and Mrs. Justice S. C. Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Waldo, Mrs. W. H. Blanchard, Mrs W. D. Grant, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Grant, John M. Slaton, Jr., W. F. Slaton, Jr., Albie Waldo, W. D. Grant, Mrs. Morgan Grant, James J. Slaton, Mr. and Mrs. A. McD. Wilson, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Jones, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Z. Phillips and Miss Robinson.

Some of Governor Brown's relatives and friends in attendance were Mrs. Joseph M. Brown, Miss Cora Brown, Charles Brown, Miss Sallie Brown, Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Connally, Miss Frances Connally and Thomas W. Connally.

Saturday was in reality a holiday in the various offices of the statecapitol. Many of the officials attended the inauguration, and following the ceremonies and the reception in the executive offices to members of the general assembly all o fthe state departments closed for their usual Saturday half holiday.

See Pages 4 and 5 for message of Governor John M. Slaton.



THE NEW PILOT---BON VOYAGE

MAYOR AGREES TO SIGN CREMATORY CONTRACT

He and Assistant City Attorney Ellis Reach Agreement After Conference

Mayor Woodward and Assistant City Attorney Ellis agreed on a crematory contract Saturday and the mayor will execute the contract as soon as it has gone through the necessary preliminaries, thus disposing after so long a time of Atlanta's garbage disposal problem.

The mayor will call a special meeting of council for next Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of having the contract passed up by council. The aldermanic board will meet immediately following council, and will concur in council's action. The contract then will be sent to the home office of the Destructor company in New York and executed by the officials of the company. It will be returned without delay to Atlanta and the mayor will sign it.

Thereupon the crematory will be turned over to the city by the Destructor company, and will be put to work as soon as it is finished. This probably will be not longer than two weeks. One unit of the plant is finished and ready to work already, and it will be used to burn the garbage from the central part of the city without waiting for the other two units to be finished. The plant when complete will have a capacity of 250 tons of garbage per day, which is sufficient to dispose of the garbage of the entire city. Thus the sanitary department will be enabled to do away with all of the garbage dumps, which are becoming more of a nuisance as the weather grows hotter.

The agreement with Mayor Woodward was reached in a conference lasting nearly two hours. In addition to Attorney Ellis, there were present Aldermen John H. Harwell, Councilman A. R. Colcord and Chief John Jentzen of the sanitary department. Messrs Harwell and Colcord urged upon the mayor the necessity of closing the matter up without delay so that the crematory could be put to work as soon as finished. Chief Jentzen told the mayor of ...e conditions that exist on account of the garbage dumps scattered throughout the city.

The basis of agreement is practically the same as arrived at by the finance committee of council and the Destructor company several weeks ago. The changes that were made in the contract at the mayor's request are of such a nature as to protect further the city's interests and to insure the performance of the plant according to the Destructor company's guarantees.

The city is to pay the company $260,000, and this amount is to cover everything, with the exception of extras which the city may possibly require after the execution of the contract. When the contract is executed the city is to pay $125,000. The balance of $135,0... will be paid after tests have been made and the plant is finally accepted.

The contract as agreed upon by the mayor and Attorney Ellis will be satisfactory to the Destructor company, according to Evans & Spence, the company's attorneys, who held a conference with Attorney Ellis immediately after he left the mayor's office.

Fifty Bookies Indicted

"SECOND MARRIAGE A TRIUMPH OF HOPE OVER EXPERIENCE," SAYS MRS. DAVID H. KEEFER

Wife, Who Will Appear Against Her Husband in Police Court, Declares She Has Renounced Society for Simple Life

"Second marriage is the triumph of hope over experience," is the epigrammatic philosophy of matrimony evolved by Mrs. Grace Macy Keefer, 880 East Fourteenth street, New York and Atlanta society woman, who will appear against her husband, David H. Keefer, in recorder's court Saturday afternoon to prosecute him for fighting with her eighteen-year-old son, Jack Macy, Friday night.

Mrs. Keefer, who is living apart from her husband following various divorce, alimony and separation actions brought in New York and Georgia courts, declared today that she had renounced society for the simple life and would spend her time among her friends, her flowers and her books.

"We are uncongenial, Mr. Keefer and I," she said. "He is an utter lover of white lights and the galeties of crowded places.

"Now I am more at home in a kitchen with a washpan than in a drawing room or at a reception. I have found out that I belong in a kitchen and am happiest dealing with things of the home."

Mrs. Keefer was found Saturday morning seated in a little frame construction office shack on Piedmont avenue near Piedmont park where she is erecting a flat building. She was attired in a simple one-piece dress of white lawn, wore a wide-brimmed hat and was discussing the payroll with the construction foreman.

TO FORGET ALL MEAN THINGS.

"This little flat I am building is to be my joy," she explained, "and once in it I am going to forget courts and lawyers and all mean things. It is to be a replica of a little Paris pension where I spent the three happiest years of my life and it is to bring that happiness back.

"I expect to devote the rest of my life to my one hobby, the study of etymology, the science of the derivation of words. I have completed a translation of the beautiful nineteenth psalm and expect to do more.

"No divorce courts or alimony judges will bother me again."

Mrs. Keefer discussed freely the incident last night in which her son, Jack Macy, fought her husband when the latter had gone there to serve a bail trower suit on young Macy for the possession of a big Loder automobile.

SAYS KEEFER STRUCK HER.

"It is true," she declared, "that my husband struck me, but only when I flew at his throat enraged to think that he would go to the Driving club and attack my son."

She said that she had sworn out a warrant in behalf of her son charging Keefer with assault and battery, and had caused a case made against him in police court charging disorderly conduct.

The incident last night caused intense excitement for a short time, and grew out of the bitter and involved court actions prosecuted by both Mr. and Mrs. Keefer in local and New York courts.

The Keefers were married in 1906 and disagreed within a few years. Mrs. Keefer begun suit for separation in the court of New York state at Port Chester, her home.

Later she came to Atlanta and divorce, alimony and counsel fees suits were instituted in the Fulton courts. In this bill, filed for her attorneys, by

WOULD REFUSE SEATS TO TWO NEW LEGISLATORS

House Committee Said to Be Planning to Report Against Additional Members

It was reported Saturday morning that the house committee of nine, headed by H. J. Fullbright, of Burke, to investigate the legality of the seating of Leo H. Browning, of Bleckley, and Douglas S. McArthur, of Wheeler representing new counties would recommend that they be not seated.

The committee met Friday afternoon, but failing to come to a decision, adjourned to reconvene again Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock for the purpose of going further into the matter of the constitutional questions involved. The point raised is the right to seat these two members in the house of representatives, bringing the total membership to 186, when the constitution of the state allows but 184.

From what could be learned the committee did not seem at all disposed to seat these members under the circumstances, though it is known that considerable regret is felt at arriving at a decision that may prevent them from participating in the deliberations of the present general assembly.

Upon presenting the resolution for a reading Wednesday morning, Mr. Fullbright made it a point that the action on his part should not be construed as a personal attack on Representatives Browning and McArthur, but as a means of obviating the possibility of the lower house setting about its work in the shadow of any illegality, no matter how technical.

Should the report of the committee be unfavorable, as is expected, and subsequently be confirmed by the house it would then be necessary for the governor to call another section in the two counties involved while teh legislature at the same time would set about to make an amendment to the constitution increasing the membership of the house to 186.

It has been ascertained further that the Bacon amendment, which has been sent to the senate for confirmation, setting the date for the election of United States senators by the people for July 15, would not become invalidated through a failure to seat the two members, as their vote was not necessary to pass it, the action of the body being unanimous.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT FOR BUSINESS IN CONGRESS

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 28.—"A gentleman's agreement was made today among the three party leaders of the house that no business shall be transacted during the next two weeks except upon unanimous consent. The house will adjourn three days at a time beginning today until next Wednesday. Meantime many of the members will enjoy a respite from legislative work.

The recess program hinged upon the work of the banking and currency committee. Democratic Leader Underwood said Chairman Glass, of the house currency committee, told him that the committee would not be ready to report before July 14.

FOUR MORE OFFICERS UNDER SUSPENSION BY CHIEF'S ORDER

Eight Patrolmen Have Been Stripped of Their Badges for Patronizing Auburn Avenue Blind Tiger

BEAVERS IS DETERMINED TO CRUSH CORRUPTION

Four Men Are Under Suspension, Wood Resigns but Denies He Made Statement Charging Corruption in Dept.

Four additional patrolmen were suspended from the force by Chief of Police J. L. Beavers Saturday afternoon, their names having been involved in the police scandal about the negro blind tiger and disorderly house, which has been operated at 127 Auburn avenue by Ola Bradley, a negress.

The officers suspended are M. C. Folds, J. P. Horn, J. J. Jackson and J. E. McDaniels, and they make a total of eight policemen who have been relieved from duty as the result of the sensational developments which followed a raid Friday on the Auburn avenue place by Plainclothes Officers Moon and Adams and Captain W. F. Terry.

Policemen H. A. Wood, C. H. Bailey, R. T. David and Lon W. Evans were suspended Friday.

The new figures in the police scandal are involved largely through the statements of Ola Bradley, the proprietress of the place, and Walter Gray, a negro waiter.

NEGRESS MAKES STATEMENT.

Ola Bradley is charged with running a disorderly rooming house and a blind tiger with a dance hall feature, too. She was sent to the stockade Friday afternoon, but by paying one fine and making a certiorari bond for $500 in another case she secured her release. Shortly afterwards she appeared at police headquarters and there she made a written statement in which she involved the officers, who were suspended Saturday.

One Sunday about three months ago, the negress alleges, Folds and Horn, who work on the morning police watch, came to her place together, and one of them, she alleges, gave her a drink of rye whisky from a bottle which policeman says he took from his pocket. Some minutes later, she allegs, the two men commenced to quarrel, and the "fight" was passed. Then Folds, the woman alleges, reached for his revolver. At this critical juncture Walter Gray, the negro waiter at the resort, intervened, and made peace between the belligerent officers. The reason of the quarrel aas not been made officially.

According to the police authorities, the statement of Walter Gray, who was arrested early Saturday morning by Call Officers Jones and Watson, corroborates the report of the affair made by Ola Bradley.

In her statement to the police officials Ola Bradley stated that last Monday Policeman J. J. Jackson came to her place, and walking back to the refrigerator imbibed two bottles of cold beer. Officer Jackson, according to the woman, frequently came to her place and drank, and on several occasions he was accompanied by Officer McDaniels, she alleges.

McDaniels, however, the woman asserts, never took a drink in her place, and several times he openly upbraided Jackson because he did drink there.

Nichols has not otherwise been involved, and he has been suspended because of his failure to report to his superiors the existence of the place and the fact that it was visited by brother officers.

Following the suspension of the second batch of officers, Chief of Police Beavers stated that the Ola Bradley place was the only one of its kind which has existed in the city of late of which he has had any report.

NO OTHERS INVOLVED.

While the probe has not been dropped, the chief stated at that time he had no intimation that any other officers would be involved, and it is generally believed about police headquarters that

HOOPER AND GOLDSTEIN JOIN LITTLE & POWELL

Former Solicitor of Southwestern Circuit and Popular Atlantian Join Firm

Frank A. Hooper, who is to assist the solicitor general in the prosecution in the Phagan case, and M. F. Goldstein, a well known young attorney, will join the law firm of Little & Powell on July 1.

The senior members of the firm are John D. Little and Judge Arthur Powell. After July 1 the firm will be styled Little, Powell, Hooper & Goldstein.

Mr. Hooper served in the southwestern circuit for twelve years as solicitor general, but removed from Americus to Atlanta a few years ago to become general counsel for the Empire Life Insurance company.

In connection with the formation of the new firm, Mr. Hooper states that his new association will in no way affect his connection with the Phagan case, and he will continue to personally assist the solicitor general in the prosecution, while his firm will have no connection with the case.

Mr. Goldstein, the junior member of the new firm, is a graduate of the University of Georgia and of Yale. In four years' practice here he has established an enviable record at the local bar.

SENATOR SMITH'S BILL TO AID VOCATIONAL SCHOOLS

WASHINGTON, June 28.—A step toward solving the question of governmental aid to the founding of vocational educational schools was taken by the senate today through the passage of Senator Hoke Smith's bill providing for a commission of nine experts to study the question and report to the next session of congress.

The bill is expected temporarily to halt action on the various vocational school bills now before congress and which have been the subject of much discussion. The commission that would be authorized would not take up the consideration of agricultural extension work, which is embodied in separate bills before congress. The commissioners would be appointed by the president to serve without pay.

EX-MAYOR WINN IS NOT CANDIDATE FOR COUNCIL

Ex-Mayor Courtland S. Winn, now a resident of the Eighth ward, and frequently mentioned of late as a possible candidate for council to succeed Councilman Clarence Haverty, states that he is out of politics and will not make the race.

Charles E. Harmon, a well known Atlanta railroad man, who once served in council from the Eighth ward, is now being mentioned as a candidate for Councilman Haverty's place.

Another name spoken of in the same connection is that of Archibald Davis, a well known attorney, who has taken an active hand in politics from time to time, being secretary of the campaign against the new charter in 1911.

$1,000 DAMAGES GIVEN FOR TROLLEY ACCIDENT

Dr. J. E. Sommerfield, of 300 Washington street, was awarded $1,000 damages from the Georgia Railway and Power company in the superior court Friday for injuries to himself and his automobile in a collision on March 19, 1912, at Hill stret and Glennwood avenue.

The suit was for $10,000, the plaintiff alleging that the corner where the accident happened is a dangerous one, that the street car was being run negligently, and that the car did not stop when the brakes were applied.

Attorneys Dorsey, Brewster, Howell and Heyman regresented the plaintiff. The company was represented by Colquitt and Conyers.

BUSH BILL PROHIBITS TIPPLING ON TRAINS

A bill to keep drunken persons off of trains and to prohibit drinking on trains has been introduced in the state senate by W. J. Bush, of the Eighth district.

The measure provides that any person getting aboard a train in an intoxicated condition may be arrested by the conductor and held until he can be turned over to the county authorities. The offense of appearing on a train in a drunken condition is to be adjudged a misdemeanor.

The bill makes it a misdemeanor to drink liquor on trains, and railroads in its provisions will be held responsible for tippling occurring in coaches.

COMPULSORY EDUCATION UP AGAIN IN A BILL

A bill requiring all county and municipal boards of education to take a complete census of all children between the ages of eight and fourteen years and authorizing such boards to compel the attendance at school of all children between these ages for a period of at least two months during each scholastic year, was introduced in the house Friday by Representative Fullbright, of Burke.

Section four of the bill provides a penalty for the parent or guardian disregarding the law.

MAY INCREASE TAXES TO PAY SCHOOL TEACHERS

Representative McMichael, of Marion county, has introduced the first bill for a method whereby the school teachers of Georgia may be paid promptly.

The bill of Mr. McMichael, introduced in the house of representatives Friday, seeks to amend the constitution so as to increase the tax rate one mill per year for a period of two years, the money raised in this manner to be applied to the payment of the salaries of state school teachers.

The bill upon its first reading was referred to the committee on constitutional amendments.

TWO HOUSE MEMBERS ARE NOT SEATED YET

After a meeting held in the speaker's room of the house of representatives Friday afternoon, the committee of nine appointed from the house to investigate the legality of the seating of Mr. Browning, of Bleckley, and Mr. McArthur, of Wheeler, failed to recall a decision and adjourned until next Monday at 3 p. m. The point in question is the constitutional limitation of the number of representatives to 184, while the admission of these two members from newly-created counties brings the total to 186.

Junior Order Social

Enterprise Council No. 1, Jr. O. U. A. M. will entertain the members, their families and their friends in their council chamber at 44 1-2 E. Hunter street on next Monday evening, June 30, at 8:15 p. m.

GEORGIA AND HER POLITICS

Lieutenant Governor Bill May Pass at This Session.

For eight long years Representative Crawford Wheatley, of Sumter, has indulged the confident hope that some day the legislature of Georgia would pass a bill looking to the creation of the office of lieutenant governor, and he now believes that the time has arrived and that such a bill will be passed at this session.

Mr. Wheatley introduced the first lieutenant governor bill in 1905 while he was representing the Thirteenth district in the state senate. This bill was drawn by Judge Charles R. Crisp, now congressman from the Third Georgia district, and carefully revised by Judge A. L. Miller, the eminent jurist and constitutional lawyer of Macon.

It passed the senate but was defeated in the house. At every session since Mr. Wheatley, through one member or another, has had the lieutenant governor bill introduced and several times it has come "within an ace" of passing.

Satisfied that Georgia needs a lieutenant governor, Mr. Wheatley again has introduced his bill.There are two strong arguments which he uses in support of the measure. One is that since the change of the sessions of the legislature from the fall to the summer there is once every two years a six months interim during which the state is without a president of the senate, who, under the present arrangements, becomes governor in case of a vacancy by resignation or death. Should the governor die during this six months' interim there would be no one to fill the office.

A second very strong reason advanced by Mr. Wheatley is that the state should have a lieutenant governor is the heavy expense entailed by the state for extra sessions of the legislature, assembled to call an election for governor on occasions when the chief executive dies or resigns. It is pointed out that even a few days' extra session of the legislature costs the state in the neighborhood of $10,000.

Mr. Wheatley also believes that the lieutenant governor should be elected by the people instead of by the members of the state senate.

Congressman J. R. Walker Is Here Greeting Old Friends.

No visitor upon the present session of the legislature has received a more cordial reception than Congressman John Randall Walker, of the Eleventh Georgia district.

Congressman Walker is in Atlanta with his wife, who is to undergo an operation at a private sanitarium. He has a leave of absence from Washington until July 4.

The congressman, who served in the legislature as a representative from Lowndes county during the session of 1907-08, was escorted to a seat upon the floor of the house Friday and for an hour or more he greeted old friends and watched the proceedings.

In the primary of last fall Mr. Walker was elected to succeed defeating Judge Thomas A. Parker, of Waycross. He is one of the successful lawyers of Valdosta.

Legislative Committees Will Be Announced Early Next Week.

House and senate committees for the 1913-14 session of the general assembly will be announced early next week, probably on Wednesday. President J. Randolph Anderson, of the senate, has about completed his committees, but will wait to announce them on the same day that Speaker W. H. Burwell's committees are read in the house.

The speaker has a long list of committees which must be made up from the 185 members of the house. He is working every spare minute upon these assignments, but the task is a difficult one and he does not expect to have the list complete before about the middle of the coming week.

Cooper Griggs' Appointment Pleases Friends In Georgia.

Friends of J. F. Cooper Griggs, of Apalachicola, Fla., are pleased to know that President Wilson has selected him to be collector of customs for Jacksonville, Fla., the biggest piece of federal patronage in that state.

Mr. Griggs numbers his friends in Atlanta, and, in fact, throughout Georgia, by the hundreds. He is a nephew of the late Congressman James Griggs, who at the time of his death was congressman from the Second district.

Mr. Griggs long has been prominent in Florida politics. He offered for congress twice, but met defeat each time. He was a delegate to the Democratic national convention in Baltimore and, with Frank Mayes, of Pensacola, left the Florida delegation, which had been instructed to vote for Underwood, and cast his vote for Woodrow Wilson, under whose banner he had enlisted during the pre-convention primary campaign in Florida.

ENGINEER SHOOTS YOUNG VENABLE THREE TIMES

Fight at Stone Mountain Ends in Gun-Play—Doctors Say Venable Will Recover

Walter Venable, assistant manager of the Venable Stone works, at Stone Mountain, was shot three times through the abdomen by Bill Collum, an engineer who had been dismissed from the employ of the plant, in a fight Friday afternoon at the works.

Venable was rushed to Atlanta in an automobile and taken to the Grady hospital, where the bullets were removed. It is said that his injuries are not serious and that he will recover.

It is rumored that the fight began when the engineer approached the young man and insulted him. Venable, it is said, knocked the man down three times before the latter began to fire at him. Venable is a graduate of the New York School of Technology. Collum was arested and is now held in the Stone Mountain jail.

GOV. BROWN FREES MEYER OF SENTENCE FOR KILLING

The ten-year sentence of Lep Meyer, of Macon, for killing Mary Moore, of Macon, has been commuted by Governor Brown to present service.

At his trial Meyer's defense was that the woman had called his sister over telephone and had insulted her. He said that he had gone to the Moore woman's house to see her about the matter and that the woman was advancing upon him with a revolver when he shot her. Meyer has served thirteen months.

MAYOR SIGNS CONTRACT FOR NEW FIRE ENGINE

Mayor Woodward Friday signed a contract for the new automobile fire engine in the Tenth ward, which recently was purchased from the American LaFrance Fire Engine company for $9,000.

The engine is already installed and is giving the Tenth ward good service. A few days ago it made a run of more than a mile to a fire and arrived ahead of the horse apparatus from the Seventh ward station, only a few blocks away.

DR. STARNES RESIGNS AS CITY ORGANIST

Terminates Engagement Here August 1—Music Assn. Has No Funds to Retain Him

After three years spent here as city organist, Dr. Percy J. Starnes will terminate his engagement on August 1. In explaining his action he said that the Atlanta Music Festival association has told him that it was without funds, and he did not care to ask for public subscriptions.

Following a vacation, Dr. Starnes will make a tour of Canada and the eastern cities in the fall and the west during next spring.

Dr. Starnes expresses the appreciation he feels of the treatment he has received since being here. H has made many friends while in Atlanta.

Since he came to Atlanta he has given fifty afternoon concerts one of the most delightful features.

AGRICULTURE IN GRADED SCHOOLS, IS BUSH'S IDEA

If a bill sent to the senate Friday by W. J. Bush, of the Eighth district, becomes a law, agriculture will be taught in all the graded schools of Georgia.

The bill, providing the addition of agricultural study, puts the matter directly under the supervision of the state school superintendent. He is made ex-officio member of the board of trustees of the state college of agriculture districts to oversee the agricultural activities of the schools.

Senator Bush believes that the scientific study of agriculture begun in the graded schools will make for increased activity in this life.

CITY ATTORNEY MAYSON IS TAKING A VACATION

For the first time in his career as city attorney, James L. Mayson has left the city for a week's vacation.

His assistant, W. D. Ellis, Jr., commenting on Mr. Mayson's unprecedented behavior, laughingly remarked that he considered it the highest compliment the city attorney had ever paid him.

"Therefore, either because of an inhuman fondness for work or because he was afraid to trust me with the city's legal department. Mr. Mayson has declined to leave the city," said Mr. Ellis.

A WORKER APPRECIATES THIS

Wm. Morris, a resident of Florence, Oregon, says: "For the last fourteen years my kidneys and bladder incapacitated me for all work. About eight months ago I began using Foley Kidney Pills, and they have done what other medicines failed to do, and now I am doing and feeling fine, I heartily recommend Foley Kidney Pills." Foley Kidney Pills do not contain habit forming drugs and are tonic in acting, quick in results. They will help any case of kidney trouble not beyond the reach of medicine. THEATERS

(Criticisms of dance performances at the local theaters are written by members of the Journal staff. All other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theater managements.)

FORSYTH—Vaudeville.
GRAND—"Quo Vadis," in pictures.
BIJOU—Tabloid Musical Comedy.

The last performances of "Quo Vadis" will be run off at the Grand matinee and night today.

There is every indication that the big theater will be tested almost to its limit of capacity, as it has been that many hundreds of people have waited until the last minute, and now realize that this sensation in modern photo-play is about to be moved.

Commencing with matinee on Monday afternoon, and continuing throughout the week with daily matinee and evening performances, the Grand management will present for the first time Thomas A. Edison's Kinetophone, the invention of the wizard who has perfected talking motion pictures. Mr. Edison has taken over the phonograph, the picture machine and the phonograph, and welded them in such a fashion that he has perfected beyond question or doubt the perfect synchronism.

The pictures have been seen exclusively in the biggest vaudeville theaters in the country, and the Grand management succeeded only at this time in securing an outfit of machinery necessary to make the presentation.

In addition to talking pictures, the program will include first run pictures *of the highest grade, making up an en*tertainment that will continue for an hour and one-half.

The matinees daily will commence at 2:30, and night performances at 7:30 and 9:30. Prices will be 25 cents, and at night the prices will be 25 cents 50 cents.

Matinee and night performances Saturday end the engagement of Gertrude Vanderbilt and Co., at Forsyth, and the other especially interesting acts that have made up the program this week at the Forsyth.

Commencing with matinee on Monday a combination of seven Keith acts will be produced. Heading this program will be Eddie Foy and Co., who will be remembered as Marty Brewster in "Brewster's Millions," and who really laid the foundation for his success in the role of *"Officer 606." Mr. Abeles, with the as*sistance of Miss Charlotte Laner, will present his newest sketch, "He Tried to Be Nice."

Another feature of next week's bill will be Billy McDermott, a tramp comedian, who has appeared on all the Keith theaters throughout the country. His work is unlike that of any other entertainer in vaudeville, and it is predicted that he will be one of the big hits of the season.

Violinsky, a musical genius, and The Musli-Francis company in a comedy play, will be the foundation of the bill.

Of the several tabloids that have visited the Bijou so far, popular opinion has voted "The Merry Whirl" one of the best of the season. The three comedians who are responsible for the fun making are clever and the songs are particularly well rendered. The singing of Miss Marjorie Lake is proving a distinct hit, and her rendition of "Wait Till Your Daddy Comes Home" is one of the features of the attraction.

The management of the Bijou announces for next week the engagement of Lewis & Lake's sparkling musical comedy, "A Trip to Paris." This is one of the liveliest and best of the musical tabloids that will visit Atlanta this season. It is full of comedy, catchy music, and several up-to-date features that make the attraction pleasing. The musical and vaudeville interruptions are said to be above the average and the performance moves with a dash and vim that carries everything before it.

The Campaign is open to all residents of Georgia, Alabama, Florida, North Carolina, South Carolina, Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee.

See complete prize list on another page.

HOW THEY CAN BE INTERESTED

A gentleman came in to Booklovers' Headquarters yesterday to buy a catalogue and Answer Book and the complete set of pictures and stated that he and his wife had gone on a visit to some friends and when they arrived there found their hostess with all the prize pictures arranged on the floor and were going through the catalogue looking for possible titles to the prize pictures. These became very much interested in the plan, especially from the fact that their friends were so enthusiastic over the game, declaring that they were getting more enjoyment out of it than any game they ever took part in. This gentleman and his wife are now full fledged contestants and we are sure they will work hard to get some one of the big prizes.

Any Journal reader who has held back for any reason whatever should now take the time to not only enter, but to work out the different prize titles, and bring home one of the prizes.

As you know there are 747 prizes in all. That will go around a long way and will give every one a chance to win one. It will work a good chance to come in the Campaign and take home one of the gold prizes.

Remember you will not have to solicit votes or subscriptions in order to win in this campaign.

Use the coupons and get in for your share of $7,000 today!

WHOLE FAMILY OF SIX IS CREMATED IN HOME

Father, Mother and Four Children Found Roasted Near Lexington, S. C.

(By Associated Press.)

COLUMBIA, S. C., June 28.—An entire family of six persons was burned to death at Lexington, S. C., last night. The house was found in ashes this morning with six charred bodies in the ruins.

A special dispatch from Lexington, S. C., to the Columbia Record, this morning brought the news of the horrible tragedy. A milk man going along the road between Little Mountain and Leak station discovered dense columns of smoke arising from a point near some woods early in the morning and came upon the ruins of John Jacobs' farm house.

Human interest gave way to horror when he found the charred body of a child near the front door step within the ruins. Further inspection revealed five other bodies, indicating that both Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs and their four children lay dead among the debris.

Two of the bodies, judging from the positions in which they lay, were given up to death hand-in-hand. One of the daughters was a teacher in the Little Mountain school, and the elder son was about eighteen years old, the two other children being small.

The cause of the tragedy is a mystery. Farmers in the vicinity were quickly aroused and started an investigation. A telephone message was sent to Sheriff M. J. Miller, of Lexington, and the latter started for the scene at once, with one or two officers, to investigate.

Some farmers in the neighborhood argued their suspicions of foul play and others have the opinion that the home of the Jacobs had been struck and fired by lightning during a storm shortly after midnight and the entire family annihilated. A coroner's inquest is expected later today.

The list of the dead includes:

Mr. and Mrs. John Jacobs, their daughter, Miss Ellen Jacobs, aged 24, and their three sons, Leslie, 18; Hugh, 16, and Oren, 10.

ASK PROBE OF CHARGES SENATORS OUSTED MARTIN

Five Jacksonville Citizens Ask Investigation of Resignation of John W. Martin

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 28.—President Wilson today received a telegram from five citizens of Jacksonville asking investigation of a charge that Senator Fletcher and Senator Bryan compelled John W. Martin, collector of customs at that city, to sign his resignation before they would permit confirmation by the senate of his recent nomination. The White House referred the telegram to the treasury department and it was said the president would confer with Secretary McAdoo next week.

H. C. Griggs was nominated for the post yesterday and his confirmation by the senate will remove Martin, who has refused to get out.

MR. LOUIS REBB, ENGINEER FOR 25 YEARS, IS DEAD

Mr. Louis Rebb, in point of service one of the oldest passenger train engineers on the Central of Georgia railway, having been at the throttle for more than twenty-five years, died Saturday morning at 10:40 o'clock at his residence, 9 Garnett street.

Mr. Rebb was forty-eight years of age. He had been in ill health for the past two years. Surviving him are his mother, rMs. Amy Rebb; two daughters, Mrs. A. Y. Yeager and Miss Edith Rebb; one sister, Mrs. A. Y. Drake, and five brothers, Julius A., James A., R. A., C. W. and C. A.

The funeral will occur Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Central Baptist church. The place of interment will be decided later.

FEDERAL PRISONERS HELD FOR DECISION BY JUDGE

Edward F. Blake and Frank Howard, two federal prisoners, ho sought release under habeas corpus proceedings, were remanded to the penitentiary Saturday by Judge Newman, of the federal court, pending his decision.

Lamar Hill, counsel for the men, contended that they were sentenced in gross to ten years for two offenses, whereas they should have been given five years on each offense. They entered pestiffices at Morris and East Morris, Conn.

VIOLENCE GROWS IN CAR STRIKE AT BIRMINGHAM

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 28.—Police and detectives have been kept on the jump answering alarms tonight, and cases of violence in the street railway strike are growing frequent. Dynamite on the track blew off part of a wheel on a Boyles car tonight and a stick of dynamite on the East Lake line was run over this morning without exploding. Bolts and bricks are thrown frequently at cars from the upper stories of buildings.

OPEN HEARINGS ON NEW CURRENCY BILL

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Open hearings on the administration currency bill will be late next week before the banking committee.

The hearings are expected to bring expert views from business men, bankers and students of finance.

Senator Owen declared today that under no circumstances would the federal reserve bank be increased or representation be given to the banking interests.

WINNER OF GRAND OPERA PRIZE WILL SING IN ATLANTA SUNDAY

MISS EULALIA T CANNON.

Miss Eulalia Bright Cannon, Atlanta Girl Who Won $3,000 Prize for Her Song, Will Be Heard at Organ Concert

Miss Eulalia Bright Cannon, the Atlanta girl who won the $3,000 prize for study in grand opera singing, in competition with hundreds of young women from all parts of the United States, will be the soloist at the free organ concert Sunday afternoon at the auditorium-armory under Music Festival association auspices.

Miss Cannon, although but eighteen years old, is one of those persons in a generation who has been blessed by nature with a splendid voice. When only a child of ten years her mother, Mrs. L. C. Cannon, and her sister, Miss Mary Cannon, whose home is at 647 Peacatree street, discovered the remarkable qualities of her voice, and although she was much too young to be placed under an instructor, her mother directed her musical efforts as carefully as she could.

The beautiful qualities of the voice, its accuracy, and the astonishing ease with which the young girl sang the most difficult songs soon convinced her family and friends that she promised to become one of the great singers of the age.

Two years ago, accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. E. S. Redhead, Miss Cannon went to New York to begin a systematic study of her art. From the first she met with unusual success. It was but a question of a few weeks until the musical circles of that city learned of the remarkable young soprano, and she soon was invited to sing at the Rubenstein club and in other well known musical circles.

Her voice attracted the attention and admiration of great artists whose names are well known to the patrons of grand opera in Atlanta, and it was soon evident that Miss Cannon was destined to become one of the great singers of her time. Madame Gadski, Formia and other Metropolitan stars have predicted for her a wonderful future, and her many friends and admirers in Atlanta are even more enthusiastic over her voice.

NO PROBE MADE OF WARE ROBBERY ON JUNE 16TH

Railway Mail Clerk Corrects Impression Made by Story Published About Hold-Up

W. S. Ware, a railway mail clerk who was knocked down and robbed by three negroes on the night of June 16 while carrying registered mail from the Terminal station to the postoffice, wishes to make some corrections in the account of the affair which appeared in The Journal.

Mr. Ware says that the story gives the impression that the department was probing the affair to see if he himself was not implicated in a guilty way. No such probe has been made, says Mr. Ware, and he is still employed by the department.

The story said that Mr. Ware telephoned police headquarters from the fire department. Mr. Ware says that he did not use the fire department phone, but merely stopped there a few minutes. He says, too, that he rode to the Grady hospital in a patrol, and did not walk there, as was stated.

ATLANTIC WATERS REACH GATUN LOCKS IN CANAL

(By Associated Press.)

PANAMA, June 28.—The large lower gates at Gatun are being put to the actual test of full pressure for the first time. The Atlantic waters have been allowed to flow in gradually against the gates and they reached the sea level yesterday forenoon. The engineers are watching the test with interest and they report that the gates are firm and water-tight. The water is now at the fifty foot stage

JERSEY'S GOVERNOR MAKES INVESTIGATION OF VICE

SEAGIRT, N. TO BEGIN WORK SOON ON HOME FOR INCORRIGIBLES

Institution Will Be for Those Who Are Given Sentences by Court

The actual construction of a county home for incorrigible women will commence within the next few weeks, according to Tull C. Waters, chairman of the alms and juvenile committee of the board of county commissioners.

At the meeting of the board Saturday morning Mr. Waters made arrangements for securing county teams to haul the stone and lumber to the land on the Baker's Ferry road near the Chattahoochee river, where the institution will be located.

Already the ground about the site is being cleared, and Mr. Waters expects the building to be erected within sixty days of the time work is actually started on it. There will be accommodations for thirty.

While it is one of the projects long fostered by the Men and Religion Movement, the Institution will be directly under the supervision of the county, and white women who receive jail or chain gang sentences in the courts will be committed to it, like any other prison.

The institution on the Baker's Ferry road will have no connection with the Harriet Hawkes home, which the county has recently taken over. The latter institution will be only for girls under sixteen years of age, while the former institution will house only incorrigible women sent there by the courts.

The county convicts will probably do most of the work on the new structure.

SHRINERS TO INITIATE IN CANAL IN AUGUST

PANAMA, June 27.—A grand pilgrimage of Mystic Shriners of the United States to the Panama canal will take place the latter part of August. It is planned to hold an initiation ceremony at the bottom of the Miraflores locks on Labor Day, under the auspices of the Shriner Temple of St. Paul, Minn. Three steamships have been chartered to take the visitors to the Isthmus.

FOES OF FORMER DAYS CRONIES AT GETTYSBURG

Exhaustive Preparations Are Made to Safeguard Health of All Veterans

(By Associated Press.)

GETTYSBURG, Pa., June 28.—Although there were several prostrations yesterday, the extreme heat failed to dampen the ardor of the old soldiers here for the battle anniversary celebration next week. From shortly after sunrise until late at night the streets of Gettysburg were crowded with the veterans, north and south. Some of them paraded, cheering and singing in fraternizing exuberance with former foes, while others gathered in groups and recanted the stirring times of fifty years ago. Those overcome by the heat were treated at the emergency hospital of the state department of health and all are out of danger.

Veterans are arriving on every train and they are in town but a short time before a start is made for the big camp, the scene of which many have not visited since the stirring days of the Gettysburg campaign. In spite of the heat yesterday, the maximum temperature being 98 degrees, many of them walked some distance and the officials in charge said that the small number of prostrations demonstrated that the physical condition of the sold soldiers was of the best.

SAFEGUARD ALL VETERANS.

Elaborate preparations have been made to protect the health of the veterans while here. There are two large hospitals with a capacity of 1,800 designed only for seriously ill persons. These are supplemented by three regimental hospitals, fourteen Red Cross stations and twenty first aid stations.

A company ambulance battalion of the United States army with fifteen horse ambulances and two automobile ambulances will take care of any who fall sick. The provisional hospitals, besides wards and diet kitchens, have a complete operating room and the arrangements include everything down to the shower bath.

Lieutenant Simon Bolivar Buckner, son of the ranking surviving officer of the Confederate army, who is assisting Major Normoyle, in command at the camp, today made public the number of old soldiers that each state expected to send to the reunion. Pennsylvania leads the list with 17,826, New York is second with 9,693, and New Jersey third with 1,989. Massachusetts will send 1,863; Virginia 1,827; North Carolina 1,215; Michigan 950; West Virginia 810; Indiana 668, and Illinois 513. Other states range from Connecticut's 450 to 81 from Oregon and 35 from Idaho.

PEACE JUBILEE BANNER.

Probably one of the most unique banners that will appear at the Gettysburg reunion has been dispatched from here to be placed before the quarters of the Manassas picket post, Grand Army of the Republic, and Ewell camp, Confederate Veterans. The banner, which is commemorative of the peace jubilee on the battlefield of Bull Run, in July, 1911, where President Taft delivered the principal address, displays the Confederate flag on one side and the stars and stripes on the other. In addition there appear the inscriptions, "Let Us Have Peace—Grant," and "Duty Is the Sublimest Word in Any Language—Lee." A special guard of honor composed of veterans from both sides will care for the flag.

Atlanta Veterans Leave For Gettysburg Reunion

At 11 o'clock Saturday morning a large party of prominent Atlanta citizens, all veterans of the war between the states, left the Terminal station en route for Gettysburg, Pa., and the monster reunion which will be held there next week by old soldiers of both the north and south.

The party included such men as Col. A. J. McBride, who commanded the Tenth Georgia at Gettysburg, many other Atlantians who fought in the biggest and bloodiest battles of the war. They will reach Gettysburg Sunday, the day when the reunion starts, and will remain there throughout the eigth days.

In the party were General A. J. West, commissioners from Georgia; Judge George Hilyer, J. W. Lindsey, Judge W. G. Kinsey, Dr. J. A. Nisbet, J. C. Huff, Col. McBride, Col. Frank Loftin, N. Nash and others.

RESTRICTED DISTRICT IN BIRMINGHAM DOOMED

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 28.—Birmingham's restricted district is doomed to go October 1 according to action taken by the city commissioner today.

There was nothing theatrical about the fight. A property owner two weeks ago complained he could not dispose of his holdings because of proximity to this community. Counsel for both sides appeared, a number of citizens interested themselves and President Exum announced quietly in open session today that after October 1 the law against such places would be rigidly enforced.

Monument to D. J. Burns

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ANNISTON, Ala., June 28.—A monument will be unveiled at Oxford cemetery Sunday afternon at 2 o'clock to the memory of D. J. Burns, late sovereign of Woodmen of the World. A. H. Cook, of Montgomery, will make the chief address, his daughter reading an essay. A musical program will also be rendered.

HUERTA'S SONORA ARMY SCATTERED BY REBELS

General Ojeda, Federals' Commander, Is a Fugitive, and Rebels March on Guaymas

(By Associated Press.)

DOUGLAS, Ariz., June 28.—General Ojeda's federal army has been scattered, the Huerta commander is himself a fugitive and the rebellious state troops, victorious in the seven day's battles around Ortiz, are expected to enter Guaymas today, the last federal foothold in Sonora.

This was the substance of a message from Governor Pesquiera at Hermosillo to his cousin, Roberto Pesquiera, formerly revolutionary agent at Washington.

A thousand Yaqui Indians have been sent in pursuit of the flying and scattered federals by the rebel commander, General Obregon.

Carranza Denies Making Any Peace Proposals

FOUR DEATHS WHEN TANK STEAMER BURSTS

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 28.—Divers were summoned today to search for bodies in the hold of the Standard Oil tank steamer Mohawk, wrecked late yesterday by the explosion of two hundred tons of fuel oil.

Checking up shows that probably no more than four of the crew perished. Of the half dozen injured the condition of only one was serious this morging.

The fire boats did not retire from the burning vessel until after 2 o'clock this morning.

R. N. HARDEMAN.

Representative from Jefferson, who declares he will introduce no bills at this session of the legislature.

Hardeman Does Not Expect to Introduce One Bill This Year

Representative R. N. Hardeman, of Jefferson, lost in his race for the speakership of the house, nevertheless he has become distinguished. He is one legislator who possibly occupies a zone distinctly his own, and not because of his natty attire of white flannels and immaculate linens.

The true reason of his present distinction is that he has made the declaration that he does not intend introducing one single bill during the present session of the legislature.

"I have not prepared either a local or a general bill," he said Saturday morning, "and I do not expect to offer a bill of any kind. I will, however, lend all of my influence and support to the measures looking for a genuine reform of the state's tax and financial systems, which questions I consider the most important before the general assembly."

This declaration, however, does not bind the gentleman from Jefferson not to make motions and offer resolutions.

SENATE CAUCUS VOTES NO WOOL ON FREE LIST

After Lengthy Discussion, the Amendment to Transfer Woolen Goods Is Lost

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Lively discussions developed today in the senate caucus over the rate on manufactures of wool. Woolen cloth, dutiable in the bill at 25 per cent ad valorem, and stockings at 20 per cent, were among items which some senators declared should enter free of duty to aid in reducing the cost of living.

Senator Ashurst brought the debate to a climax with an amendment to transfer to the free list all woolen manufactures such as blankets, cloth, ready-made clothing, stockings and the like.

The amendment was debated until 1 o'clock when all proposals to place any woolen manufactured goods on the free list were voted down. No record vote was taken.

The action of the caucus last night in putting cotton thread on the free list was not reopened and no further objection to the change is expected.

BRONZE TABLETS MARK TWO HISTORIC SPOTS

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Plans were completed today for the unveiling, July 4, of two bronze tablets designed to mark spots upon which two historic events took place. The tablet will be placed in the general land office of the department of the interior.

One of them is to mark the site of the first telegraph office in the United States, while the other will mark the scene of the first theatrical performance given in the national capital.

The first telegraph office was opened in the quarters now occupied by the land office, by the inventor, Samuel F. B. Morse, April 1, 1845. The first theatrical production was given in 1800 on the same site.

OXFORD CONFERENCE HELD AT LITHONIA

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

LITHONIA, Ga., June 28.—The Oxford district conference just closed was one of the most largely attended ever held in the district. The Sunday school institute on the opening day, conducted by Mrs Dodge, of Tallapoosa, and Rev Walter Dillard, of Rome, Ga, drew in quite a crowd from the surrounding country beside the large number of delegates present. The address on "Pledge Signing and Child Development Work" was especially notable.

MORE ECONOMY GREATER REVENUE, FIRST SLOGAN OF GOV. SLATON

ASKS TAX INCREASE FOR TWO YEARS AND LESS EXPENDITURE

Gov. Slaton, in Inaugural Address, Declares Georgia's Appropriations Increase, While Revenue Stands Still

ONE AND ONE-HALF MILL TAX INCREASE IS ASKED

Inheritance Tax, Speedy Action on W. & A. Question and Highway Commission Other Recommendations

Recommending, through constitutional amendment, an additional tax levy of 1 1-2 mills over a period of two years for the payment of school teachers' salaries, Governor John M. Slaton Saturday in an able inaugural address dug deep into the state's tangled financial problem, finding only increased revenue on one side and economy on the other, as its solution.

With the state committed by constitutional provision to a taxation limit of 5 mills annually, Governor Slaton declared that constitutional provisions limiting appropriations must be made if the state's credit and financial honor was to remain intact.

The address proved to be mainly a painstaking and comprehensive summing up of Georgia's financial status.

By statistics the governor set forth that this state was facing a deficit because of increased appropriations and stationary income. On public schools alone he said Georgia spends annually $2,000,000, a sum far in excess of any southern state and equal to that of any state in the union. This, he maintained, was due to the fact that the state treasury of Georgia assumed the school tax, whereas in other states it was dealt with locally.

RECOMMENDATIONS MADE.

To meet the deficit Governor Slaton recommended:

A constitutional amendment providing an additional tax of 1 1-2 mills over two years to pay off school teachers. Such tax, he asserted, would net the state approximately $1,200,000, and unless provided for a much heavier tax would prove necessary in the future.

Constitutional amendments limiting the annual appropriations to the school fund (outside of constitutional appropriations now provided) to 2 1-2 mills.

Constitutional amendments limiting the pension appropriation to one and one-half mills annually.

In the matter of raising revenue he declared in favor of

An inheritance tax.

A corporation occupation tax of $200 annually on corporations of $1,000,000 capital or over and graduated as to capitalization.

An equalization of tax assessments.

GENERAL RECOMMENDATIONS.

General recommendations were made as follows:

A permanent registration law.

The providing of a highway commission.

Speedy action on the re-leasing of the Western & Atlantic railroad.

A change in criminal procedure dodging away with the right of a defendant in a criminal case to make a statement to the jury not under oath.

Rigid enforcement of the pistol-toting law.

The creation of the office of state auditor.

Mr President, Mr. Speaker, and Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

The progress of the world has been accomplished by the optimist. He has discovered new countries, builded railroads, united continents, established cities, founded institutions of learning and by his faith and courage has proved a benefactor of his fellowmen. Never have the people of Georgia had greater reason to be proud of her achievements, nor more sanguine of her future than at present. In the exercise of its governmental functions it is rendering more service and contributing more to the happiness of her citizens than ever before.

Thirty years ago, struggling under the burdens of the civil war, our brave and patriotic forefathers could hardly provide more than the protection of the county with a scanty allowance for the education of her youth.

For the year 1913 Georgia appropriated $2,850,000 to her public schools, of which nearly $2,000,000 comes directly from the treasury. No larger amount is dispersed annually by any southern state, and almost by no state in the union. In those states which contribute much more than Georgia for educational purposes the money is raised by local taxation.

This state has adopted the wise and humane plan of working the convicts on the roads in lieu of hiring them to private parties and receiving the profits of their labor for the benefit of all. Thus she has conferred on rural communities immeasurable benefits in rendering the markets accessible of such products, has made possible the establishment of easier intercourse with their neighbors, has caused the improvement of their methods of farming, the facilitation of rural mail delivery, and has enhanced to an immeasurable extent the value of their lands. Such was done by the United States government that, in 1911, more work was done on the roads of Georgia than in any other state. New York alone excepted.

She has established her college of agriculture and mechanic arts, which in every district in Georgia, where the farmer boys may learn the dignity of their calling, and the high ability and education which its intelligent pursuit requires. By the instruction afforded along these lines her citizens are taught the scientific methods of manipulating the products of the soil, and of eradicating those evils which have ever menaced farm life. In the increased production of corn, in soil examination and the scientific application of fertilizers, by the raising of meat instead of its purchase, stimulated by knowledge of the means for the eradication of diseases of hogs and cattle, our farms receive a greater charm, and our farmers a larger reward for their labors.

The state provides a health department, which supplies facilities for the prevention and cure of infectious and contagious diseases that have threatened our less populous sections. By means of its suggestions, those epidemics which have endangered our people have been checked, and their health improved and longevity increased by expenditure of the people's money.

And yet, in the enjoyment of all these benefits we have failed to bear in mind that for these blessings enjoyed by our citizens for the first time, money must be paid, and we have overlooked the fundamental principle, the disregard of which means financial dishonor, that our appropriations must not exceed our revenue. Whatever be the temptation to the wise citizen to spend more than his income he curbs his desires and limits his expenditures accordingly. He makes any sacrifices occasioned by the scantiness of his purse. A similar course must govern the present situation and to take steps for the immediate correction of the evil. It is not the part of the patriot to shirk the issue, and to rush heedlessly to ruin. Our wise forefathers-statesmen who never departed from original principles—benefactors of the human race—endeavored by constitutional provision to safeguard the expenditure of the people's money, and by the clearest constitutional mandate to prevent the incurrence of debt. They regarded the payment of public debt as a matter of first importance, and every Georgian has inherited that lofty conception of public duty.

In 1884, 1894, 1896, 1900, 1908, the people provided by constitutional amendments for additional classes of pensioners, or acts were passed in pursuance of such amendments. When each constitutional amendment limiting the tax rate to five mills was passed in 1904, the sum appropriated to pensions was $865,000. In that year the amount appropriated to public schools from ad valorem taxes, was $1,000,000.

Now the amount appropriated to public schools directly from the treasury, is approximately $2,600,000.

While we realize the increase in the appropriations on the one hand, we have been cutting off revenue on the other hand.

In 1904 the revenue received from the hire of convicts the sum of $280,769.44. In 1909 there was received from this source the sum of $94,581, or a loss of revenue of $195,818.39. Since 1909 nothing has been received into the treasury from this source. Taking the amount received in 1904 as the true value of the hire of convicts which, of course, is much less than they would bring at this time, the state will have lost from the beginning of the year 1908 to the end of the year 1913, a sum of $1,218,696.15.

In calling your attention to the facts presented, I do not mean to criticise the legislative acts, or to doubt the wisdom and justice of them. I stand beside the question. The immense sum that would have been received into the state treasury from the convicts used upon the public highways, and aside from the moral aspect of the question, has enhanced the material prosperity and landed values many times the amount. The state has been splendidly repaid, morally and financially, by the change.

In fact, by calling the attention of the people to the causes of the financial deficit, I feel confident I can depend on you in wise measures to remedy the difficulty. When they are taken into your confidence, and are informed how the public moneys were expended for their benefit, and the causes of the embarrassment, the people will most cheerfully respond to every statesmanlike effort you may make to solve the problem.

In 1907 the liquor tax amounted to $334,282.75. In 1908, on account of the prohibition law, the total sum received from the liquor tax was $36,000, under licenses and from locker clubs, amounted to $48,738.02, or a loss of $285,544.42.

Since then, during the report of the comptroller general of 1913, as a measure, the sum received from near-beer licenses, locker clubs and other clubs, amounted to $278,000 per annum, making a deficit of about $50,000 per annum.

In 1912 the legislature abolished the dog tax amounting to $130,000 per year, being the amount which it would require the tax on $26,000,000 of property to produce.

For many of the foregoing figures I am indebted to the able chairman of house appropriation committee of 1911-1912.

In 1904 the people adopted an amendment to the constitution limiting the tax rate to 5 mills, thus declaring by their sovereign act in favor of economy in public expenditures and contrary to the judgment that such levy would be sufficient for the state's discharge of all public functions. The report of the comptroller general of the support of public schools for that year was 1-70-100 mills.

Yet, I am officially informed by the comptroller general that the 1913 appropriation exceeded the anticipated revenue $339,000, and the actual revenue $2,000,000 of which is shown by the report of that same officer on your desks, the excess of expenditures over anticipated revenue 1913 $221,562, requiring $46,312,409 taxable property to produce it.

Thus you will perceive, that to meet the deficit of these two years alone, taking the anticipated revenue as a basis, an increase of the property of the state subject to ad valorem taxation must be $114,112,400.

You will have observed that the same legislature that made appropriations in excess of its anticipated revenue, during the same session cut off $126,000 thereof.

Statistics, to be read and digested, must not be voluminous and I do not burden you with them. Suffice it to say, that the appropriations of 1913 exceeded the revenues, and you will observe that while appropriations were being increased as per schedule the revenue being lessened and no provision was being made to supply the deficit. The candle burned at both ends must go out.

LEGISLATIVE CONDITIONS.

Having been a member of the legislature for seventeen years I can sympathize with the members of the general assembly in yielding to the pressing claims made for appropriations. Every heart is responsive to the sentiment that our greatest wealth is in our children, and no one wishes to bear the responsibility of shutting the door of opportunity to our boys and girls by denying them the privileges of education.

Every patriotic feeling is aroused by the suggestion that a great state should render comfortable the declining days of the old Confederate veterans who had imperiled their all in her hour of desperate need.

And eloquent, irresistible appeals can be made for all the objects of expenditure which promise a rich harvest of return from every dollar granted by a messenger appropriation.

Your appropriation committees, carefully balancing the receipts and disbursements, and recognizing the primal duty of being just before being generous, report a bill appropriating all that the state's revenue will permit. Some gentleman arises in enthusiastic advocacy of an amendment to increase a quarter of a million dollars, or more, the allowance for some popular purpose, and woe to him who makes the prosaic suggestion that the state has not the money! He is stamped in the legislature and at home as the enemy of the people, and he sits down, weakened in his influence and misconstrued by his constituents, for having performed his sworn duty.

THE SYSTEM WRONG.

The system is wrong. It is contrary to the theory of our government, which, everywhere encourages to provide a method of checks and balances. It is not so with the present state of our law.

Prior to the constitutional amendment of 1904, limiting the tax rate to five mills, the governor and comptroller general met and levied a tax sufficient to pay all appropriations. If the appropriations were large, the tax rate was increased, and the constituents at home being called upon for a heavier drain from their purses, taught a wholesome lesson to their representatives by refusing to grant the public money expenditure was therefore a matter of constant public supervision. This acted as a check, and reminded the legislators that heavy appropriations meant increased burdens on the people.

Now, the legislature can appropriate what it pleases, and the tax rate remains the same. A million, more or less, does not mean a cent more from the taxpayer. The legislator has made himself a favorite with his constituency by voting for every popular appropriation and increased the state's credit. When the crisis arrives, no one can put his hand upon the one who caused it. He has yielded to the insistence of those who have pressed upon him the necessity for each appropriation, and has escaped the condemnation and the unpleasantness of an unpleasant refusal. This situation is unfair to the legislator and to the state.

THE REMEDY SUGGESTED.

In suggesting the remedies for these conditions, it is necessary to consider one marked injustice now imposed upon the class of public servants. The teachers of our state are not paid until nearly a year after their services are performed. The governor and the state house officers are paid at appropriate season. The legislator may draw his pay, the first day of the session. Of all the public servants the teachers, upon whose fidelity and efficiency depend the future of the children, work on more than any their destinies than any influence save the parents, must wait nearly a year for their compensation, or be forced to borrow. The heavy discount of the money lender, respectfully submit that this is wrong. Up to June 30, 1913, as I am informed, not one dollar had been paid on the $2,550,000 appropriated to public schools.

I believe that it is my promise to the people a constitutional amendment providing for an extra assessment of one mill for one year, and a half mill for two succeeding years, in order that the teachers may be paid with greater promptitude and in order that the deficit in the treasury may be relieved. Such proposition will met with popular approval.

This, is the brave and fair way to solve the problem. In dealing with the treasury, and with the teachers, upon whom the future of the children of this state depends more than all the buildings that may house them or the money that may be given them.

To the taxpayer who may demur, I submit that the constitutional amendments limiting appropriations be adopted in accordance with my recommendations, five mills and one-half mills, the taxes to be divided between two years will be the most economical and the least burdensome manner. If three be not approved, the state may expect a heavy increase of the deficit until sheer necessity will require a burdensome tax—by a drastic taxing law, resulting not only in a drain upon the people, but in injury to the reputation, enterprise and prosperity of the state.

Should he legislature deem it wise to submit an extra levy or one mill for two years, there will be raised the approximate $862,000 and would be of great aid in expediting the payment of teachers, although it would not permit their immediate payment, in view of the present deficit in the treasury.

PENSIONS AND SCHOOLS.

The appropriations for pensions for 1913 amounts to $1,180,000. This is practically the largest sum ever granted to the pensioners and the last to attain. The justice of their claims, their heroism, their sacrifice, and their valor, constitute the proud heritage of the state. With each succeeding year their number is diminishing, and each year this sum may be expected to decrease.

It will be observed by the comptroller general's report that a tax of two and one-half mills, supplemented by the constitutional amendment recommended, will raise the amount allowed to the public schools for 1913, being the largest amount ever granted for the purpose, while the tax of one and one-half mills will provide pensions allowed for 1913, being likewise practically the largest sum ever appropriated.

RECOMMENDATION.

I recommend that you propose constitutional amendments which shall provide for an appropriation for schools which shall not exceed two and one-half mills in addition to the constitutional appropriation, and one and not exceed one and one-half mills, or exceed $1,180,000, annually for pensions.

In the event these amendments are ratified, you will have given to the people a practical plan for preserving the state's credit. You will have applied to the state's affairs the economic plan now in force under the constitution in reference to counties, which are required to specify the purposes for which levy is made. The diminution of the pension fund may be expected, because of the rapid diminution of the pensioners.

As the wealth of the state increases the 2 1-2 mills for schools will produce a larger sum, and if local taxation, which has been suggested by educational authorities as a wise solution of the educational question, should cover a larger territory, the amount could be diminished if it be deemed proper in future years. Thus a flexible system would have been adopted.

In addition, these funds to schools and pensions would be consecrated to their special purposes and their receipts would be relieved from the delays, consequent upon other demands. Certainly, in the present condition of the treasury, no larger appropriations would be futile, as their payments are being longer and longer delayed, and the lack of money would prevent the issuing or honoring of warrants.

The state must be like the father who educates his children according to his means, and certainly every one must pronounce pou generous when the apportionment of the rate has been upon the basis of the highest appropriation yet made. And this generosity is further emphasized by the fact that during the years for which the appropriations were made, the appropriations exceeded the revenue practically a half million dollars.

In this connection, it may be asked why a similar apportionment for every purpose should not be made. The answer is obvious. In the case of the state sanitarium, whose demands are the next largest in amount to schools and pensions, the state must provide for the insane, and no constitutional limit can rationally be made. The sinking fund is the interest on the public debt, the new provision to be made for refunding the bonded debt in 1915, cannot likewise be impaired by the possible diminution of values through a panic or other financial distress. The same is true of the legislative expenses, salaries of executive officers, judges, etc. Other items of expenditure are almost negligible, and the minute fraction of a mill which not appropriated by made the subject of a constitutional amendment. In fact, the courts and the whole judicial establishment could b maintained without the imposition of $1 ad valorem tax.

REVENUE.

It will be apparent to those who have had legislative service, that unless some check of the nature proposed be made, the appropriations will be of no avail in preventing the financial embarrassment of the state. Under the enthusiasm of the moment one appropriation bill may exhaust it.

However, I deem it wise to call to your attention an appropriate source of enlarged revenue, without placing upon the people an unfair burden.

More than four-fifths of the states of the union derive revenue from what is known as an inheritance tax, and nearly every nation of the world regards this source of income as fair and easily paid. The exemption in all these states where it is in force, I am informed that this tax is the subject of least complaint.

By common law the right to transmit property was a privilege granted by the state, and was not an inherent right of the citizen. The recipient of a legacy is a beneficiary of another's favor and when the tax is moderate and conservative, it is not more burdensome than a tax upon the industry and enterprise of the one whose labor has accumulated the property.

In some states the heritage left to members of the immediate family is exempted, as for example—New Jersey, Texas and Tennessee. In a number the tax is small upon that property left to the immediate family, but increases in proportion to the remoteness of the relationship, and is heaviest upon legacies left strangers. Charitable gifts and those of a similar nature are exempted, as is also a reasonable sum left to members of the family.

I respectfully suggest for your consideration the constitutional provision of uniformity in the imposition of taxes. Eminent lawyers have given it as their opinion that in Georgia no exemption based on amount can be granted, nor can the taxes on property left to the immediate family, but increases in proportion to the remoteness of relationship, because of constitutional provision. It is a question whether a varying rate can be imposed on the same class, dependent upon amount. Upon this question of law I venture no opinion, but it is advisable to investigate this position, should you deem expedient to submit the tax.

It must be admitted that the revenue to be anticipated from this source will be comparatively small for many years to come, owing to the present basis for appropriating money until tested by actual trial.

The form of tax has been approved by the highest authorities and is one of the easiest borne and subject to fewer legal doubts than any other. No practical method has been devised for forcing personal property to bear its just proportion of the expense of government. The drastic suggestions proposed operate as such hindrances to commerce, become so inquisitorial in character, and are so susceptible of so many means of evasion, that all efforts to collect taxes from this source have been unsuccessful. The inheritance tax is to some extent a corrective.

Thrift, enterprise and economy should be encouraged by the taxing power, and action suggested in the tax laws of other states, when made by those who enjoy the benefit of others, industry and sacrifice would not be the cause of just complaint among our people.

OCCUPATION TAX ON CORPORATIONS.

Prior to the year 1905, many efforts were made to collect an occupation tax from corporations, but in the judgment of the courts the exactions so suggested were too severe and imposed a burden too oppressive. Governor Terrell, in his message of the year 1905, called attention to the fairness of a reasonable charge by the state for granting charters to corporations, with the privileges accompanying such corporate life. He suggested in his message, that a small contribution from each corporation of one and one-half mills additional be annually imposed, and recommended a tentative privilege tax based on capital stock of $1,000 per year, without having a capital of $1,000,000 or over. He anticipated from this source more than $100,000 a year, and thought that such sum would contribute to the relief without hardship. Governor Terrell stated at the time that if this sum was not received the tax could be increased so as to produce it. The state, however, has not received one-half this sum, and during the year 1912 the amounted revenue from this source is $48,000.

I recommend that the maximum occupation tax on corporations having $1,000,000 capital be increased to $200 per annum, and the tax on corporations of less capital be adjusted accordingly.

EQUALIZATION OF TAXES.

The Democratic platform of 1912, adopted at Macon, contains the following language:

"Among the most important matters affecting our state government, which must be dealt with by the administration, is that of the state's finances. The solution of this question demands the attention and co-operaion of all patriotic citizens.

"The state is rich, and no period of its history has shown a greater ratio of growing wealth than the present. But the state government's fiscal system has not developed with the times and the growth of our commonwealth. The period is approaching, if it has not already arrived, when the system must be reformed.

"Some method should be adopted whereby the state's finances will be rehabilitated and precautions should be taken to guarantee that at no time the expenditures will be permitted to exceed the revenues. Our system of raising taxes has been improved but little since the present constitution was adopted. General wealth and the concentration thereof, having increased to such a great extent and our population becoming so diversified, the method of levying taxes has been reduced to the obsolete and inefficient. The burdens of government should be placed in equal proportions to the benefits conferred and the protection enjoyed. All property should bear in equal measure its share of taxes. None should be taxed excessively and none should be permitted to escape taxation.

"We recommend that the legislature at its next session make provision for putting into practical effect the above undeniably correct principles of government."

The foregoing extract from the Democratic creed must meet the approval of all. At this time, with the necessity upon this legislature of providing for the refunding of over one-half of the state's entire bonded debt, no revolutionary plan of dealing with our financial system can be attempted. Whether it is done, if such course should be deemed wise, every feature of the new scheme will be subjected to attack on constitutional grounds in both state and federal courts. No radical experiment should be made at this time.

No objection, however, can be offered to a fair and conservative attempt to justly apportion governmental burdens. Without imperiling the present income.

It cannot be denied that injustice is done when one man pays taxes on 10 per cent of the value of his property, while another pays on 50 per cent.

Equalization of taxes, either through the enforcement of present laws, or now contemplated, would not only bear his proportionate burden, would not mean the increase of taxes upon any one now unfortunately burdened, but would rather mean the lightening of his unfair portion of the load.

I commend this subject to your attention.

PUBLIC ECONOMY.

In closing this part of my message, I beg to call your attention to the fact that I have emphasized more than the raising of revenue the necessity of economy. The fundamental doctrine that the execution of a larger sum from citizens than is *necessary for the maintenance of govern*ment is tyranny, is often overlooked in legislative assemblies. But the function of government in contributing to the welfare and happiness of the citizens is constantly enlarging. With this broadening of the field of its activities within conservative limits is found not only an increasing elevation of citizenship, but an accompanying growth of material prosperity.

BONDED DEBT TO BE REFUNDED.

An additional reason for establishing and maintaining the state's finances on a sound basis, is the necessity of making provision for more than one-half of the entire bonded debt of the state, maturing in 1915. This is an imperative duty resting on this legislature.

In order that your investigation of this subject may be facilitated I give you the detailed statement of the history and amount of these bonds, which statement is furnished me by the state treasurer:

Statement of bonds, state of Georgia, maturing, 1915, quotation of acts and code bearing upon sinking fund, etc. Georgia, 4 1-2 per cent bonds, act 1884, issued 1905, due July, 1915 ....$3,392000.00

Georgia 3 1-2 per cent coupon bonds, act 1883, issued 1905, due July, 1915 ....$3,392,000.00

Total $3,679,000.00

"Act 1884-5, Folio 127, No. 149. "Section 914, Code. Ad valorem tax for payment of bonds. The governor and with the assistance of the comptroller general, is authorized and empowered annually, beginning in 1910, to levy and assess a tax on the ad valorem value of the taxable property of this state at such rate as may be sufficient to raise the net amount of $100,000, as a sinking fund to pay off and retire the valid, outstanding bonds of the state as they fall due as required by article 7, section 14, paragraph 1, of the constitution. The tax above authorized shall be specially levied and collected, and separate accounts of same shall be kept by the treasurer, and the money arising therefrom shall be applied to paying off the valid bonds of the state as they may mature. The amount so raised in the year 1910 shall be applied to paying off and retiring the valid bonds of the state maturing in 1912, and so on continuously, etc.

CONSTITUTION OF GEORGIA.

"Section 6571, Code. The general assembly shall raise by taxation, each year, in addition to the sum required to pay the public expenses and interest on public debt, the sum of $100,000, which shall be held as a sinking fund to pay off and retire the bonds of the state which have not yet matured, and shall be applied to no other purpose whatever, etc."

No sinking fund was provided by law to retire the bonds aggregating $3,679,-000, which are due in 1915, since it was the intention of the general assembly to later make provision for the retirement of this large amount.

The entire state's debt is $6,452,500, which does not include the obligations to the university, amounting to $291,-500, and the Landscript fund of $90,-000.

All the debt of $6,452,500 is provided for, or will be provided for by the sinking fund required to be raised annually until the entire debt is paid off, except the $3,679,000 which falls due in May and July 1915, and excepting the bonds issued under the act of 1891 and the 1920 amounting to $207,0000, and those issued under the act of 1895, and due in 1930 amounting to $90,000, and those provision is made for the payment of $33,-000 of bonds which mature in 1935, or of the university obligations.

It should be borne in mind that the fund from the sale of public property applicable only to the payment of the bonded debt now in the treasury amounts to $37,450, which will be increased $107000 in 1915 by the last payment due by the Southern Railway company on the purchase of the Northeastern railroad.

If efunding bonds wee issued in 1915, making the fist $100,000 fall due in 1935, then the sinking fund could be made to un continuously and etle each yea, until paid, $100,000 of this seies of 1915 efunding bonds.

This plan would seem advisable in order to relieve the treasury and the people of the immediate burden of this time, unless financial conditions at the time of the sale of the bonds should demand that the maturities be made at an earlier period In order to effectuate their more satisfactory disposition.

Many details have been suggested to me in regard to the safest investment securities the more attractive. Leading bond men in financial centers have also suggested that bonds certified by some responsible trust company, thus assuring their genuineness, and guarding against their counterfeiting, and if their validity were approved by attorneys who are specialists n this line, the expense would be mare than repaid in the price that could be obtained. These are matters which you can determine upon appropriate investigation.

Certainly no safer investment can be afforded than these bonds. By our constitution the issuance of any new bonds, except for a bona fide loan, is prohibited. Likewise the state is forbidden to incur any new debt. All the state's property, including the Western and Atlantic railroad, is pledged as security for its bonds, and the Western and Atlantic railroad is worth three times the entire debt of the state. The bond of the state were paid today from the sale of its railroad alone over $10,000,000 would be left in the treasury.

No southern state, and so far as I know can any state, make such a showing. Georgia's credit was established by ever else may remain unpaid, the interest on the public debt and the sinking fund to retire its bonds, must first be provided.

Free from every tax, federal, state, county and municipal, we can offe three thousand of a prosperous state as possessing every attraction that can be offered to the investor.

I recommend that through your appropriate committees you consider at once the matter of refunding the state's indebtedness as proposed.

REGISTRATION OF VOTERS.

"There is nothing of more importance than the protection of the purity of the ballot. Next to the religious liberties of citizens the liberties of all must depend for perpetuation. However, the citizen should not be required to surrender the privilege of voicing his opinion in the conduct of his government. Severe and unnecessary restrictions should not be countenanced in any case.

"We believe the present registration law should be so amended that when a voter has once qualified he should remain by registering and being enrolled. he shall remain a registered voter unless disqualified for cause due to himself. Permanent registration would stop the confusing difficulties now besetting the voter and provide a safe method for protecting the integrity of the ballot. We trust the next legislature will amend the present law."

The foregoing extract from the last platform upon which I was elected, expresses a principle which deserves universal acceptance. It contemplates no change of the constitution which provides for the qualification of the voter.

It recommends no amendment which would degrade the requisites of suffrage. It only indorses the passage of legislation that will render easy the exercise of the inalienable right to vote by the man entitled to vote.

The farmers of a neighborhood have duly registered, but the succeeding year have been prevented from their crops they cannot send their taxes to the collector by some neighbor going to vote. Or kept on penalty of being disfranchised.

The traveling men who have registered one year cannot send their substances the next year to the proper officer, and so it is with many who move into a new community and if he was not registered this year before, he may be required to register in accordance with the present law.

But I recommend that the present registration law be amended to correct the injustice indicated. It would always be assumed that the voter must vote, and he would not be subjected himself to any of the disqualifications provided by law.

To place the present standing upon the people is the only possible as for Nero to have rendered it difficult for the people of Rome to learn its laws by placing them on a wall beyond their vision.

THE HIGHWAYS.

It is needless to impress upon you the importance of our highways. Their value is an asset of the entire state. The people must have good roads, mail, the farmer who hauls his product to market, the school with its improved facilities, the delivery to good roads.

A student of the subject has declared that every hard rain in Georgia damages and destroys property amounts to one million dollars, due to unscientific construction and to intelligent highway commission, or commissioner, clothed with proper authority, would be the means of untold benefit in suggesting proper methods of building the road adapted to the locality, or in solving the problem of engineering which might arise in various sections. This proposition was embodied in the original bill placing convicts on the roads, and how only remains for a vote in the house. Its wisdom has been recognized by my predecessors and I recommend its consideration at this time.

WESTERN AND ATLANTIC RAILROAD.

I call your attention to the Western and Atlantic railroad, a lease of which terminates in 1919. The wise disposition of this property requires the most enlightened statesmanship, and in view of the fact that there are only three times that of the entire state's debt, immediate consideration should be given to this splendid heritage of our fathers.

Like any other proposition involving business judgment, the subject demands painstaking care and investigation. The suggestion has been made that at its terminals there is appurtenant much property unnecessary for railroad purposes, and which could be utilized by the state without damaging the railroad, at a largely increased revenue.

Whether this be true, and if true what arrangement should be made with such property can only be ascertained by careful and detailed knowledge. The Western and Atlantic railroad belongs to the entire state, and during the period of our darkest hours it supplied the sinews of our scanty treasury and contributed the guarantee of our school fund.

No one, I respectfully submit, would or should consider its sale, but the problem of its disposition should be considered by a commission which will report to the next its recommendations and its reasons therefor.

To delay this matter will mean to put the state at the Inexcusable disad-

A SINGER BECOMES A RICH MAN

A young singer suffering from indigestion consulted the greatest European specialist and was told by a French specialist of a remedy which he said "wonderful digestive properties. What interested the singer most was the fact he put much of this vegetable, which not only aided digestion, but also took the place of any other sauce delicious. This was a revelation to the great cooks in Europe and it was pronounced unequalled. Immediately steps to manufacture the sauce, which was called Lea-Wor (an obsolete South American word for vegetable) and so great was the immediate success that it is now known throughout the world. A 25-cent bottle from your grocer will suffice to show how much it will enjoy your food by adding Wor-Lea in the soups, cooking and with salads at the same time see how very easily you digest your food.

Hooray! Baby To Rule the House

No Longer Do Women Fear the Greatest of All Human Blessings.

It is a comfort to know that those much-talked-of pains that are said to precede child-bearing may be entirely avoided. No woman need fear the slightest discomfort if she will carefully prepare herself with the well-known and time-honored remedy, "Mother's Friend."

This is a penetrating, external application that at once softens and makes pliant the abdominal muscles and ligaments. They naturally stretch and expand without strain, and thus not only banish all tendency to nervous, twitching spells, but there is an entire freedom from nausea, discomfort, sleeplessness and dread that so often leave their impress upon the babe.

Remember, therefore, one of unbounded, joyful anticipation, and too much stress cannot be laid upon the remarkable influence which a mother's happy, prenatal disposition has upon the health and fortunes of the generation to come.

You will find it on sale at all drug stores at $1.00 a bottle. Write today to the Bradfield Regulator Co., 230 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for an instructive booklet.

vantage of unpreparedness when the time arrives for imperative action.

CRIMINAL LAW.

One of the fundamental purposes of government is the protection of life and safety of the citizen. While our people are law abiding, the enforcement of law must depend upon the machinery provided by the legislature. If the rules of evidence are so shaped as to prevent the discovery of the truth, and if the state is deprived of the means of sifting the facts, the judges and juries are not to be blamed if crimes are allowed to go unpunished.

In the reconstruction period, when antagonism existed between emancipated slaves and their former masters, it may have been essential that the white man, struggling for his existence, be allowed to make a statement possessing a value superior to all sworn evidence. This was a law of necessity, which grew out of the exigencies of the time.

But conditions have changed. It is an anomaly that a defendant should take the stand, make any statement that he sees fit, or that his shrewd lawyer has prepared, and being immune from cross-examination, demand that the judge shall charge the jury that they may accept his unsworn statement in preference to all the evidence in the case.

His carefully written statement may contain all manner of prejudicial assertions which constitute no defense, but the state is not allowed to disprove or to question them. The jury is by law instructed that they may consider them. Without introducing evidence, in order that his attorney may make the last speech, he declares that he can prove assertions by various witnesses, often disreputable men, and challenges the solicitor general to introduce them. This cannot be done because the state cannot vouch for their character.

This practice of making a statement under the provision of law now existing is scarce, if it be of force anywhere outside of Georgia. It's a provision which acquits guilty men and places almost insuperable obstacles in the way of their conviction. As a lawyer defending a guilty man, I should like the practice. From the standpoint of a legislator, seeking to render safe the life and property of the citizen, and charged with the obligation of making proper provision for the enforcement of the law, I believe it should be abolished.

Leading lawyers of this state, interested in the welfare of its citizenship, doing a large criminal practice, have urged upon me the wonderful corrective influence such an act would accomplish. I therefore, recommend that a law be passed abolishing the defendant's statement, and providing in its place that he be sworn as a witness, if he desires, but his failure to be so sworn be not subject to adverse comment by prosecuting counsel. This is in accordance with current federal and state law.

PISTOLS.

The legislation in Georgia against carrying concealed weapons has in recent years been conspicuous. It has been suggested by the law of self-preservation. Daily we read of men who have shot others, and have been acquitted on the old statement that the deceased threw his hand on his hippocket, and the defendant shot in fear of his life. When searched, the dead man was found generally unarmed.

I do not believe in the severity, so much as the certainty, of punishment. It oftentimes happens that for the purpose of having a weapon repaired, or other innocent reason, a man may technically violate the law. In such a case his punishment should be nominal. Where are many who carry concealed weapons with the temptation to swiftly use them upon the slightest provocation.

If the carrying of concealed weapons were made a felony, subject to be reduced to misdemeanor by either judge or jury, the deterrent effect of such a law would be the saving of many a life. I earnestly recommend to you the consideration of this question.

BANKING LAWS.

The banks of a state are necessary instrumentalities in the conduct of its commerce. They are important factors in the development of any community. Any measure which will stimulate economy and saving on the part of a citizen is wise, and to do this, confidence in our banking institutions should be established.

They perform public functions, and as such are properly subjected to governmental supervision. The bankers of the state, with the desire of maintaining a high standard of responsibility and of affording guarantees against imprudent management that imperils the money of the people, recommend legislation looking to the accomplishment of these objects. I commend this subject as one worthy of your serious consideration.

AUDITOR.

My predecessors have recommended the creation of the position of state auditor, and in this recommendation I heartily concur.

No business dealing with the annual disbursement of $6,000,000, would fail to provide for such supervision of its expenditures. The legislature constantly appropriates money to be used in a specific way, but no means are provided for seeing that the legislative mandate is complied with.

When the drain on the treasury is heaviest, it often happens that demands are made for warrants which could be delayed if the governor had the adequate information from an auditor.

His services could be utilized in checking the cost of new buildings for which requests may be made by the various institutions. Those who have served on the appropriation committees are aware of the inadequate facilities of the state in arriving at the amount of the necessary expenditures.

Such an officer would many times repay the state the small amount of his salary.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

The constitution is the expression of the supreme law of the land. It can only be changed by the people speaking in their sovereign capacity. In order that they may vote intelligently on any proposition it is essential that they understand it.

I have noticed a growing disposition to submit amendments for ratification or rejection by referring to the article and section of the constitution, conveying no intimation to the voter of the question proposed. I recommend that in proposing constitutional amendments, you plainly submit the proposition to the voter in such language that he may understand the meaning of the question submitted.

AGRICULTURAL SCHOOLS.

The agricultural schools are doing a magnificent work along the lines for which they have been organized. In this field of education is one of the most splendid opportunities of the state. The stimulation of interest in them and the desire to enjoy the opportunities they afford would be of inestimable value.

My predecessor has called attention to the fact that some of the schools are *well attended, while others receive lit-*tle patronage, whether due to the matter of location, or lack of interest, or from what cause, I am unable to say. Each obtains the same appropriation from the state for maintenance. I recommend that you investigate their condition and apply the proper remedies.

GENERAL APPROPRIATION BILL.

Allow me to suggest that the constitution places upon the executive as well as the legislature the duty of scanning the expenditures with the income. When the appropriation bill is submitted to me on the last days of the session he must either approve it or call an extra session. If he disapproves an item it must be passed over his veto or be reintroduced as a new bill. I trust you may find it expedient to transmit to me the general appropriation bill ten days before your adjournment, in order that it may be considered in the light of the state's resources. By co-operation we may be enabled to arrive at some plan of solving financial difficulties of such a law would be helpful to the state.

CONCLUSION.

In concluding what I have had to say in the way of recommendations, it is needless repetition to recount the many blessings enjoyed by Georgians today which their state never possessed before. And yet, within the last few years her citizens, through constitutional amendments and legislative acts, have added lavishly to her expenditures. Their representatives, with the approval of their constituents, have diverted from the treasury the enormous sum of approximately two million dollars. This has been since the limitation of the taxing rate.

Shall Georgia deprive her children of their educational opportunities? Shall the schools which teach her girls the domestic accomplishments and render home attractive be closed? Shall she be forced to call on distant states for trained intellects to solve her agricultural problems? Shall work on her roads, with all its blessings, be lessened? I apprehend no Georgian will permit a backward step.

It is, however, absolutely necessary that we recognize the principle of economy, and resolutely decline to appropriate more than our income.

Character is as essential as knowledge, and is preferable to generosity, and to limit our debts to our income is a fundamental requisite of the state. Even if it means sacrifice for a season, it will be a wholesome lesson to our citizens, and will emphasize the homelier virtues that make a strong, provident and self-reliant people. The passing of an appropriation bill without the means to pay it is of no aid to the beneficiary, and is not a credit to the representatives who pass it.

To no detail or plan am I wedded. Those remedies I have suggested have largely been a development of the thought of others. My long legislative experience and observation have approved them. They are not spectacular, but practical. If other plans which accomplish the same result occur to you, I should gladly accept them. I am wedded to no specific corrective.

Georgia is your state and mine. Within her borders I was born, and by her schools was I educated. With you, I love her people and every acre of her broad domain. I am ready to unite with every one of you in any endeavor to maintain and advance her unexampled prestige as the fairest in the sisterhood of states.

JOHN M. SLATON,
Governor.

Garrotte Removed From Museum for Dual Execution

(By Associated Press.)

HAVANA, June 28.—The garrotte has been recalled from the national museum, where former President Gomez had placed it as a historic curiosity, to serve in the Havana jail again for the execution of two persons under death sentence. The secretary of the government, on inspection of the jail yesterday, learned that the warden was without an official instrument of death. Then followed the grimly humorous discovery that it rested in the museum. Gomez during his administration having commuted all death sentences.

Ban on Concealed Weapons

A war on the carrying of concealed weapons was instituted in the house Friday when the bill of Representative Fowler, of Bibb, was reported for the first time. The bill makes the offense a felony and fixes one to three years as the punishment. It is specified that the weapon must be produced to view at all times.

Woman Pays Sisson's Fare to Break Tie-up Of Street Car System

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Representative Sisson, of Mississippi, took a hand last night in the long fight capital citizens have been making on the street railway companies for universal transfers and tied up one of the systems nearly an hour until a long string of cars was stalled in front of the White House.

The conductor refused a transfer, Sisson declined to pay another fare and invited removal by force.

After a long delay, which chafed hundreds of home-hurrying citizens, the conductor announced the car would stay there "until morning," unless Sisson paid. A matron in a hurry paid the conductor a nickel, much to the disappointment of the representative, and the jam was relieved.

TWO GEORGIANS IN LIST OF THURSDAY'S NOMINATIONS

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 26.—The names of two Georgians were in the list of nominations sent to the senate today by President Wilson as follows:

Nathaniel B. Stewart, to be consul at Milan, Italy, and Jo. Crittenden to be postmaster at Shellman, Randolph county.

Stewart is now in the consular service. He is a native of Taylor county and brother of Walter Stewart, who has represented that county in the Georgia legislature.

The failure of the president to send in nominations for other Georgia offices has occasioned no alarm, though some of the men who are slated for reconsideration may be disappointed at the delay. It is believed, however, that the nominations of Howard Thompson for United States marshal for north Georgia and A. O. Blalock for international revenue collector at Atlanta will be made in a few days.

FURNITURE DEALERS TO FAVOR SUMMER CLOSING

Active campaign for mid-week half holiday for the summer months has been begun by Atlanta retail furniture dealers, following a meeting held in the chamber of commerce rooms Friday afternoon. It is stated that seventy-five per cent of the retail furniture dealers approve of the plan and will follow the grocers and butchers in making Wednesday afternoon a breathing spell for their employees.

Charles S. Robinson was elected chairman and T. J. Brockman and James K. Polk, secretaries of the meeting. A committee, composed of G. N. Morris, C. E. Campbell, H. A. Brockman and O. T. Camp, was named to visit the dealers not present to obtain their co-operation.

Faked Matrimonial Bureau

JAMAICA, N. It is alleged that they corresponded with victims and on a promise to join them obtained money for car fare and expenses.

The Evening Story — Aliens

(Copyright, 1913, by W. Werner.)

"G'wan!" roared the conductor. "How do I know where you want a transfer to? Get in off the platform and quit blocking the way. None of that lip. You got your right change, all right."

Hans sullenly went into the car, fingering a green transfer doubtfully. Six months in the new country had not given Hans the necessary command of language to tell that conductor what he thought anyway? It was merely a sample of the treatment that Hans, a big limbed awkward, clumsy of tongue, ignorant of the language, the people and the whole new country, had received from every one with whom he came in contact. He had found work, of course. His muscles were too firm and big to lack for work, but it was work that chafed his spirit and fretted the lungs used to outdoor air. And even now, after six months, he had not been taken into the camaraderie that included every other worker in the shop.

The foreman, a little, black haired brute from Italy, mocked his slow speech and clumsy ways. Two of the men were from Aalborg, district in northern Denmark, but they had been over several years and were American from their derby hats to their cheap leather shoes. They had American wives and their children fifteen years hence would be ashamed to talk with an old country accent. But Hans, perhaps because of inborn lack of adaptability, could not change. He bought new clothes but they did not fit him—they simply emphasized his alien appearance.

And he could not twist his slow tongue to the new language, though he tried with all his might, pored over books at night, went to night school, tried to pick words out in the newspapers that it seemed the Americans could not produce enough of. But it was all wasted. Every morning when he crawled out of the bed that he shared with a fellow from the same shop he felt more out of place; every night when he trudged back to the close, dark room life was less worth living. Nostalgia fell upon him, worth living. Nostalgia fell upon him, like a fierce-eyed, raging giant. The conductor shivered.

"I don't know where she wants to go," he pleaded to Hans. "Honest, I dont. other foreman out west somewhere—Marywood, or Mayville. The multiplicity of names was confusing, and the man who wrote the address for Hans was not an adept with the pencil. But he said that this shop paid much better. Hans probably could get twice what he was receiving at present. He welcome any change. Since all the new country offered was work, he wanted the work that paid the most.

He looked at the transfer doubtfully. Perhaps he should have changed three streets back. He did not know Chicago had so many streets, so many street cars, so many transfers. It would have been better to wait till Sunday, when daylight would have given him some degree of confidence, than to try it now, when the blackness of night only jarred with the arc lights and scattered what knowledge of the city he had been able to muster.

Again he looked at the transfer. It was punched east, and he was sure that the man who sold him of the shop had said that it should be punched west. If the conductor hadn't been so crusty—a black, ugly look shot into Hans' eyes, darkening them. He got up stolidly from the seat and went back to the platform. The conductor—and Hans muttered an American oath—would give him the needed information, or there would be such an arm slinging and jamming of fists that one railway employe would not forget soon.

"This transfer," Hans growled.

But the conductor was having another altercation. This time with a girl, light-haired and fair-skinned, who was trying to explain in Hans' own broken tongue that she didn't just know where the street was. It was out west—Robey street, she thought.

"G'wan!" snarled the conductor. "You bloomin' foreigners give me a pain. Why don't you learn the name of a street? I ain't no encyclopedia."

He stuttered into silence under the flood of Danish invective that Hans hurled at him. Hans had drawn himself up and towered angrily over him like a fierce-eyed, raging giant. The conductor shivered.

"I don't know where she wants to go," he pleaded to Hans. "Honest, I dont. I'd just as soon tell her. I ain't been on this route but a week."

"Shut up!" bawled Hans, and then, in tone soft and mild, a tone that the old people in Denmark would have recognized as Hans' ordinary voice, he spoke to the frightened girl.

In answer she poured out a pitiful story. She had come over two months before, and her brother, who worked somewhere in Chicago, should have met her. But her letter had miscarried; she had not been able to find him. And she didn't like the country. She was homesick. If she could get back! But it was no use to go back. Besides, she had promised to send her old mother money.

"I understand," said Hans softly. Who indeed could understand better.

"And the language—it is so hard," she sobbed, sensing that in Hans she had found a friend.

Hans questioned her further, and then whooped with joy. Her brother worked in the shop beside him. Hans had been over to his house for supper one night but Carl's American wife had not encouraged him to come again. But then—He looked at the girl with shining eyes.

"Alma is my name," she told him.

"She will like you, Alma," said Hans, composedly. "No one could help it. And if she doesn't. Oh, well, you will soon be acquainted and there will be another place for you to live!"

Alma blushed. Hans' tone was unmistakable, and Hans was planning with a speed that he must have learned in America. Back in Denmark things were not arranged so fast. But Alma's blush was not discouraging. Homesickness and loneliness have a certain potency. And Hans, when the sullen, bitter look left his face, was a clean, handsome young fellow.

By the time they had ridden back and were walking up the narrow street saying: "I didn't like the country—until—until—but now I do. And the language is hard, but maybe it will be easier if we learn it together."

"Maybe," assented Alma, shyly.

And from that time Alma and Hans were Americans.

EXPERIENCE OF MOTHERHOOD

Advice to Expectant Mothers

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at such times, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when it is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under the right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, and with ample time in which to prepare, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Strengthening the Game Law.

Georgia's game protection law, which was passed several seasons ago and which has been administered with uniform satisfaction to all true sportsmen and the public alike is, for the most part, an admirable measure. It has become evident, however, that a few supplementary provisions will greatly strengthen the original act and make it far more effective than now in conserving an important field of the State's natural resources.

Bills with this end in view have been introduced at the present session of the Legislature, by Senator O. H. Elkins and by Representative Methvin, of Dodge. They are intended to regulate the size and the use of seines, nets, and traps, a particular requirement being that the meshes employed by fishermen be large enough to permit the escape of small fish, an obviously fair and sensible safeguard. Such a measure should, and doubtless will, pass without opposition.

It is likely that kindred bills to perfect other details of the game law will be introduced. Commissioner Mercer has called attention to the vital need of protecting the State's oyster beds against the wantonly destructive practices to which they are now exposed. In many instances valuable reefs are being ruined and unless some practical remedy is soon applied, the State will have lost beyond recovery one of its rarest stores of treasure.

Properly conserved these oyster beds would become as famous and as profitable as any along the Atlantic coast and would be practically inexhaustible in their supply. They are now exposed, however, to all manner of heedless and ignorant usage, so that the very source of natural wealth which ought to be preserved for the people of this State is being destroyed. It is to be hoped that legislation to meet this condition will be enacted.

The weather is bad, but suppose everybody had to heat rivets on an office building?

Air Sickness.

It is conceivable that there was a day in the earliest stages of maritime adventure when sea sickness was as new and baffling an ailment as any of the more recent and fashionable diseases which twentieth-century science has discovered. We can imagine our simple ancestors struggling with the strange, terrible queasiness while some grave medicine man looked curiously on and racked his brain for some long and impressive name by which to call the new malady.

However that may have been, modern aviation has developed a brand new and a very interesting ailment similar in some respects to that suffered by first-timers at sea. It is known as "air sickness" and has given rise to no end of inquiry and speculation.

A French aeronaut, M. Berget, interestingly describes from personal experience the symptoms and consequences of air sickness. Writing in the current issue of the Health magazine he says: "Aeroplanes sometimes reach altitudes of ten thousand feet in an hour and here the effects on the ear, such as humming or cracking noises are about the same as in a balloon but the effect on the respiratory organs is different. The pilot is sooner out of breath and he feels a special kind of uneasiness."

In rapid descents, we are told, the aviator, feels a burning of the face, accompanied at times by a severe headache and, what is particularly noteworthy, a tendency to sleep. "The movements of the body are sluggish and unskillful," and there is a tension in the arteries. It is presumed that in time aviators will become inured to such disturbances or will escape entirely. But on maiden voyages, they are as dangerous as disquieting.

Georgia's Interest in Drainage.

There is reason to hope that in the course of its present session the Legislature will enact a drainage law sufficient to meet the insistent requests from every part of the State for the reclamation of swamp and overflow lands. Scientific drainage is no longer a theory in Georgia, appealing only to a few people here and there but a practical enterprise in which hundreds of farmers and business men are definitely interested.

This is witnessed by the fact that the State and the federal geological surveys are continually receiving applications from various counties for assistance in carrying forward such improvements and by the further fact that the Georgia Drainage Congress, supported by an active membership of public spirited men, has progressed so rapidly within the past few years as now to have district organizations in different parts of the State. Interest in this matter has become specific as well as general. Not only in South Georgia where there are thousands of acres of marsh or swamp land but also in North Georgia where there are many tracts of overflow land along rivers, the drainage question is one of immediate and vital concern.

Georgia has an inviting opportunity to meet and solve this issue on an economic basis in co-operation with the national government. A State appropriation of five thousand dollars annually for a period of five years will secure an equal sum from the federal government and also the latter's valuable assistance in making the preliminary surveys which are necessary to drainage undertakings. By a comparatively small outlay of money on its own part, the State can thus inaugurate a far-reaching and fruitful campaign for the reclamation of its swamp and overflow lands. As an investment, this proposition is highly attractive, for, the increased tax values which would inevitably follow drainage enterprises would within the course of a few years repay the State for its original expenditures a hundred times over.

The reclamation of overflow and swamp lands, far from being a subject of individual interest alone, is pre-eminently one of public welfare. How true this is, is indicated by the fact that in a number of counties farmers and merchants have organized to promote in so far as they can the drainage of wet lands in their vicinity. They realize that by so doing they will increase the production of crops, enhance the value of real estate and turn to practical, business account large tracts of land which now is relatively worthless. Such undertakings should have the State's guidance and support, for, they will extend and quicken the prosperity of the entire commonwealth.

Besides the economic value of drainage, there is this additional and very important fact to be considered. The existence of swamp or overflow lands is a constant meance to public health. Official records show that in those States where drainage enterprises have been extensively carried out the death rate from malaria has been reduced to a minimum, while in other States where little or no such work has been done, this insidious disease is as prevalent and as fateful as ever. As an efficient health measure, therefore, Georgia cannot do better than to encourage the reclamation of her swamp and overflow lands.

A well considered bill with this end in view has been introduced in the House by Judge Aiken, of Glynn, formerly a member of the Senate and a distinguished leader of the drainage movement in Georgia and the South. It is to be hoped that this timely and useful measure will receive favorable consideration.

The New Census Director.

The Senate's confirmation of Mr. William J. Harris as director of the United States census, to which position he was appointed some months ago by President Wilson, is a matter of peculiar satisfaction to all Georgians and an assurance to the country at large that the work of this important bureau will be faithfully and competently done.

Mr. Harris' distinctive success in large business affairs, his genius for organization and for the mastery of details eminently equip him for the tasks of his high office, while his sterling integrity of character guarantees a just and spotless administration of the department. In his home State, Mr. Harris is so well known as to render further commendation superfluous. We predict, however, that he will establish a record which will earn the confidence and approval of all sections of the country and will be a credit to the national administration as well as to his own commonwealth. The directorship of the census could not have been more worthily bestowed.

THE PHILIPPINES

XVI.—PHILIPPINIZING THE CIVIL SERVICE

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

One of the first acts passed by the Philippine commission was a civil service law. It provided that, all other things being equal, preference should be given in appointments to Filipinos and to Americans who had seen military service, in the order named. This was in obedience to the instructions of President McKinley to Governor Taft, telling him always to remember that the islands were the natural if not the legal possession of the Filipinos and that the government which the Americans should set up should be a government of Filipinos in so far as was practicable. In the thirteen years of its operation the Philippine civil service certainly has exemplified the McKinley spirit, and the transfer of positions from Americans to Filipinos has gone on so steadily that the complete Filipinizing of the service will be accomplished perhaps even before that unknown date in the future when the Filipinos are to set up a republic of their own.

• • •

In passing the civil service act the Philippine commission established and provided for the maintenance of an efficient and honest civil service in the Philippine islands. At first the act applied to only a part of the government, but it has steadily extended to all bureaus of the government, the provincial service, the teaching service and later to the municipal treasurers. Examinations always have been given in English and Spanish, but now the Spanish examinations are being reduced to a minimum because English is spreading all over the islands with great rapidity. The civil service bureau was created by this act and it conducts and judges all examinations, keeps the record of the entire service, unclassified as well as classified, publishes the official rosters and computes the amount of leave due to each official or employe. The recommendation of the director of the civil service is required on all proposed removals, reductions, suspensions and fines. The bureau has absolute control of the enforcement of the civil service act and very little tampering on the part of bureau chiefs is permitted. In these respects it is more powerful than most civil service commissions, not even excepting the United States civil service commission. In the uniform enforcement of the civil service law, regardless of politics, it can give the United States civil service valuable lessons, and it is doubtful if any municipal or state civil service in this country can show any comparison to it.

• • •

An important feature in the Philippine civil service is the method of filling vacancies in the positions of directors, assistant directors, chief clerks, chiefs of divisions and other important positions by the promotion of competent employes in the service. Most civil service acts in all countries, particularly in the United States, make the higher positions the plums of politics, but this unjust and uneconomic method of blocking promotions in the classified service is not in good odor in the Philippines.

• • •

Liberal vacations and leaves of absence are provided. Classified employes from ordinary clerks to directors are allowed from twenty-eight to thirty-five days vacation leave every year. The entrance salary for clerks and stenographers is $1,200, and promotion is rapid up to $2,000.

• • •

When the Philippine civil service was organized and for some years after, Americans were in the majority. Not only all of the responsible positions but all of the classified clerkships were held by Americans. They were appointed by passing first and second grade English examinations, while the unimportant posts ranging from $150 to $500 a year or thereabout were awarded to Filipinos as they proved their fitness to hold them by passing the first and second grade Spanish examinations.

• • •

By 1903 the percentage of Americans began to decrease and that of Filipinos to increase so that Americans held 51 per cent of the positions and the Filipinos 49 per cent. There were 2,777 Americans and 2,697 Filipinos. The expenditures for salaries totaled $3,618,350 for Americans and $1,094,688 for Filipinos. The average annual salary was $1,302 for Americans and $405 for Filipinos. Within the next twelve-month the proportion had shifted to 51 per cent for Filipinos and 49 per cent for Americans. Ever since that time the Filipino percentage has ascended with a corresponding decline in Americans and with an increase of the average annual compensation for both races.

• • •

The highest number of Americans ever employed in the classified civil service was in 1906 when there were 3,307 on the payroll. In the same year there were 4,023 Filipinos and they held 55 per cent of the positions. The average monthly salary had increased by $50 for Americans and $6 for Filipinos. In 1912 the civil service records showed 2,680 Americans and 6,033 Filipinos, giving the latter 69 per cent of the positions. The Americans drew $4,623,652 while that allotted to Filipinos was $2,734,087. The average American salary was $1,725 a year, while the ratio for Filipinos was $453. This shows that while the percentage of Americans has greatly decreased, the average compensation per annum has gone up $423, while the Filipinos are averaging $48 per person more than in 1903. This increase in the American average has been due to the substantial promotions necessary to keep competent and well trained Americans in the service and to the employment in recent years of engineering and scientific experts at salaries high enough to induce men to leave lucrative positions in the United States. At the same time the average salary for both Americans and Filipinos was $843 in 1912, whereas in 1903 it was $860.

• • •

At first a Filipino who took even the second grade English examination was a rarity, but now it is quite common. The number of Filipinos examined in English in 1912 was 5,736, and this showed an increase of 17 per cent over the previous year. In fact, 85 per cent of all the Filipinos examined took the English examination. Of these 23 per cent passed, whereas the year before but 22 per cent passed and in previous years the percentage of Filipinos aspiring to the English lists who passed was lamentably small. The great bulk of those examined last year took second and third grade English, junior teacher and junior industrial teacher examinations. As an indication of the growing qualifications of young Filipinos for industrial instruction it might be pointed out that 470 were examined as junior industrial teachers in 1912. Last year Filipinos also qualified for the following positions: One civil engineer, two junior civil engineers, five surveyors, nineteen junior surveyors, two scientific assistants, fifteen junior draughtsmen, twelve assistant computers, one librarian and one trained nurse. The first-grade English which is on a par with the ordinary federal examination was taken by eighteen Filipinos.

• • •

Although 5,736 Filipinos took the English examination only 988 were examined in Spanish. This is the first time in the history of American occupation that the number of Filipinos examined in Spanish has fallen below 1,000 in any year. In several of the provinces not a single person passed the examination in Spanish, and in Manila only thirty-two. Last year 19 per cent of the American employes severed their connection with the service in order either to return to the United States or to enter business life in the islands. The tendency is to fill all the routine grades, including many important administrative and clerical positions, with Filipinos, reserving the really big positions and those requiring technical skill to properly qualified Americans.

The Conning Tower

BY FRANKLIN P. ADAMS.

THE PUBLIC CONSCIENCE KNOWS NOT INSOMNIA.

Sing a song of Sing Sing,
A prison full of germs;
Several dozen convicts
A-serving out their terms,
When the truth was printed
The people of the state
Cried: "Oh, how the papers
Do exaggerate!"

Apparently they are beginning better treatment at Auburn, however. Introducing this, from the Oswego "Gazette": "Harry Ferguson and John Porter were taken to Auburn prison last Thursday by Sheriff Fred C. Dailey in his automobile. They were sentenced each to not less than two and one-half years and not more than five years at hard labor. Ferguson for forgery in the second degree and Porter for burglary in the third degree. Deputy Sheriff John Merrick went along as a guard and Mrs. Dailey and her daughter, Miss Martha Dailey, accompanied the sheriff on the trip."

THE DIARY OF OUR OWN SAMUEL PEPYS.

June 23.—Up, and to the harbor and saw there Howard Frye and we vowed we should play as partners in the tennis tourney come Labour Day, which I am glad of, forasmuch as his skill is very great. Met with S. Merwin on the causeway and talked of letters and sport and other matters and thence to the court and played with Mistresses Virginia Hale and Edith Merritt and Mr. Eddie Donovan and Mistress Merritt and I did trounce Eddie and V. 3 setts. To the beach with Mistress Edna Aug, or as they phrase it in New England, Edna Raug, and she did immerse herself into the ocean, but I had liefer to sit on the sand and idle. Thence to St. Botolphe's Towne by a train of Mr. Mellen's that took 1 1-2 hours to travel 26 mi., and to another of his trains that traveled faster, but I could not sleep. But that was not Mr. Mellen's fault, poor soul, but mine whose head was too full of thoughts for sleep. Yet all pleasurable ones, so I did not mind. 24.—Up very betimes and by a cab to my house and I did ask the man the cost ere I entered and he said 5s., but, coming by a circuitous course, he told me, at my house, it was 6s., which I would not pay, and he said he would have to pay the discrepancy, which I told him he well might. I would scorn to argue over such a sum, quoth he. Then, quoth I, pray do not, and good-morning to you. And I did not care had he paid £10 for his insolence and stupidity. To my office, very weary, and thence to the ballpark to see Mr. Tesreau beat the Brooklyn team and so home and very early to-bed.

To the defense of J. M. Flagg, whose rhyme of "forty" with "naughty" recently upset us, comes W. B. K., citing Shakespeare's "come" and "doom" in Sonnet CVII. Big league bards, as we have hinted before, often err in such matters; being leaders, they may. But Mr. Flagg, being a poetical busher, should have his technique flawless. When a verse writer has less than a great thought to express he should do it perfectly.

CITY LANDLORDISM

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

(Copyright, 1913, by Frank Crane.)

The most unsatisfactory expression of democracy is the American city.

Here individualism is at its fever heat. Hither the money maddest men swarm, as moths about the candle. Here are enormous gains to be made from juggling with the aggregates of the people's property, which the people so far do not dare to handle for themselves. Here is the carcass of slain public rights; and "where the carrion is there the eagles are gathered together."

Here democracy has been masked by the bugaboo fronts of socialism, paternalism, and other affrites of fearsome name, and the people, ignorant and afraid, let the shrewd and privileged few glut themselves unwhipt. One of the greatest menaces to the city is landlordism. No rise in values is so enormous as that in land values. It is caused solely by the PRESENCE of the people; it ought to go to the people; it goes to the landlord; he does not earn a cent of it; his entire gain is unjust.

Little by little the land-holder is extending his ownings. The bulk of the city dwellers are renters. They have no reachable opportunity to become land owners.

No democracy can thrive and be healthy that is composed of tenants, pouring the cream of their labor's product into the palls of a few idle persons privileged by law and custom.

Patriotism, civic conscience and an interest in public affairs are plants that grow from property. To cure an anarchist it is only necessary to give him a house and lot. The roots of good citizenship are in the soil.

The French people are realizing this. Their government has set aside $20,000,000 as a fund to encourage workingmen to own their homes. The scheme, beset at first with difficulties, now works smoothly. Hundreds of workmen in the north of France, where the idea is farthest advanced, are proprietors. The result is better citizens, more self-respect, healthier children.

Why cannot the American city follow the example of Limoges, for instance? Or the plan of Mr. Ribot in Paris, who is organizing a company to put up cooperative buildings containing fifty lodgings, where each tenant, by small payments, may acquire ownership of his dwelling?

But, better still, THE CITY should undertake this. Why cannot the people rise to see that the city means THEMSELVES?

Let the city begin to buy up the land it has lost and sell it back to the people in small holdings.

Let the millions and not the few get hold of the land, the source of all opportunities.

Thousands now come to New York, Boston or Chicago, work twenty years, pay $1,000 a year rental, and at the end of that time, instead of having invested $20,000 in the city, they have nothing. Hence, the city dwellers are a homeless, unrooted lot, restless strangers whom it is impossible to interest in civic matters.

As they pay the better part of their earnings to landlords, so they leave the government of the city to grafters.

Let the people own their city and they will take an interest in governing their city.

Canning Fruits the Different Methods

There are several methods of canning. While the principle is the same in all, the conditions under which the work must be done may make one method more convenient than another. The three methods which are considered the best and easiest are given. In the case of small fruits, such as berries, cherries and plums, they are picked over and washed thoroughly to remove the sand. Large fruits are peeled and halved, or left whole if desired. The core and blossom end should be removed from quinces and pears. Peaches have a better flavor if some of the stones are allowed to remain.

Method 1. Without sugar: Prepare the fruit. Pack it into perfectly clean jar, and if you are using jars with rubbers, adjust the rubbers. Fill the jars to overflowing with cold water. Lay on the lids, but do not screw or fasten them down. Stand the jars on a rack in the bottom of a boiler; do not let them touch each other. Surround the jars halfway up with cold water, cover the boiler and bring to the boiling point.

For all small fruits and for peaches cook ten or fifteen minutes after the water in the boiler has reached the boiling point. Plums should be cooked thirty minutes. Quinces and pears should be cooked in clear water until tender, then packed in the jars, and cooked again for ten minutes. When the fruit in the jars is cooked, uncover the boiler, carefully lift out one jar at a time, place it on a board and fasten each lid without removing it from the jar. Do not let the jars stand in a draught of cold air while hot. They may crack.

With sugar: Proceed exactly as described above. But instead of filling the jars with plain cold water, after you have packed in the fruit, fill them with a syrup which has been previously made and cooled. The syrup is made by boiling together for five minutes sugar and water in any desired proportion. Half a pound of sugar (one cupful) to one pint of water makes a good syrup.—The Ladies' World for July.

Into Arcady

(Mark K. Powers, in Smart Set.)

There is no highway, broad and free,
Straight to the goal of our pilgrim kind.
There's only a path into Arcady.

Were it a road that the crowd could see,
Even the halt might lead the blind.
There is no highway, broad and free.

Somewhere, by hill and tangled lea,
Hither and thither the way is twined—
There's only a path into Arcady.

Thou who art seeking the road with me,
Cities and streets we must leave behind—
There is no highway, broad and free.

Dear heart—what shall our guidestar be?
(Close—watch close—where the footsteps wind.)
There's only a path into Arcady.

Thousands are seeking in vain, but we—
(God be willing)—the way shall find,
There is no highway, broad and free—
There's only a path into Arcady.

Dry-Fly Fishing

The man who is preparing for his vacation fishing trip will get double the sport out of it if he checks his outfit by the wisdom of that experienced fisherman and writer, Frederic M. Halford, of The Field. His new book, "The Dry-Fly Man's Handbook" (Dutton), is a complete manual. The fishing rod and tackle, the management, the patterns, and the modern methods of selecting and preparing the materials for them, as well as the latest manipulation of fly-dressing—these are all treated in detail, and there is added a comprehensive fisherman's entomology and a chapter on the making and management of a fishery exceptionally valuable because this branch of the fisherman's craft is every day awakening more attention.

SUNDAY SONGS AND SERMONS

PATRIOTIC SERVICE AT FIRST CHRISTIAN SUNDAY

Special Music and Patriotic Sermon by Dr. L. O. Bricker, the Pastor

An unique service appropriate to the Fourth of July season will be held in the First Christian church Sunday evening at 8 p. m. A short patriotic sermon will be given by Dr. L. O. Bricker, the pastor.

This service is a yearly affair and was the first of its kind to be instituted by any Atlanta church. The idea originated with Dr. Bricker, who believes patriotic love of one's country is essential to Christianity. Preparations are being made to handle and make comfortable the large crowd which will attend. The program is as follows:

Chorus, "Christian Soldiers"—Two hundred voices.
Prayer—Dr. L. O. Bricker.
"Yankee Doodle"—Primary children.
"Star Spangled Banner"—Chorus.
Flag drill—Morning Glory class.
"The Beautiful Flag"—Choir.
Fourth of July—Primary children.
"My Old Kentucky Home"—Miss Kate Howell.
Toast to Georgia—Mrs. Chas. Goodman.
"Red, White and Blue," duet—Miss Ruby Gaffney, Mrs. Goldie Lloyd.
"Dixie"—Orchestra.
Patriotic sermon—Dr. L. O. Bricker.
"America," "My Country "Tis of Thee"—Chorus.
Benediction—Dr. L. O. Bricker.

WHEN BAPTIST MINISTERS MAKE MERRY AT PICNIC

Scene at picnic and ball game of Atlanta Baptist Ministers' association at the waterworks Monday afternoon. In the upper left hand corner is Dr. B. F. Robertson helping the Rev. E. L. Vaughn to some more jam. In the upper right hand corner Dr. Victor I. Masters editorial secretary of the Baptist home mission board is breaking a wish-bone with Rev. T. T. Davis, pastor of the Woodward Avenue Baptist church. The man between the two pictures is the Rev. Dr. W. R. Ridley, of Minneapolis, about to line out a three-bagger. The biggest rooter in the bunch, Rev. H. S. Wallace, is at the bottom left, and next to him is Rev. Charles W. Daniel, pastor of the First Baptist church, waiting for a good one. Dr. John E. White is catching Rev. Caleb A. Ridley off first in the last picture. The umpire is Dr. J. C. Solomon.

1813 Henry Ward Beecher 1913

A little sermon in a great life.

By Rev. Loy Warwick

Without Faith it is impossible to please him.—Book of Hebrews.

"If you ask me precisely what I mean by that, I say, frankly, that, more than the social influence of of my father or mother upon me; more than the social influence of all my father's household; more, so far as I can trace it, or so far as I am aware of it, than all the social influences of every kind, Christ has had the formation of my mind and of my disposition. My hidden ideals of what is beautiful I have drawn from Christ. My thoughts of what is manly, and noble, and pure have almost all of them risen from the Lord Jesus Christ. Many men have educated themselves by reading Plutarch's Lives of the ancient worthies, and setting before themselves one and another of those that in different ages have achieved celebrity; they have recognized the great power of these men in themselves. Now I do not perceive that poet, or philosopher, or reformer, or general, or any other great man, ever has dwelt in my imagination more than Jesus has. For years I have instinctively gone to Him to draw a measure and a judgment for everything. Have my passions arisen? I have instinctively drawn from my thought of Christ some ideal, some rule. And I have not simply asked myself, "What does He command?" My perfect conception of manhood is presented in Christ. Whenever there has been a necessity for it, I have sought out at last almost spontaneously—to throw myself into the companionship of Christ; and early by my imagination I could see Him standing and looking quietly and lovingly at me. I have found my hero always in Christ; for I have not thought of Him as a quietest, as many have, nor as a pietest alone, as many have. My Christ loved flowers and talked about them. My Christ watched birds and knew about them. My Christ was a lamb, but He was also a lion of the tribe of Judah. By the grace of God in Jesus Christ I am what I am."

NONE SO GREAT AS MEN.

The seas, the mountains, the sun, the moon and the stars are great. But none of these are so great as great men. We look upon them and cry out, "Ye are the things that tower." It is easier to believe in God because we believe in great men. We have our heroes and our saints, our masters and our teachers. But what are they by comparison with the great Master, the great Teacher and the great Hero? All the saintliness in the saint, all the greatness in the great, all the courage in the brave, all the eloquence in the orator come from Him.

ONE OF WORLD'S GREAT MEN.

No one will question the wisdom that put Henry Ward Beecher in the Hall of Fame. He was one of the world's great men. He belongs to America in a peculiar sense. But he belongs also to the civilized world—to the kingdom of light and truth and eloquence.

He has been called one of the four supremely great orators of the world. He and Demosthenes were kindred souls.

Phillips Brooks—himself one of the giants—called Beecher the greatest preacher that Protestantism has produced. The Rev. Joseph Parker after hearing him lecture in Manchester, said: "As an effort of the memory, as an effort of the voice, and as a miracle of wisdom and good nature, I have never heard the equal of that massive and victorious oration. It was a fight, a heroic onslaught and a victorious assault at arms." He had a Shakespearian mind and an Oriental imagination. His figures and images were as spontaneous as the flow of waters and seemed to crowd out of themselves. He thought and talked in pictures.

Withal Beecher's style and manner were simple and natural. He used notes very little. Compared to some great orator, who prepared their addresses so assidously and, almost painfully Beecher may be called an orator who spoke without preparation.

But of course he did prepare. No man has ever attained to such excellence without paying a great price. And the price is work, work, work.

TREMENDOUSLY IN EARNEST.

Beecher was tremendously in earnest. He had strong convictions. He was a great lover of his fellowmen. His faith in Christ was as simple and clear as the faith of the little child.

Dr. Lyman Beecher had seven sons who entered the ministry. Harriet Beecher Stowe is but little behind her famous brother in the matter of being well known. She also has a place in the Hall of Fame.

Henry Ward Beecher was very reluctant to enter the ministry. He was enamored of the sea and went to Amherst college to prepare himself for a career among those who go down to the sea in great ships. But his father's faith and prayers triumphed and in a great revival Henry was converted and called to the ministry.

The great Lord could deliver a great message and do a great work through this man because he had great willingness to toll and to suffer for what he believed was right.

He did with his might all his hands found to do and he did it heartily as unto the Lord.

Such men never die. Thousands today who never saw him owe much to the great pastor of Plymouth church.

No man can fail to impress his age in some good way who feels towards Jesus Christ as Beecher felt. Old things pass away and all things become new when He comes into a man's life as He came into that of the great preacher.

He cannot fall who sides with God in the battle of life. If God be for us it matters but little who or what is against us.

NO SUMMER SERVICES AT RAILROAD Y. M. C. A.

Last Service Before Closing for Heated Season to Be Held This Afternoon

The meeting at the Railroad Young Men's Christian association Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock will be the closing one for the season. The meeting will be suspended during the heated term and will be resumed later in the fall.

For this last service the announcement is for an open meeting and the exercises will consist of prayer, praise and testimony. There will be the usual delightful song service led by the orchestra and different men will take part. A cordial welcome awaits all men who may wish to attend.

THERE are at least 1,000 men in Atlanta earning perhaps $1,500 per year, who can easily make $5,000 or more soliciting life insurance. If you are an intelligent, high grade man, and not satisfied with your present position, it is your duty to inquire in regard to our propositions by letter or in person.

Anyone reading this ad. who can suggest to me the name of a man whom he believes will make a good solicitor, will do a service, and I will be glad to investigate.

Crackers Have Moved to Montgomery for Three-Game Series

Richards and M'Neil Clash In Big Race

Besides Three-Heat Race Between Stars, There Will Be Three Other Events—Four Riders in Each of the Heats

When Jack Prince took Wilmer Richards and Jack McNeil from the two feature races set for Saturday night at the motordrome and featured them in a sensational battle between themselves he sate Atlanta fandom the greatest opportunity of their lives for a series of real thrills. For not only will the McNeil-Richards race be a corker in itself, but it will serve to give the other racers a chance to take some of the prize money in the other events.

In the big events at the speedway McNeil and Richards have been hogging all the prize money and made the races runaway affairs. This caused Jack Prince to hit upon the unique scheme of barring them from Saturday night's big events and framing them up in a match of their own with a $100 purse hung up. These two boys will get together in three heats of three miles each and you can depend upon it that there is to be some mighty fast running.

With McNeil and Richards out of the Motordrome purse and Dixie sweepstakes, there will be just two heats to these matches and there will be four riders in each. In the past there have been just three riders in each heat and with four running abreast it should be far more exciting. There will also be four racers in each of the final heats.

Besides the big three-heat match affair between McNeil and Richards, the Dixie sweepstakes and motordrome purse, there will be an added feature which will bring together most all of the best racers. The first event is to start at 8:15 and there will be thrills most every minute until 10 o'clock.

The next race is planned for the evening of July 4, when a big holiday program is to be shown the fans.

FIELD MEET OF ONE WEEK

CHICAGO, June 28.—The greatest athletic carnival that ever took place in Chicago and perhaps on the continent will be opened this afternoon at Grant Park. The contests will be begun with a marathon race and will close a week from Sunday with the National Amateur] Athletic union championships on the program from next Sunday.

The National track and field meet, the first of its kind will be run off this afternoon.

Major Harrison will start the 120-yard hurdle race, first number on the card, immediately after he has received a message from President Wilson, delivered by the last of the Boy scouts, who will have run relays from Washington, 778 miles.

The young athletes, running day and night, arrived at South Bend, Ind., at 10 o'clock last night, several hours ahead of their schedule.

BUNTS AND BINGLES
BY—JULIAN MURPHEY—

Being stingy with hits does not always win ball games, the ability to keep the safeties scattered being the main exponent in the winning of ball games.

This was proven to be the solution of the pitching problem on Friday when Jim Brady got away with a 2-1 victory when he gave up 11 bingles while the opposing flinger was getting out with far fewer bingles off his delivery. It was the knack of keeping the hits back when the runners were on the bags that won for the veteran of the Atlanta staff.

USES HIS HEAD.

Jim Brady is no world-beater as a Class A pitcher yet he goes along smoothly all the while and wins about as many games as anyone. He does not seem to possess any especially bewildering curves and certainly has no speed to speak of but all the same he goes out and wins ball games and that is what counts. He is a hurler of the Tom Fisher type?

Unfortunately a hurler never learns to properly use his head until his arm has about worn out and then realizing it means retirement or the adoption of some unique style of hurling he gets busy and perfects some freak ball or delivery with which he gets away for season after season. If the twirlers would only do this studying before their arm wears out they would be far more successful when in their prime. But they don't figure they need it and hence put off adopting it until they can rely upon nothing else.

You can't always "hit 'em where they ain't," but if you have a good batting eye no batting slump is to stick with you for any especially length of time.

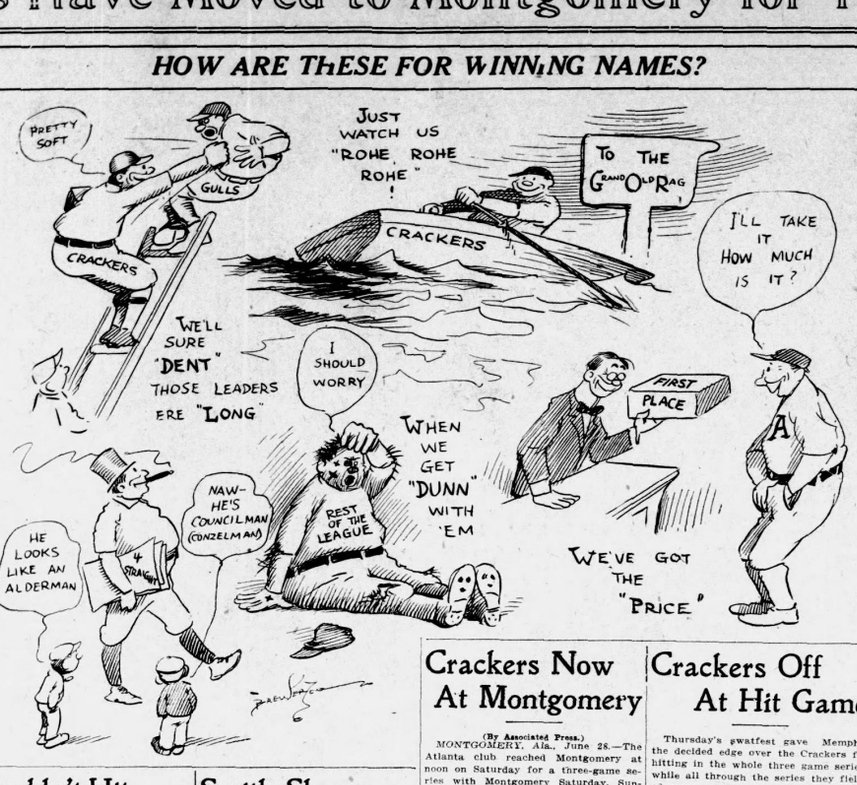
LONG COMING BACK.

"He has never been away anywhere," said one fan in replying to the statement of a brother bug to the effect that Tommy Long is coming back at the batting end of the game. And he is just about right.

For some six or eight games Tommy failed to hit safely with any great regularity and his batting average slumped down to the .325 mark. This naturally brought forth a howl from fandom and many began to pull the "I told you so" gag. Everybody let out the cry that they always knew Tommy would never hit above .300 and seemed proud of his temporary slump. But now Tommy is right again and my, how he is slinging the pill. In fact all the time Tommy was failing to hit safely he was pounding the ball hard, but always directly at some opp...ent. Now such as this won't keep up always. Sometimes they are sure to fall safe and the worm has at last turned for Long.

And Tommy is not the only Cracker who is hitting the ball. Welchonce, Alperman, Smith, Bisland and Bailey continue to boost their average and it appears as if Atlanta is bound to have some four .300 hitters with the end of the race.

HOW ARE THESE FOR WINNING NAMES?



Couldn't Hit At Right Time

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 28.—King Brady was touched eleven time. Friday, but excellent fielding and the scattered intervals at which the hits came saved Atlanta from defeat. The count was 2 to 1.

The third game of the Memphis series was somewnat better attended than the other two, but at that was woefully short on account of the inclement weather. Only about 900 fans watched the game.

Atlanta opened up on Newton's delivery. Immediately after the game started Long singled, was sacrificed to second and scored on Alperman's hit.

Both teams played airtight ball until the sixth, when each one score a run, leaving Atlanta still in the lead. In Atlanta's half of the inning Smith singled, was sacrificed to second, went to third on Agler's infield hit, and scored on Baerwald's error. Memphis scored her only run when Love started things with a single, Ward beat out a slow one, and Schweitzer singled, driving Love across the plate.

Brilliant support in the eighth saved a tied game. With one gone the bases were full. Alperman grounded to Smith and Love was forced at the plate, and Shanley lifted one to Alperman and ended the show.

Moran Bests Logan

NEW ORLEANS, June 28.—Frank Moran, of Pittsburg, knocked out Tim Logan, of Chicago, in the fourth round of a scheduled ten round fight here last night.

Moran floored Logan shortly after the opening of the fourth round with a hard right to the jaw, and a little later put the Chicago man down for the count with another stiff right to the same place. Both weighed close to 200 pounds.

Smith Shows Grand Class

NEW YORK, June 28.—Gunboat Smith, of California, last night defeated George Rodel, the South African Boer, in the third round of a scheduled ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

After Rodel had been knocked down twice Referee Joh stopped the bout.

Rodel had the better of the first round and in the second forced Smith to the ropes, landing a right to the head and left to the jaw. Smith retaliated with a hard right overhand swing to the head that floored the Boer for a count of nine.

In the third Gunboat landed two lefts to the body and Rodel came back with a left to the face. A right swing to the point of the jaw made the Boer take a second count of nine. He arose to meet another right to the head for the second knockdown of the round. The referee stopped the contest without counting. The men's weights were:

Crackers Now At Montgomery

(By Associated Press.)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 28.—The Atlanta club reached Montgomery at noon on Saturday for a three-game series with Montgomery Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Weather conditions favor a large crowd at the opening game Saturday afternoon, and the series should be hard fought as there is only a game and a half's difference between these two clubs, and this series will decide ho fights it out with Chattanooga for second place.

E. Brown, Montgomery's leading hurler, will go on the mound for Montgomery. Either Gil Price ar Conzelman will face the Senators for Atlanta, while chapman will do the catching.

HOW CLUBS PLAY TODAY

(By Associated Press.)

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 28.—Birmingham and Memphis will today open a series of three games at Red Elm park. Klassinger and Scaugh are the locals will oppose Boyd or Thompson and Mayer for the visiting team. Weather clear and hot.

MOBILE, Ala., June 28.—Shattanooga opens a three-game series with Mobile this afternoon. Bradley Hogg is scheduled to pitch for Mobile, with Schmidt behind the stick. For Chattanooga, Manager Elberfeld will put Sommers in the box, with Street at he receiving end. The weather is unsettled, with possibility of rain.

NEW ORLEANS, June 28.—The Nashville club arrived in New Orleans today to open a three-game series with the Pelicans. More, former Chattanooga pitcher, was announced as Manager Schwartz's choice to work on the mound this afternoon, with Gibson behind the bat. McIntyre and Adams will be the New Orleans battery. The weather was clear and warm.

COBB'S WORK

The ban was lifted from Joe Jackson Friday and he celebrated his return to the game by batting an even thousand. Cobb did not do quite so well, getting only one hit out of two times up.

This leaves their relative standing as follows:

Crackers Off At Hit Game

Thursday's swatfest gave Memphis the decided edge over the Crackers for hitting in the whole three game series, while all through the series they fielded more consistently, making only one error. The hitting of the Atlanta team in this series, however, was a great improvement over that exhibited in the two New Orleans games.

SHOULD FAN 27 BATTERS

"Wild Bill" Donovan in his time one of the greatest pitchers of the day, and now manager of the Providence team, recalls one sunny afternoon in the season of 1907, while he was with the Detroit Tigers, of a tall, awkward looking youth, wearing a Washington uniform, walking out upon the mound.

"Who's that fellow?" inquired Bill from a spectator. "His name is Johnson," was the reply. "They say he struck out twenty-two men out in Idaho."

"Well, this isn't Idaho, and that young fellow will find it out in a very few minutes," put In Bill as he sat down to watch the proceedings.

Three innings later Donovan went back to the spectator who had given him the information. "How many did you say he struck out in Idaho—twenty-two? It's a wonder he didn't strike out twenty-seven. That's the greatest kid I have ever seen."—Washington Herald.

LAND MANUSH FOR UTILITY

Reports from Manager Billy Smith conveys the information that he has just signed Frank Manush, the ex-Pel for utility work. Manush has been a free agent sysince being released b Cholly Frank.

It is believed the signing of Manush means the passing of George Robe, also an ex-Pel, who has been with the team acting in utility roles. Manush has been a good ball player in his day and may fill in most acceptably as utility.

One American Holding Own

WIMBLEDON, England, June 28.—With four champions pitted against four Englishmen for inclusion in the semi-final round of the all-England lawn tennis singles championship, an intensely interesting stage of the tournament was reached with the opening of the fifth round today. The four champions are Maurice E. McLoughlin, United States champion, J. C. Parke, Irish and Scottish champion; Oscar Kreutzer, German champion, and Stanley N. Doust, Australian champion. They were picked by experts before the matches started almost without exception as the probable semi-finalists, leaving the Englishmen entirely out of the picture.

MOBILE, Ala., June 28.—Outelder William McGill, signed by Mobile this spring and later sent to the Pensacola team of the Cotton States league, has been called back by Manager Finn and will play right eld for Mobile in the game with Chattanooga today.

ONLY ATLANTA STARS LEFT IN TENNIS MEET

SOUTHERNERS FOR A DAY

Bobby Byrne—Playing against St. Louis, the ex-Shreveport infielder made one hit in six times up.

Doc Johnston—The White Sox hurlers were a bit scarce with their hits and the ex-Pel did not do so well, getting one bingle in 4 times up.

Joe Jackson—The slugging Nap was credited with just two at bats and each time he cracked out a safety. He also got away with a tally.

Al Bridwell—The ex-Cracker now playing short for the Cubs batted an even 500 against the Red hurler, getting one hit in two times up. He accepted eight chances in the field without a bobble.

Jimmy Archer—The star catcher batted for the pitcher in the ninth inning and slammed out a single.

Rube Benton—The southpaw who helped Billy Smith at Chattanooga, allowed the Cubs but 4 hits, walked 7 and fanned 7.

Derrill Pratt—Three at bats, one run and one hit tells of the Alabama boy's batting history in Friday's game.

Clyde Stengel—The hard hitting outfielder of the Brooklyn Dodgers who was once with Montgomery got away with a two sacker in five times up.

Zack Wheat—This outfielder rapped out two doubles and a single in five times up. He also twice crossed the plate.

Jake Daubert—The first sacker who rivals Hal Chase was up five times, scored two runs and made three hits, one of which was a double.

"Red" Smith—The Atlanta boy was at bat five times and four times he hit safely, twice the ball rolling for two sacks. He also swiped a bag.

Ed Sweeney—The old Atlanta catcher was up five times and made one hit and one run.

Steve Yerkes—The Boston second sacker made two hits and three runs in eight trips to the pan.

Tris Speaker—The star outfielder in two o games was at bat six times and made four runs and three hits, one was a three bagger.

Neal Ball—The ex-Cracker was at bat eight times and made one run and one hit. He swiped one bag and in 16 chances made one error.

MOBBED THE REFEREE.

PARIS, June 28.—The referee in a twenty-round fight here last night between Frank Madois, an American lightweight, and Alexis Badoud, a Swiss, was mobbed in the ring by the spectators when he declared the bout a draw. The crowd considered that the American was entitled to the decision on points. The police had to be called in to clear the hall.

WAS FORCED INTO GAME

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 28.—Because he was out of a job and signed a baseball contract as a last resort, Rube Schauer went to work for the Superior (Wis.) club of the Northern league this spring. Because he cast his fortunes with baseball Schauer determined to pitch his way into a steady berth. As a result he pitched so well and so often that almost single-handed he has landed his club at the top of the Northern league, and his work has resulted in his sale to the New York National League club for the largest amount ever paid for a Class C player. Only two other players in the history of baseball ever have brought larger sums on the auction block. They were O'Toole, of St. Paul, and Marquard, of Indianapolis.

Schauer was born and brought up in a small Minnesota town, and has played baseball about as long as the average American boy. His first appearance in professional baseball was made in Minneapolis on April 22. He worked for two-thirds of an inning and retired in favor of a pinch hitter. The next day he was sent back and allowed only six hits, winning 15 to 3, errors robbing him of a shutout.

From then on it was easy sailing. He leads the league in strikeouts, averaging about ten a game. He has pitched three one-hit games, a gang of two and three-hit contests, and was robbed of a no-hit game by a scratch single in the ninth. He has appeared in more games than any other pitcher in the league and is a glutton for work. He is a big, strong young fellow and would work every day if given a chance. He stands almost 6 feet tall and weighs 180 pounds.

Nat Thornton Easily Won Over All Rivals, and Saturday Plays Carleton, Present Champion ,for the Southern Association Honors

By SAM L. GILBERT.

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 28.—You have guessed it. Old Doctor Thornton of Atlanta, defeated "Tester" Adoue, the Dallas hercules on Friday afternoon and plays Carlton Smith for the Southern championship Saturday at 4:30 P. M. That Genial Nat will win is the general belief among the sharps who have been following his wonderful playing during the tournament, during the course of which he has made some of the best players in the south look like novices.

The final round in the doubles will also be reached Saturday afternoon. Mansfield and Smith donated Thornton and Grant Friday in two sets, the thing not being completed because of darkness and the former pair thereby became favorite to carry off the 1913 honors.

In the ladies' championship Mrs. Blanchence easily defeated Miss Sallie Lawrence and Mrs. Irving Murphy defeated Miss Ethelyn Legendre. This afternoon at 4 o'clock will see Miss Murphy against Mrs. Monroe in the finals. The winner of this will hold the Southern championship as Mrs. Taylor, the 1912 holder, will not come down to defend her title.

In the singles final Thornton defeated Adoue in straight sets 6-4, 6-2, 6-1. The playing of these two men is in strong contrast. Adoue stays on the back line and drives hard. Thornton is at his best at the net, and comes in with remarkable speed. Adoue is rather slow in his movements, while Thornton runs like a streak of lightning. One of Thornton's chief assets is his quickness and especially the rapidity with which he gets going. He jumps from side to side in such a way that it is impossible to put the ball out of his reach. Then Thornton is better with his head work than Adoue. Adoue relied entirely on the strength of his drives, while Thornton scored many points by dropping the ball gently over the net, while Adoue stuck Thornton showed infallible judgment about out balls and was thus able to save his strength throughout the three sets.

When the singles were over Thornton again appeared in the court, this time with Grant to meet Mansfield and Smith in the semi-finals.

The first set began beautifully for Thornton and Grant, who held their opponents at 4-2. Thornton's net playing would be the feature of the match and Mansfield were too good on their volley and won the set, 7-5. The next two sets Smith and Mansfield also took at 6-4. Smith was serving in fine form. Thornton showed that he was not fresh as his back hand was weak and he missed a great many volleys. On the other hand the way in which he covered the corners of the court was classy. After the second set the match was called on account of darkness and will be finished today.

HANK AND KNOBS WANTED TO SWIM---BUT ---BY FARREN

WHAT'S THE IDEA, KNOBS ?
WHY, NOW THAT WE HAVEN'T ANY PRACTICE TODAY LETS FIND A POND OR A RIVER AND HAVE A SWIM—
AIN'T IT GREAT DOWN HERE, KNOBS WHERE YE CAN SWIM ALL THE YEAR ROUND
I SEE THE SPOT, HANK!
JUST LIKE SCHOOL DAYS, HEY HANK?
ME FOR THE SUNNY SOUTH AFTER—GOOD NIGHT!

THE SPORTLIGHT
BY GRANTLAND RICE

AT LAST!

(J. H. Taylor, the English veteran won the British championship. J. J. McDermott, American champion, finished fifth.)

Come, "sound the tocsin from the tower
And fire the culverin"—
Let pop-eyed joy be unconfined
Amid the rabid din.
Out with the old Hip, hip, hooray!
Where banners grace the mast,
For dear old England's gone and won
A championship at last

Her jumpers could not jump with us,
Her sprinters could not sprint,
Her polo wonders felt before
Our nerves and hearts of flint;
Her fighters fought like soft-shell crabs,
Her reigning days look passed;
But slip it to her while you can—
She's copped a cup at last.

Far be it now from us to spoof
Or ride the British goat;
Before we josh we hope the words
Will choke our bally throat;
So let the dance go moving on
With laurel scattered fast,
For dear old England's gone and won
A championship at last.

THE BLOKE WITH THE "PUNCH."

Not forgetting to ease it along to Prof. Owen Season, of "Punch." You may recall his late words: "German and Yank, you can keep your swank at the quivering lathe and the diver's tank; but twho can best o'er the bunker caper or joust in the sand-filled trough?" To which prophesy he added:

And here (so carry our rives, o Castor, Pullux our chip shots eke)—
I will wager a crown to a mere piaster
That Yankee and Gaul and Greek,
And the far away Japs and the sledge-borne Laps
Will tield to our plas-four handicaps.
And the gods will fasten the olcaster
To the blade of a British cleek.

Business of slipping Mr. Seaman a piastre. He has won it fairly. Now, Mr. Seaman, how about a little 8 to 5 from you against McLoughlin and Williams? Or even a little 5 to 8? Kindly prepay cable in making reply.

SO TO SPEAK—

Prof. J. Garland Stahl says the Athletics are cracking, and Prof. McGraw says the Phillies soon will. In the meanwhile——

The matter with Pittsburg? Comparatively simple. The other clubs merely insist upon making more runs.

If Ty Cobb gets 200 hits this season his pay will only average $60 a hit. Think of the terrific effort of beating out an infield tap or dropping one over short for only sixty bones? No wonder he held out this spring.

Still, if the average pay was $60 a hit we know of one or two who wouldn't be worth over a million at the season's end. We can show by the records where this price would be starvation wages if applied all around.

At that $60 a hit is no clean up with Johnson in the box. There's one spot where it's earned to the ultimate kop.ck.

THE ELASTIC ANGLE.

President Wilson's bill for an elastic currency may or may not be popular. But a sweeping bill for an elastic Batting Eye would furnish him a re-election without opposition.

Elastic currency sounds well enough, but ho wthe duce can you stretch what you haven't got?

The fact that J. J. McDermott finished fifth in a field of 268 is a fair enough boost for American golf. With four entries against 264 or thereabouts the odds formed a stymie that America couldn't jump. Messrs. Ray and Vardon are likely to bump into the same complex problem upon their trip to our shores this coming August. It's no bad bet that neither will finish 1-2.

One doesn't hear so much of Ping Bodie these days. Can it be that frenzied rivals have had all the fences moved back?

BIRMINGHAM RIDES UMPS DECLARES THIS OFFICIAL

DETROIT, Mich., June 28.—Though denying that anything was in his report on last Sunday's double-header in Cleveland which could have caused President Johnson of the American league to declare that Birmingham is not fit to be a manager, Umpire Jack Egan goes to no pains to avoid saying that the Nap leader has been causing trouble.

We know that Birmingham has been riding the umpires this season," said Egan, "and he's made it hot for O'Loughlin, Dinneen, Ferguson and some of the others, but he can't put anything over on me. But so far as I can remember nothing in my report put any blame on Birmingham for the pop-bottle throwing."

"Birmingham did try to stop it as soon as possible, didn't he?" was asked the umpire.

"I don't know what he tried to do or what he did," answered Egan, "but if anyone wants to see my report I feel sure President Johnson will furnish a copy."

Good Hurling Won

PARROTT, Ga., June 28.—Parrott defeated Dawson on the local diamond in the prettiest game of the season. The pitching of Johnnie Waller for Parrott was absolutely invincible, sixteen of the Dawson batters fanning. Dozier pitched a much better game for Dawson than the score would indicate, his support faltering in critical periods.

The score:	R. H.
Parrott.....100 012 11x—	7 16
Dawson.....000 000 000—	0 4

Benedict Proved Easy For Joe Jeannette

JOPLIN, Mo, June 28—Al Benedict, of Brooklyn, was saved from a knockout at the hands of Joe Jeannette here last night when the referee stopped the fight in the third round. It was to have gone fifteen rounds. A right hook to the jaw sent Benedict down for the count of nine in the third round and another blow floored him a few seconds after he arose. He came up so groggy that the referee waved Jeannette from him. Benedict bled profusely from the first round as the result of a blow to the mouth.

LUCKY PUNCH IS ONLY CHANCE RIVERS HAS TO DOWN RITCHIE

JOE RIVERS' FIGHTING POSE.

Mexican Cannot Wear Down the Champion, Who Always Keeps in Good Shape and Knows Fight Game Backward

BY RINGSIDER.

(Special Correspondence.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 28.—Now that the Willie Ritchie-Joe Rivers match is on again, the boxing fans are beginning to figure on which boy to string with on July 4 when the two great Californians meet for the lightweight championship of the world. The champion, of course, will be the favorite in the betting, inasmuch as he is not only the title houder, but will be boxing in his home town. In addition to this he has the advantage in height and reach and will have a pull of one pound in weight. Under ordinary circumstances this might be considered too much of a handicap for a boy of Rivers' size to overcome, but the little Spaniard about evens the score on his speed and punching ability.

He is not the pretty boxer that the champion is, but he is clever in his way and is fully as fast. Next to his speed Rivers' best asset is his punch. His arms are powerful and his massive shoulders, almost as big as a middleweight's, have great driving power. The one thing that makes the followers of the game a bit shy of Rivers is the belief that he is a trifle faint-hearted. No gamer boxer than Ritchie ever lived and his manner of standing up under the hottest of fire to beat his opponent to it has a tendency to discourage his opponents.

In the matter of taking punishment Ritchie has it on Rivers. Willie took many hard wallops from Wolgast in both of their engagements, but his jaw and stomach are so well protected that he recovers quickly and has rarely been dazed. In his four-round contest with Wolgast the latter pulled one from his hip and caught Ritchie fairly on the chin. It toppled Willie, but he did not even take the count, coming up at four and fighting as fast as ever until he was again sent down.

This time he took nine and was as fresh as ever when the bell rang. In the next round he tore into Wolgast like a tiger and gave the ex-champion the worst beating he was ever called upon to take. Wolgast was a sight at the finish, his lips being puffed to twice their size and both eyes were swollen. Blood was pouring from his nose and mouth and he was a very tired boy when he took his corner. Many spectators were of the belief that had the fight gone another round Ritchie would have scored a knockout.

In his second engagement with Wolgast, Ritchie took a lot of punishment, but it was not of a lasting variety and even after sixteen rounds he had enough left to floor and almost knock out Wolgast. In this he showed championship qualities, because it takes not only a fine physique, but a great heart to stand the gaff of then fight back as hard as ever and be strong enough to score a near knockout. What Rivers would do under similar circumstances is problematical. Many believe that while he might not stop, he would stall around with the sole object in view of going the limit.

FEW NOTES ON EMPIRE

BY C. FORT ANDREWS.

With such a great finish for the first half of th season it is more than likely that the Empire State league will present an equally exciting finish in the second half and an even greater finish when the winners of the two halves get together for the season pennant. It is doped out now that Georgia has never seen more exciting baseball than the Empire will furnish in that rag fight the last of August.

Fans generally, especially in Waycross and Brunswick, are up in arms because of the charges this week that their teams "layed down" to Cordele and Valdosta. Brunswick lost three games to Valdosta, a team badly crowded for first place by Cordele, and Waycross lost three to Cordele while the Brunswick team was losing in Valdosta. Both Waycross and Brunswick want games as bad as the league leaders and the charge of laying down is said to be absolutely groundless.

The second season of Empire State league baseball starts Monday, June 30, with all teams in better condition both financially and from the viewpoint of players. Waycross opens at home with Americus, Valdosta at Cordele and Brunswick at Thomasville. It is hard to pick winners so far in advance, but from this stage of the game it looks very much like Manager Dudley has a pennant winner in his Thomasville bunch. However, Cordele, Americus, Brunswick, Waycross and Valdosta all want a pennant.

Bitting, who was one of the Class C players released by the Waycross team, is playing with Charleston, in the South Atlantic. Bitting is a consistent batter and a sensational fielder, and should hold his own with the best.

League averages for the games played up to and including June 14 show that when it comes to getting home runs Waycross is well ahead of all teams in the league. Waycross has in the home run line a total of twenty-four. Americus players have gotten six, Brunswick eight, Valdosta five, Thomasville seven and Cordele eight. Brouthers, the second baseman with Waycross, leads the home run sluggers of the league with six to his credit. Incidentally he leads the league. Walker, a pitcher-outfielder with Brunswick, is second with five.

Otto Jordan, if he continues his base stealing, will top the league when the season ends. He has nineteen bases to his credit now, which is as good as any other player can show. Crowe, of Thomasville, is tied with Otto for first place in this respect. Brouthers, of Waycross, with sixteen, is second, and Franks, of Valdosta, with fifteen, third.

No team in the league is fielding better than Otto Jordan's bunch at Valdosta. The official figures up to June 14 show that his team has made but thirty-seven errors. Waycross is next best, with seventy-one; Thomasville third, with eighty-one; Americus fourth, with eighty-two, Brunswick fifth, with ninety and Cordele sixth, with 106. The second half of the season will show no such record, as the teams are all going good now and play numerous errorless games.

ATLANTA BOY COPPED GAME

VALDOSTA, Ga., June 28.—In a slow game Valdosta took the second of the series from Cordele by the score of 7 to 6. Valdosta won by hitting Hall hard. Most of Cordele's runs were made on errors while Valdosta batted in her's. Catcher Eubank was fined $5.00 for beefing with the umpire, being the first man fined on the local grounds this season.

SCORE—	R. H. E.
Valdosta	300 022 00*—7 13 4
Cordele	400 000 020—6 7 1

Batteries: Centry and Pierce; Hall and Eubanks. Umpire, Morton.

Jack Johnson Slips Over Good Getaway

MONTREAL, June 28.—Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, accompanied by his white wife, Lucille Cameron Johnson, is booked to sail for Havre on the Allan line steamer Corinthian Sunday morning. Canadian immigration officials located Johnson last night with a view to taking summary deportation action should he fail to comply with the restrictions of the immigration laws.

The negro pugilist produced a through ticket to Havre, purchased in Chicago, which ties the hands of the Canadian immigration authorities. They are powerless to act further than to see that he leaves the country on the ship on which he is booked to sail.

NAP FANDOM PROTESTS SUSPENSION OF JACKSON

Claimed That Umpire Violated Rules Just as Jackson, and Yet Nothing Was Done to Him

There must be discipline and order at all times if baseball is to continue in popular favor and enjoy the prosperity that has followed the game for the past decade. President Ban Johnson puts it up to his umpires to preserve this order and discipline in American league games. This is as it should be, for, without order baseball games would scarcely be worth while.

Mr. Johnson is to be commended for backing up his umpires, but has it ever occurred to the "biggest man in baseball" that his arbitrators may be "off" some times? Surely umpires are no more infallible than ball players, and just why Ban's "right hand men" should not be dealt with as harshly as the "right bowers" of the Cleveland, Detroit, Washington or other clubs, when they are in error, is a mystery.

Let's take it for granted that Joe Jackson did say something to Umpire Egan Sunday that would probably have been better left unsaid. Jackson gets suspended indefinitely. Now to further the argument let's take Jackson's word for it that Egan used similar language in addressing him. What does Egan get? Suspension? Never in a thousand years. Instead, Ban pats him on the back and says "Well done, my good and faithful servant."

So far, so good, but what about the thousands of patrons who overhear these little verbal mixups? Aren't they entitled to some consideration, if not from the umpires, then from the best-paid man in baseball, Bryon Brancroft Johnson? We think so.

We are not trying to overlook Joe Jackson's short-comings Sunday. He probably deserved a suspension. But Umpire Egan should also be suspended if he employed vile language in talking to Jackson, and he should be severely reprimanded for removing a star ball player before over 20,000 fans, a large number of whom had paid principally to see Jackson play.—Cleveland News.

Record Entry For Regatta

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 28.—Fifty-seven entries, including twenty-one from other cities, have been received for the annual people's regatta which will be rowed on the Schuylkill river July 4. The entry list closed last night when a meeting of the regatta committee was held and the list made public. The Detroit Boat club will have a crew in the senior eight-oar event, in which they will meet the crews of the Undine club, of this city, and the Ariel club, of Baltimore.

W. A. Noer, of the Detroit club, also will enter the junior single sculls. Edward Schopps, of the Grand Rapids Boat and Canoe club, is another entry in the latter event. Other contestants will be Walter H. Thrall, Potomac Boat club, Washington, and L. Scharfe, Arundel Rowing club, of Baltimore.

Joseph Kortlander, of the Grand Rapids Boat and Canoe club, is entered in the intermediate single sculls, and, with Schopps, will also row in the intermediate and senior double sculls. George E. Parker, of the Arundel Boat club, Baltimore, is entered in the senior single sculls, in which the other entries are John B. Kelly and George W. Allison, of this city.

Six entries have been received for the junior double sculls, including crews from the Potomac Boat club and the Arundel Boat club. Both of the latter crews are also entered in the intermediate event.

The Ariel Rowing club, of Baltimore, has entered two crews in the intermediate four-crew gig event, in which the Arundel Boat club is also entered. The Anniostan Boat club, of Washington, and the Potomac Boat club are among the entries in the junior eight-oared shells. While the Potomac and Ariel clubs are also entered in the intermediate eight-oar event.

The distance in all the events will be a mile and a quarter.

St. Louis Club Wins

ONWENTSIA CLUB, LAKE Forest, ILL., June 28.—The St. Louis Country club defeated the Kansas City club, 8 1-2 to 7 1-2 for the consolation cup of the Mid-Western Polo handicap, St. Louis, handicap of one giving it the winning goal. Kansas City as in its game with Cincinnati Tuesday came up from behind in the last period but was unable to overcome the lead St. Louis established in the early periods.

Fort Gaines Wins

FORT GAINES, Ga., June 28.—Fort Gaines defeated Arlington in a fast game of baseball played upon the local diamond. The final score was 2 to 4. The main feature of the game was the playing of Corbett and Hobbs, of the local team, while the Arlington bunch put up a nice fight, they were outclassed both with the stick and pitcher.

RENEWED BULL SUPPORT CAUSED RISE IN COTTON

Market in New York Closed 2 to 18 Points Higher Than Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 28.—Cotton opened steady at an advance of 8 to 9 points on old crop months, while new crop positions were generally a point lower. Encouraging but a considerable part of the cotton tendered yesterday had been taken by Liverpool and holding of same at last July by foreign or local spot houses accounted for the strength of the near positions, while the late months reflected a favorable view of the rains reported in the southwest and scattered drizzling for over the week-end. Trading was not particularly active and fluctuations were confined within narrow limits after the call with near months losing a point or two of the initial advance while later deliveries held well up to opening figures.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, June 28.—Cotton futures opened steady, 2 points up to 4 points off, compared with the close yesterday. Cables were lower than due on futures, and also reported very small spot sales in the English market. The weather map was called favorable, as some little rain was scattered over the cotton region and more was promised for Sunday. These features prompted considerable local selling, but trade interests, foreign and July did not maintain its small advance. At the end of the first half hour of business prices were 2 to 5 points under yesterday's last quotations.

Reports from Arkansas that the drouth there was becoming serious, and that the usual weather reports, showing only light rains outside of Texas, checked the downward movement around the middle of the morning and brought in light buying, which was sufficient to absorb offerings very easily. Reports of the spread of the boll weevil, especially in the delta of Mississippi, caused much bullish comment, and at the highest of the morning the trading months were 1 to 4 points over yesterday's figures. The close was steady, unchanged to 2 points net.

THE WEATHER.

Forecast till 7 p. m. Sunday.

Atlanta and vicinity: Thunder showers tonight and Sunday.

Georgia and Alabama: Local thunder showers tonight and Sunday.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The disturbance central Friday over Utah has advanced slowly northeastward to Colorado and Wyoming, with the atmospheric pressure below 29.65 inches. The storm over the west gulf remains near extreme southern Texas, accompanied by high winds on the Texas coast. Corpus Christi reporting 52 miles an hour. The third storm or barometric depression is moving eastward off the New England coast.

Considerable cloudiness is reported in the cotton belt, with showers in Texas and along the south Atlantic coast, and conditions are now somewhat more favorable for local thunder showers at Atlanta tonight or Sunday. Likewise showers also occurred at scattered stations along the northern border of the country from the lakes to the Pacific coast. The largest rains during the past twenty-four hours were Corpus Christi, 1.68 inches, and Tampa, 1.86.

Fair weather prevails in the Ohio and Central Mississippi valleys and in most of the Rocky mountain and lower plateau region.

Temperatures on Friday were high at numerous stations. Atlanta reported 96 degrees, Montgomery and North Platte 98 degrees, Memphis, Anniston and Chicago 96 degrees, etc.

Local thunder showers are indicated for Atlanta tonight or Sunday.

COTTON GOSSIP

The Times-Democrat says: Theory mars the correct perspective and a condition handicaps the market. The talent, therefore, is idle enough to worry about environment. Bulls admit the crop outlook is large area is doing splendidly, but taunt their constitutional enemies with the query, "Suppose you get the best unfavorable weather on the boll weevil to put it on the bulls?" Bears point that in some sections the crop is below par, but assert with show of confidence that a continuation of good weather will mean timely rains, will enormously improve the condition of that portion of the crop which they say is the least good or really, the talent has come to expect a government acreage figure most favorable showing an increase over last year of about 3 per cent and a government condition percentage of between 82 and 83. Meanwhile America knows about what to expect in the way of rains, and is acting accordingly; England's trade is in excellent condition, and her rings are fairly loaded with cotton that sign mills are running low on stocks of raw material; the goods market is good or reality, cotton types seems to be making satisfactory progress for the week, and there is a good tone to the trade.

Liverpool conference: No resolutions passed, but the conference approved the American recommendation c. i. f. and 2 per cent gross terms and arbitration clause which were made. King, Neville and Francis, representing American interests at the present, Liverpool from middle up, about half grade lower below middle. It is expected that Egyptian and others will adopt the new type.

Splendid map: partly cloudy to fair; five rains in Texas; very light rains in south Texas; thundershowers in the central states; scattered showers in the Atlantic states. Texas, growing weather, with very favorable indications for rains becoming general tonight or Sunday.

Dallas wires: Texas generally cloudy; threatening; rain in the southern part. Conditions favorable.

Forecast—Louisiana: Unsettled scattered showers tonight and Sunday; light to moderate winds on the coast.

Arkansas-Oklahoma: Unsettled showers tonight or Sunday.

East Texas: Unsettled showers tonight or Sunday, light to moderate easterly to southerly winds on the coast.

West Texas: Showers and Sunday unsettled showers in east portion tonight or Sunday.

Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Alabama: Local showers tonight or Sunday.

Kentucky: General fair tonight and Sunday.

Tennessee: Generally fair and continued warm tonight and Sunday.

Oklahoma: Local thunder showers tonight or Sunday.

Threatening very light but crowd inclined to sell on some rains which appear on the map in Texas and increasing cloudiness in southern belt. Hubbard was a marginal buyer of July.

There is not much looked for in the market until August and September are out of the way. However, if the scattered long interest in July is estimated, rains might be the forced much higher. Some believe that those in control of July may start something when they see fit, and that the time is not far off. Sentiment is mixed.

Gwathmey, Patterson and Hubbard buying July very little for sale.

Allen & Company, Texas coast: Disturbance has moved from gulf southwest and is now centered between Corpus Christi and Del Rio, wind and tide are subsiding over the gulf.

Liverpool cables: "Market poor, notwithstanding month end squaring. There is little liquidation in near position.

Gilford, Hubbard, Gwathmay, Rubsell and Raitt bought July on commission house orders and found little for sale. Some stop orders were found over 12.60 and over 12.65 and a short month today leads to the belief that there is still a large short interest. Rains will be good it to a higher premium than it has been so far. Weather map is favorable, largely a matter of sympathy with July and there was no special buying for the trading in them.

STOCK GOSSIP

Dow-Jones summary: New Haven declares agency for Boston & Maine stock; Interstate Commerce Information desired regarding the management, the operation of trunk lines and the general policy of the road; Interstate Commerce Commission to confer with officials of the National Railways of Mexico, denied last night that any conference had been arranged or been made. Twelve industrials declined 25; twenty active rails declined 56.

The bank statement will show another increase in the reserves, but if the requirements of currency can be relied upon. Believe the market a purchase on all weak spots, as the July disappointment will be followed by many more. There is always a considerable portion of this money returned to banks, which will probably be as a strong market around July 1. Think the Union Pacific plan will go through, with a few changes and advance the price of this issue.—Potter.

Washington—A complete agreement on Union Pacific dissolution plan has been approved by President Wilson, and it is likely to be through harmony with the agreement.

Justice Lamar left today for St. Paul tonight to present plan to federal court.

Details will probably be made public Monday.

SUGAR GOSSIP

Chicago Inter-Ocean says: Those who are bullish on what they say that crop reports in the northwest are such that the trade cannot ignore them upon that account, and that the interfering movements of new winter wheat, its influence will be offset and that with any further bulge in cash prices it will be forced to respond. With corn in Oklahoma, in the raised and temperatures favorable, the crop is generally continued dry hot weather will do irreparably injury to late corn. Conservative interests still advise against following the advance, but favor buying on any good setback. Others favor buying on any good setback. Others favor buying on any good setback yesterday said there was a new class of investment buying which took the offerings from bulls, there will be during profits and they are looking for higher prices. Local professionals, the long crowd, sold deliveries next month and a liberal carryover of old oats.

Logan & Bryan, Co. say: Wheat: Local shorts covered freely on yesterday's late rains and we see nothing in the news this morning to cause any particular strength.

Corn: With prospects of continued warm weather over Sunday, decline in values is unlikely.

Provisions: Still considerable disposition on the part of longs to realize profits.

Snow wires from Fargo: Rains past twenty-four hours seem generally heavy and cover wheat territory of the state. Water today showing from Jamestown to Fargo. Moisture situation satisfactory for most all things considered crop promise for the state about an average.

Kansas City says: No rain anywhere. Harvesting of wheat stopped everywhere on account of heat. No rain is forecasted. Temperature 84 at 8 a. m.

If this is not ideal corn weather, I don't know anything about corn. But crowd is bullish and probably break good until get heavy rains.—Chapman.

WEEKLY COTTON REVIEW

NEW YORK, June 28.—The cotton market has been nervous and unsettled during the past week, with prices easing off under more or less general selling pressure. Liverpool was rather sharply today owing to the circulation of July notices estimated about 15,000 bales, but new crop deliveries have shown a certain steadiness and undertone owing to favorable covering and reports of trade buying on comparatively moderate dips. The steady tone of speculation and the continued activity of mill consumption appear to have strengthened convictions that a full crop of cotton will be produced next year and, while there has been a tendency in the trade to look for favorable crop reporting weather conditions, it is considered too early in the season for any feeling of certainty as to the actual yield. The government's crop report, to be issued at noon on July 8, will give both the acreage and condition as of June. Private reports received so far have been somewhat conflicting, but most of the advices received have indicated some improvement in the outlook, and the local trade is looking for an official condition figure of around 81 or 82 per cent, against 79.1 per cent last month and 80.4 per cent last year. This would suggest some improvement for the month of June, but, with the most critical months still ahead, there appears to have been few traders disposed to base aggressive long or short operations on the new crop. The houses with Liverpool and continental connections have been the principal buyers in the local market last month, have been fairly steadily here again during the week, but it is rumored that part of the daily purchases were taken up by international houses, and the small local market has been inclined to favor restricting sales for short account.

R. G. DUN & CO. REVIEW

The R. G. Dun & Co. review says: "There has been some slackening in the retail trade the local summer dullness before reported at many points, but wholesale distribution continues in large volume. As the season advances, buyers confine their operations mainly to actual needs, the fall merchandising completion of the new tariff naturally resulting in improvement in this respect.

The market, centering upon their most critical period, have passed another week with no serious injury reported to the growing crops, condition, although reports indicate some deterioration in spots, while on the improved sentiment was manifest in the securities and speculative markets. A satisfactory conclusion of the important financial settlements at London and Berlin.

Shipments of iron and steel have not ceased to urge deliveries, but premiums have almost entirely disappeared and price concessions are made in some finished material departments.

"Failures this week numbered 220 in the United States, again 246 last year and twenty-seven in Canada, compared with twenty-six a year ago."

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET WAS ACTIVE AND STRONG

Agreement on Union Pacific Dissolution Plan Caused Rise in Stocks

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 28.—Prices barely moved at the opening of the market today. There was little beyond the usual fluctuations of stocks as were traded in were confined to trivial fractions. The one exception was Northern Railways of Mexico, second preferred, which rose a point on the official denial of reports of a receivership.

The indecision of the opening was succeeded by a slow advance which raised the list slightly over yesterday's close.

News that the Harriman dissolution plan probably would be presented in court on Monday stimulated stocks strongly in the last hour. Union Pacific rose 4¾ points on active buying. Steel rose 1¼ and Reading, Lehigh Valley and Copper 1 each, and gains of 1 to 2 points were made among the leading stocks. In the final trading the market proved somewhat on selling sales.

FINANCIAL BUREAU ON STOCKS

NEW YORK, June 28.—Financial Bureau says:

We would retain the trading with the preference on the bull side of the market. Information channels are awaiting new developments.

WEEKLY STOCK REVIEW.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 28.—After a substantial rise in stocks the first two days of the week, based principally on short covering, the market settled down into a routine affair, with little speculative effort of price movements. The most unfavorable feature was the developments of influence on the securities market, which were interest, mildly stimulated by the sharp break of a few days ago and the subsequent recovery, died out again and such movements of prices as occurred were traceable to professional operators. Sentiment became more bearish as the week advanced, and the market drifted slowly downward but the movement was small.

WORLD'S VISIBLE SUPPLY STATEMENT.

NEW ORLEANS, June 28.—Secretary Hester's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton made up from special cable and telegraphic advices compares the figures of this week with last week and last year, as follows: Bales. It shows a decrease for the week just closed of 140,749 bales, against a decrease of 169,067 last year and a decrease of 193,023 year before last.

The total visible supply of cotton is 3,665,086 last week, 3,425,717 last year and 2,398,834 year before last. Of this the total of American cotton is 2,906,086, against 2,198,086 last week, 2,359,717 last year and 1,835,834 year before last, and all other kinds, including Egypt, Brazil, India, etc., 1,063,000 year before last.

The total world's visible supply of cotton as above shows a decrease compared with last week of 140,749 bales, an increase over the last year of 52,204, an increase compared with year before last of 1,266,252.

Of the world's visible supply of cotton as above there is now afloat and held in Great Britain and continental Europe, 1,078,000 against 2,196,000 last year and 1,469,000 year before last; in Egypt, 250,000 last week, 250,000 last year and 99,000 year before last; in India 892,000, against 1,000,000 last year and 1,031,000 year before last; and in the United States 474,000, against 560,000 last year and 309,000 year before last.

SPINNERS' TAKINGS.

NEW ORLEANS, June 28.—Secretary Hester gives the following estimate of cotton by spinners throughout the world as follows, in bales, for the week:

This week 378,000; this year, against 157,000 last year, 135,000 year before last.

Total since September first, this year 12,096,000, against 13,977,000 last year, and 11,035,000 year before last.

Of this northern spinners and Canada took 2,250,000 bales this year, against 2,662,000 last year and 2,045,000 the year before; southern spinners took 1,900,000, against 2,422,000 last year, and 2,176,000 the year before last, and foreign spinners, 7,698,000, against 8,873,000 last year, and 6,814,000 year before last.

Adjusted by deduction of 12,000 New York stock.

JOURNAL OF COMMERCE REPORT.

NEW YORK, June 28.—Special reports to the Journal of Commerce declare that cotton acreage planted in North and South Carolina during the past month, while North Carolina showed a gain over last year of a month ago. Owing to a cold snap, season about two weeks late. Plant small, but strong. Stands poor. Cultivation is generally good.

North Carolina—There is no material change in condition during the month ago when the report of this journal made it 78 per cent. The season is about two weeks late, due largely to cold weather. The plant is generally small and stands poor, while a number of localities have been replanted. The season is good, except in a few sections, which are grassy and spotted in Georgia. On account of dry weather early in the season cotton was slow in germinating and stands are poor. Rains of one or three weeks late. The plant is small but strong and healthy. Fruiting is not generally ample, but stands are generally poor and irregular. Cultivation is not complained of, and the weather generally is favorable. Percentage condition shows improvement over a month ago, when it was 75.3.

South Carolina—Owing to the recent cold spell the crop is about two weeks late, but is not since warm weather set in the plant is growing rapidly and showing improvement. The plant is small and stands generally poor, but fields are clean and cultivation good. Some localities are grassy. With the exception of a few like the crop is free of shedding. Prospects point to an increase over last month when it was 69.9.

KANSAS CITY BUTTER, EGGS AND POULTRY

(By Associated Press.)

KANSAS CITY, June 28.—Butter, eggs and poultry, unchanged.

ESTIMATED COTTON RECEIPTS

New Orleans, 1,000; Galveston, 2,800 to 2,300 bales, against 372 bales last year.

Galveston says favorable conditions to 1,300 bales, against 1,266 last year.

HAYWARD & CLARK'S COTTON LETTER.

NEW ORLEANS, June 28.—Trade still in poor and disappointing with futures about 10 points lower than due. Spots one point higher. The report of the Financial Chronicle for the week is favorable and the Journal of Commerce says on the Atlantic shows improvement with the exception of North Carolina. Weather reports generally favorable; nice rains fell in parts of the central states, quite generally over Texas, south Texas being most favored. Some, and west Texas have, so far, had the best rainfall in this season and been a factor in restricting sales for short account.

Partly cloudy to fair with a few scattered showers prevailing this evening. Nice warm growing weather throughout the belt for the next few days.

Indications are for rains to become more general in the central and western belt over Sunday. The market opened about four points lower on new crops and was inclined to weaken when reports happened in the July position in New York, which advanced twenty-five points and pulled up the new crops.

The market seems entirely controlled through the July operations. According to detailed government reports, the acreage is in good general rainfall over night. It is thought that the interest in July may be based on the idea that the general rainfall in some Texas, while increasing yield prospects will delay early maturity and therefore help bull operations in July contracts. As New York held the twenty points advance on the market does not hold around 11.58 for October. Liverpool was four points higher at opening. The influence of the next week will be under the influence of the bureau reports to be published Thursday. The Journal reports are in favor of about 82 per cent increase and the condition report around 81.

1912 COTTON CROP WAS 2ND LARGEST PRODUCED

Value of Crop $920,630,000, or $60,790,000 More Than the Record Crop of 1911

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The 1912 cotton crop of the United States was the second largest ever produced, and amounted to 14,312,015 bales, of 500 pounds gross each, the census bureau announced today. The final statistics show a slight increase over the preliminary production statistics announced March 20. The 1912 crop amounted to 500 pounds, 14,312,015 bales, 962,324 bales more than seed production, 6,104,000 tons, of which 4,579,508 tons were taken by the cotton mills, leaving 1,524,492 tons for planting, export, feeding and other purposes. The estimated value of the crop is $920,630,000, or $60,790,000 more than the record crop of 1911, notwithstanding that the quantity of cotton produced is the less by 1,000,000. The estimated value of the cotton crops for the five years, 1908-1912, is $4,236,000,000. The average price being about 11.7 cents a pound, or nearly $60 per bale.

The 1912 crop graded "middling, to strict middling," and the average price of upland cotton was 12.75 cents per pound. Boll weevil seriously affected the crop growers in a large section having to contend with the pink boll worm, cotton caterpillars and grass worm. The boll weevil area showed considerable extension but work by the state and national agricultural departments is greatly reducing the destructiveness of the pests.

Prime hogs, 160 to 200, $8.00@8.80.

Good heavy hogs, 140 to 160, $8.00@8.00.

Good butcher pigs, 100 to 140, $8.25@8.50.

Light pigs, 80 to 100, $7.75@8.00.

Above quotations apply to corn-fed hogs, mast and peanut fattened 1c to 1½c.

Rough and thin hogs, 1c off.

Market quiet and unchanged. A few loads of Tennessee cattle were received this week, which were bought by local dealers and are around the top figures of the week. These loads were assorted, running mainly to cows and heifers, the latter which were of good quality, reasonably fat and weighty, selling on the average for this season of the year. Cows in fair demand, but also of good weight and quality and in fair flesh.

Hogs, receipts moderate, with only a few scattering loads of mixed half fat grass cattle. These were taken at prices to suit the reason of the short supply, sold high, the packers getting the worst of the bargain.

Only a few sheep and lambs were on the market this week, which met a slow market and sold off in sympathy with other market centers.

Hog receipts normal; market steady.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSONS

For June 29.—Review.

By Dr. Marion McK. Hull.

Golden Text: "He is victory that overcometh the world, ever our faith." John 5:4.

With the exception of the last lesson, which was on temperance, the lessons of the past quarter have dealt with the characters of Jacob and Joseph, primarily. While Joseph has been more prominently before us in the last lessons, yet even then it has been with Jacob as a background, until finall Jacob has been brought to the fore again as we see him in the latter years of his life, and finally at its close.

In thinking over the story of this man—and this is also true of the life of Joseph—the one thing that stands out most prominently is the testing and final triumph of faith. This was the victory that overcame in his case, and made Israel out of Jacob, a prince with God out of a heel-catcher, a saint out of a despicable sinner.

The same is true of Joseph. While he is one of the few characters of the Bible about whom practically nothing is said to his discredit, but on the contrary much to his credit, yet if we study the record closely we shall find, I am sure, that there has been a great development in the life of this man. The testing of his faith has made him an entirely different man from what he was when we were first introduced to him. It is only because of this that he is enabled to do the most noble thing by his brothers after more than twenty years of injury to them. This was the victory that overcame in Joseph, his faith.

This may also be said of those brothers: They were a miserable lot—those ten—at the start. At the close of the story, some of them at least have splendid qualities that would do credit to the noblest.

THE TESTING OF FAITH.

Let us note this steps in the testing of the faith of Jacob, of Joseph, and of Jacob's eleven sons.

That was very unpromising material with which to work that God found in the person of Jacob. He was a liar, a trickster, a man thoroughly controlled by self, and by self only. Self-pleasing self-advancing. But he differed from his twin brother, Esau, in one very important particular. Esau was self-centered, too; in that he had some small conception of spiritual values, while Esau lived only for the present. With that unpromising material, however, God set out to work, and by the gradual and long process of testing in the life of Jacob, saw him trickling his brother, deceiving his father, outwitting his uncle. Why? Because he was trying by his own self to bring about his own advancement even when he knew this to be God's ultimate purpose for him. So him at Peniel wrestling with the man, who had engaged conflict with him, never letting go the fight until he realized that it was God with whom he was in conflict, and thus throwing himself on His mercy.

The tests at Bethel and in the twenty years in Laban's house had not been sufficient to make him lose his self-sufficiency. It was the supreme test of a vision of God that made him realize his weakness and dependence upon God. Then he became victorious. When he had secured God, he got himself, he changed from Jacob, the self-sufficient Israel, one whom God rules.

The subsequent experiences of his life—his loss of Rachael, his anxiety about Joseph, his trying days during the famine, his grief over Simeon, his separation from Benjamin—all these were the crucible in which his faith was purified of its dross, and out of which he came triumphant in the end.

Men would have given up before many years, but God patiently dealt with Jacob until the product was finished. My brother, there's this lesson for you. God is just as willing to take you and patiently deal with you until he can make out of you a Nathaniel, whom other men and angels can see his own likeness. Will you let Him? Have you an appreciation of the value of these things sufficient to let Him have a chance with you?

THE TRIUMPH OF FAITH.

Joseph was tested, too. Ah! what a glorious character was Joseph's! Hated of his brethren, foully tricked and sold for a slave, torn away from home without cause, separated rudely from the father and baby brother he loved, accused of crime, elevated to a high place of authority, tempted almost as no other man has been, yet true to his master who has trusted him, loyally, unswervingly, impregnable—surely would have soured any man who had not had faith in God, and by which he knew that God in the end would come all right. Joseph's faith was not tested like Jacob's, but the testing was necessary, and the triumph was glorious. He came out of it all, a man of God, deeply conscious of his presence all the time, and thereby a generous provider, a noble forgiver, and a trustworthy son and father.

God may not have had to use the same methods with you that He did with Joseph; but remember when the dark days come, God is nigh, and trust Him in the darkness that you will be victorious. Your faith will triumph in the end.

Note also the testing and ultimate triumph of the faith of those brothers. They were a bad lot to begin with—murderers and liars. But the uncertainty of the prime minister's next move, the anxiety about food for their families, and most of all the grace of their brother Joseph in so friendly forgiving them won out and their faith triumphed gloriously.

Think of the raw material with which in you and in me. If nothing else will do us, surely God's marvelous goodness should. "This is the victory—even our Elder Brother is having to work our faith."

SUNDAY SCHOOL TOPICS

(Copyright, 1912, by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D. D.)

Review—The Victories of Faith.
Reading Lesson Only. Acts vii:9-16; Heb. vi:20-22.

Golden Text—This is the victory that hath overcome the world, even our faith. I John v:4.

The following questions may be used as an original lesson or as a review of the twelve preceding lessons:

The date and title of each lesson, when found. Golden Text and one question from each lesson follow:

April 6. Jacob and Esau. Gen. xxv:27-34 (v. 34). Golden Text—Jehovah is a God of justice; blessed are all they that wait for him. Isa. xxv:18.

(1.) Verses 27-28—Of the two boys, one fond of hunting and the other inclined to industrial pursuits, and say from your observation which is the more likely to be prosperous in life, and why.

April 13. Jacob at Bethel. Gen. xxviii:10-22. Golden Text—I am with thee and will keep thee whithersoever thou goest. Gen. xxviii:15.

(2.) Verse 15—What in all probability would be Jacob's state of mind when leaving home?

April 20. Jacob's Meeting with Esau. Gen. xxxiii:3-xxxiii:17. Golden Text—Be ye kind one to another, tender hearted, forgiving each other, even as God also in Christ forgave you. Eph. iv:32.

(3.) Verses 6-8—In view of God's forgiveness and kindness, what is proper for him why was Jacob afraid?

April 27. Joseph Sold Into Egypt Gen. xxxvii. Golden Text—Love envieth not. I Cor. xiii:4.

(4.) Verses 5-8—Would you say, and why, that Joseph did wisely or not in telling his brothers his dreams? Are dreams give us pain and other dreams give us pleasure?

May 11. Joseph Made Ruler of Egypt. Gen. xli:1-45. Golden Text—God giveth grace to the humble. I Pet. v:5.

(6.) Verses 15-16—Take great men as statesmen, poets, musicians, philosophers, orators, prophets and others and state how much of their ability and opportunity came from God and how much from their own initiative. (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

May 18. Joseph Meets His Brethren. Gen. xlii. Golden Text—Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. Gal. vi:7.

(7.) Verses 1-6—Was it better or worse for the world, or the cause of God, or the men themselves, that the sons sometimes sold the cruel sin of selling their brother? Why?

May 25. Joseph and Benjamin. Gen. xliii. Golden Text—He that loveth his brother abideth in the light. I John ii:10.

(8.) Verses 11-14—What was the pressure or motive which finally induced Jacob to let Benjamin go to Egypt with the other brothers?

June 1. Joseph Tests His Brethren. Gen. xliv. Golden Text—Confess, therefore, your sins one to another, and pray one for another, that ye may be healed. Jas. v:16.

(9.) Verses 1-11—Is it or not, and why, sometimes necessary for a kind heart to act the part of apparent cruelty to accomplish good ends?

June 8. Joseph Forgives His Brethren. Gen. vlv:1—xlvi:7. Golden Text—Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity! Ps. cxxxiii:1.

(10.) Verses 1-4—Does a sin twenty-two years old, when it is resurrected, give to the sinner the same acute sense of guilt as a sin more recently committed? Give your reasons.

June 15. Jacob Blesses Pharaoh. Gen. xlvi:28—xlvii:12, 28-31. Golden Text—To them that love God all things work together for good. Rom. viii:28.

(11.) Verse 30—How would you describe the feelings of Jacob on meeting Joseph and the great emotion which made him want to die?

June 22. The Blinding Effect of Sin. (Temperance Lesson.) Amos vi:1-8, Golden Text—Seek good, and not evil, that ye may live. Amos v:14.

(12.) Verse 6—How is it that active Christians can drink strong drink and that those who do are generally outside of the churches?

Lesson, Tuesday, July 6, 1913. The Child Moses Saved from Death. Ex. i:8-14 ,22—ii:10.

NO CORN SHIPPED INTO CRENSHAW COUNTY

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 28.—Crenshaw county farmers are living now on corn they raised on their farms last year and have not been compelled to send out of the county for a single shipment. C. H. Billingsley, pures food clerk of the state department of agriculture, found this condition when he went to Luverne this week to determine whether or not grain shippers had complied with the law in sending corn into the county.

"Porcupine" Another Ship of Commodore Perry's Fleet Found

By Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 28.—The Porcupine, another vessel of the gallant fleet which, under Commodore Perry, met and defeated the British fleet in the battle of Lake Erie in the year of 1812, has been discovered and is being raised to form a feature of the centennial celebrations of Perry's victory this summer. She was raised from the lake eight years ago and hauled ashore.

After the battle of Lake Erie the Porcupine was used in the government revenue service on the Great Lakes until 1839, when she was sold at auction to Senator Ferry, of Michigan.

Senator Ferry rebuilt the boat and used her in the lumber trade until 1847. Being then unfit for further use, the Porcupine was turned adrift in the lake and some time later floated to the floor of the Detroit river, Mich., and sank.

Restored to her former shape, the Porcupine will be stationed at Put-in-Bay during the centennial celebration, by the latter ship's Niagara. Commodore Perry's flagship.

GEORGIA, Fulton County—Lovine C. Camp vs. W. Sigg, et al. Petition for divorce. In said court, you are hereby notified that on May 13th, 1913, petitioner filed her petition against you for divorce, returnable to July term, 1913, 1900, 10 o'clock a. m., and you are required to be at said court on the first Monday in July, 1913, to answer plaintiff's complaint.

Witness Hon. J. T. PENDLETON, Judge.
ARNOLD BROYLES, Clerk.

STATE OF GEORGIA, Fulton County:

Notice is hereby given that on June 30, 1913, or as soon thereafter as practicable, the undersigned will apply to the judge of the superior court of Fulton county, Georgia, at the court house in said county, for an order authorizing him, as guardian for Marguerite R. Fulton, to sell for the purpose of reinvestment the following property of his said ward, to wit: An undivided one-third ininterest in the following real estate:

All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the 17th district of Fulton county, Georgia (62) feet and five (5) inches, more or less, on the southeast line of Ashby street, and the Whitehall street, and running back to an alley on the parallel line one hundred and forty-seven (147) feet on the short line and one hundred and seventy-one (171) feet and five (5) inches on the line on the upper line, and fronting the three (3) and land lot 83 in the 14th district of said Fulton county, Georgia, and being the property conveyed to Henry L. Smith by John R. Wallace, Jr., by deed recorded in said county and recorded in book X, page 412 of Fulton county records.

The reason for making said application and sale is that said property described yields no income, the improvements thereon are old and dilapidated, and the county will presently necessitate the expenditure of considerable money to put the property in shape to be occupied or for leasing. Said property is not suitable for sale as residence property and is rapidly depreciating in value, and will presently become more expensive constantly to keep in order and repair.

This notice is given under and in pursuance of Section 2465 of the code of Georgia of 1910.

J. T. PENDLETON,
Guardian for Marguerite R. Fulton.
E. V. CARTER, Attorney.

GEORGIA, Fulton County.—Notice is hereby given to whomsoever it may concern, that in accordance with the provisions of section 4106 of the code of Georgia, the undersigned as executor of the will of Mrs. Rebecca C. Perot, late of Philadelphia, Pa., after having complied with the requirements of said will preserved to himself individually, as the sole managing executor thereof, Sumter Smith, certain stock in the corporations hereinafter named, to-wit: principal office and place of business is located in said state and county, to-wit:

Certificate No. 444 for sixteen (16) shares of the capital stock of the BUFFALO CREEK COAL AND COKE COMPANY, of the par value of $100 each, issued to Rebecca C. Perot, May 7, 1903; also,

Certificate No. 124 for fifty (50) shares of the preferred stock of the BUFFALO CREEK COAL AND COKE COMPANY, of the par value of $100 each, issued to Rebecca C. Perot, also;

Certificate No. 148 for twenty-five (25) shares of the common stock of the BUFFALO CREEK COAL AND COKE COMPANY, of the par value of $100 each, issued to Rebecca C. Perot, May 21, 1913.

T. MORRIS PEROT, JR.,
As Executor of the Will of Mrs. Rebecca C. Perot, deceased.
J. B. PORTER, Attorney.

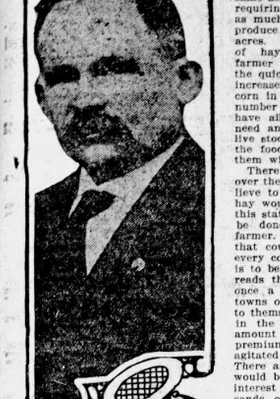
Why Not Have a Hay Carnival in Every Town in Georgia?



THE only way possible to make a profit out of an acre of soil is by getting a heavy yield with the same labor and same acres that heretofore has been requiring from three to five times as much labor and waste acres to produce as could be done on a few acres. To encourage the growing of hay, something that every farmer could do would be one of the quick ways by which we could increase the yield or cotton and corn in this state with the same number of acres, and in addition have all the feed that we would need and some give to surplus live stock which we would have if the food was available to sustain them with.

There must be a change come over the Georgia farmers, and I believe to encourage the growing of hay would be worth a lot more to this state than anything that could be done for the benefit of the farmer. And, this is something that could so easily be done in every community in this state. It is to be hoped that every one who reads this article will organize at once a hay club in the different towns of the state and take it on to themselves to see the merchants in the town and raise a small amount of money to offer in premiums and get this question agitated through the county papers. There are hundreds of people who would be only too glad to take an interest in this matter and thousands of farmers who would be delighted to learn the skill in curing a nice lot of hay, baling it properly and bringing it to market in the most saleable form. Many lessons of untold value could be learned from this small beginning, and in time to come if it is kept up and encouraged it would mean millions of dollars to the wealth of this state, and is something that could so easily be done at practically no expense to anyone.

Several years ago Albany had a hay carnival, and for several years on a certain day they would have their show. It was surprising to see the hundreds of people that would come to town on that day and the long train of wagons marching through town loaded with hay. They encouraged and brought thousands of dollars to that town. Due eventually interest was lost in it and it was abandoned. Nevertheless it had a wonderful effect and put in that community thousands of dollars that would have left there if this work had not been started. Hundreds of people got in the habit of raising their own hay and some to sell and still do so, and Albany was known as a great hay growing section and is today.

People are too quick to lose interest in these matters because it is a little trouble to some few, but it is a duty that the people of any community owe not only to themselves but to the county and the community to do a little extra work connected with these matters, and in time to come it not only brings revenue to them but to the community in a roundabout way they get the direct benefit from such work. It is the life of any community to have a few live, wideawake men in it to encourage and spend a little time doing such things as this for their fellow man. It is work of untold value that cannot be estimated in dollars and cents. The county papers can do as much, if not more than anyone to encourage this work and a few progressive citizens in every community can also lend a helping hand and have an influence that will be telling, and aside from the dollars and cents it is worth to a community it brings together once a year hundreds of people who see each other and enjoy being with each other, and many lessons are learned during the day that in time to come are of untold value to the people generally. But the biggest thing of all and the ones that are most directly benefited are the merchants of the town. They are the ones who reap the harvest, but little do they think of this. When they count their cash at night (after a large lot of people have been in the city during the day) the cash returns of their daily sales should be sufficient evidence to convince them that such work pays and pays handsomely, and they should not hesitate to spend a little time and effort to bring this extra trade to them that they would never get except on such occasions. It would really pay every town not only to give premiums for the growing of hay and encourage this work in this direction, but to go further and give a big free barbecue, and have some good public speakers on hand and have a good time generally, with a day of recreation and pleasure. These things are something that the country needs more of and it should be encouraged, and if such work as this work was taken up this fall and a little time and energy put forth in encouraging it and have it continue every year it would be of untold value to this state.

Yours very truly,

Tommy Burns

QUESTIONS ASKED AND ANSWERED.

QUESTION.

Atlanta, Ga.

I have a fine cow which I am expecting to come in about August 15, and will appreciate information from you how and what to feed her from now on and during that time, and oblige. H. G. S.

ANSWER.

It would be best to give the cow a run of a good grass pasture, with a limited amount of wheat bran and corn meal once a day. If you haven't good pasture, feed her alfalfa hay, all she will eat up clean at least once a day, and from four to six pounds of equal parts of wheat bran and corn meal. In addition, see that she gets plenty salt and plenty water. Feed should be continued until after the calf is at least two weeks old, reducing the corn meal to one-third and the bran two-thirds during the last week of the, gradually increasing the quantity, especially if she is a large cow. She should be fed and in fine fix when she calves, especially if she is a heavy milker.

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Marietta Street Frontage Opposite Bellwood Avenue Sold for $15,000, or Over $150 a Front Foot—Eight Lots in Ansley Park Annex Sold in Bunch for $13,900—Other Subdivision Sales—Large Volume of Transfers Recorded

Agents commented today on the unusual volume of transfers that are going to record every day both in Fulton and DeKalb counties.

The considerations are small, but they embrace every description of property. It is doubtful whether transactions from $15,000 on down have fallen off any from last year.

Activity is unanimous in reporting a sudden spurt of inquiries during the past week or ten days.

MARIETTA STREET SALE.

Marietta street was featured in a sale today which was really a quick resale.

Ware & Harper sold for John Lynch to an investor a parcel on Marietta street, opposite Bellwood avenue, for $15,000, or a little over $150 a front foot.

This property has a frontage of 98 feet and a depth of 150 feet, with only slight improvements. Mr. Lynch bought it through the same agency two months ago for $10,800.

LARGE LOT SALE.

S. E. Davidson, sales manager of the Edwin P. Ansley agency, today announced the sale of eight lots in the Ansley Park annex for $13,900.

The Realty Trust company is the owner of the property and Matthews & Carter were the purchasers.

SIX OTHER LOT SALES.

Vacant lots are in demand and the agencies that specialize in them have no complaint coming.

The Bottenfield agency has sold the following lots in its Clairmont Park subdivision:

Lot 17, block 8, $600; lot 16, block 9, $300; lot 12, block 8, $750.

In the Woodlawn subdivision the Bottenfield agency sold the following: Lots 3 and 29, block A, $1,500.

This agency has taken charge of the Piedmont View subdivision, which is owned by E. L. Adams. There are twenty lots on North Boulevard, Piedmont avenue and Rock Springs avenue, facing the Ansley Park annex. E. P. McElroy is in charge of the subdivision.

Saving and Investing

CONSIDER THE DIME!

BY JOHN M. OSKISON

Figure the amount of money you would have at 6 per cent at 5 per cent to bring you an income of 10 cents a day.

Have you finished? And do you make it $730, Quite a sum, isn't it? Well, with that result as a basis, you can easily figure the principal sum which must be invested to yield your regular income. If you spend as little as $2 a day, of twenty dimes, you are spending the income on $14,600 invested at 5 per cent. Suppose you are spending forty dimes a day. Somewhere there are $29,200 invested at 5 per cent to furnish an equal income to some one.

But suppose you undertook to save some of the dimes you are spending. How long before you would get a sum which would begin to yield dimes of income? Offhand, you'd say it would be a mighty long time. Maybe you'd decide hastily that it would be too long a time for you to wait.

But, let us see—

Suppose you begin to hold out four dimes a day and invest them regularly in some safe security which will yield 5 per cent. Your trusty pencil will tell you that in ten years you will have a total of $1,964, and that sum will then be yielding a yearly return of $98.20—27 cents a day. I am assuming, of course, dividends. Now, if you do not spend the interest returns during the ten years, but that you will let them be added to your investments.

Now, I don't have to follow you any farther with my pencil. Let me just ask you to find out for yourself how long it will be from the time you start saving your dimes a day until you have got a fund which is earning four dimes a day for you.

Saving the four dimes a day out of your incomes is your problem. The other day I heard about a man who has brought up a family in a New York City on an average wage of $16.50 a week—and he spent $1.50 a week on drink. Maybe cutting out the drink allowance would make the saving.

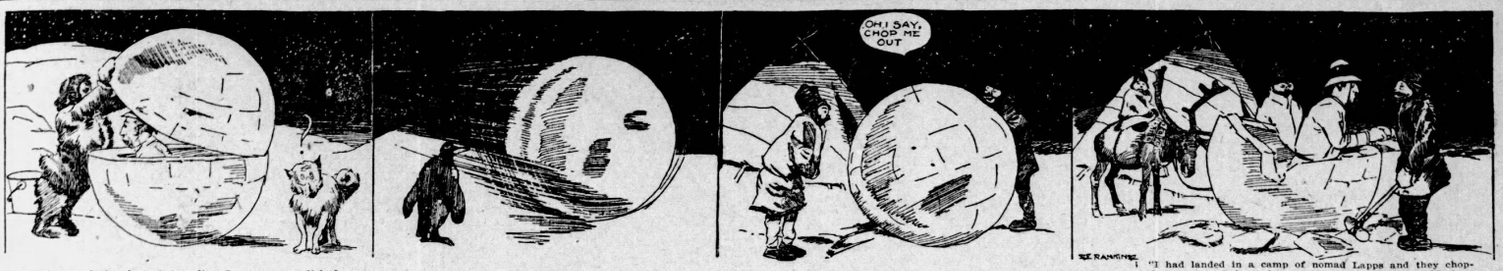
LORD LONGBOW---HE REACHES THE MAGNETIC POLE



1 "Some of the fastest traveling I ever accomplished was once when I wanted to get to the magnetic pole. A wireless told me of approaching high winds, so making a couple of igloos I had them frozen together with me inside.

2 "The magnetic currents were strong and me pocket magnet kept me from turning ovah and ovah as the ball spun and helped the wind draw me to the pole.

3 "I arrived with great speed over several hundred miles of ice, and as the currents all centre there the ball stopped, and I heard voices about me.

4 "I had landed in a camp of nomad Lapps and they chopped me out and feasted me on ragout of reindeer, old chap. I then looked up the discoverer's records, and believe him to be fully three inches out of the way in his calculations, old top." (Copyright, 1913, by W. Wemer.)

A BITTER BLOW

CONVERSATION
By Berton Braley

Few people talk in the way that they ought,
Clearly expressing and stating their thought.
Even the orator, trained to the stump,
Frequently wanders and drools like a chump.
Lacking this wisdom—right fresh from the shop—
"Know what you want to say, say it—and STOP!"

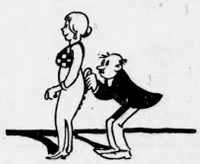
Nothing on earth is so deadly a bore
As the man who goes floundering on evermore,
Just floundering 'round in a deep verbal bog
While leaving his auditors wrapped in a fog.
And you long to call out—ere with ennui you drop—
"Know what you want to say, say it—and STOP."

It's something to know what you're planning to say;
It's something to say it as well as you may;
But greatest of things that a speaker can do
Is to stop when he's finished and quit when he's through.
So, here's where my sermon I suddenly chop—
Know what you want to say, say it—and STOP!"

TEACHER DIDN'T KICK

Mary had a little goat
With whiskers on its chin.
Ev'rywhere that Mary went
The goat he butted in.
He followed her to school one day.
'Twas just around the block.
The teacher wasn't angry, for
He was dead stuck on Bock.

SO IT WOULD, TOO



He helped her in her hobbled skirt.
They were to see a drama new.
"Don't laugh or cough," her husband said.
"It will be all off if you do."

Superstition and Juries
(Philadelphia Ledger.)

After having sat on many juries the observant man is of the opinion that the whole human race is still strongly tarred with the brush of superstition.

"I am confirmed in that belief by the amount of damages invariably voted to plaintiffs, whose injuries smack of superstitious origin," he said. "If a load of bricks should fall from a fifth story window onto the head of a man who happend to be walking under a ladder he would get twice as much damages as if the ladder were not there. The element of bad luck that attaches to a ladder would insensibly influence every juror, and the sum awarded would reflect their prejudices and sympathies."

Shot at Hat; Killed the Man
(New York Evening Sun.)

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.—The police are looking for William Millius, who disappeared a few nights ago after having shot and killed Ted Wolf, of Millertown.

The shooting was due to Millius' overestimation of himself as a marksman. Millius suggested to Wolf that the latter stand at a distance while Millius shot his hat from his head. "I can do it without touching your head," said Millius.

Wolf consented and Millius let go at him with both barrels of a shotgun. The top of Wolf's head was blown off. Millius ran away and has not been seen since. He was supposed to report at Hackensack, N. J., a little later for a tryout with the Troy team of the New York State league.

FOUR MORE OFFICERS UNDER SUSPENSION BY CHIEF'S ORDER

the bottom of the scandal has been reached.

To corroborate the statements of the negroes, the chief has the evidence of many white people in the vicinity, who say that they have frequently seen policemen entering the place, but who do not identify any particular man.

The police have often been there on the regular business because of negro brawls and shooting scrapes.

Bailey, Wood and David are charged with entering a negro bling tiger at 127 Auburn avenue at midnight last Wednesday and drinking there.

WHAT EVANS SWORE.

At the trial of the inmates of the "tiger" before the recorder Friday afternoon, Patrolman Bonas testified that David did not enter the place, but stood on the stoop with him, Evans.

Plain Clothes Men Moon and Adams, who secured the evidence in the case, having been detailed to the work by Captain Terry, who was acting under instructions of the chief, testified that they had seen David in the house with a glass in his hand.

It was because of his testimony, it is said, that Evans was suspended after the trial by Chief Beavers. The other officers were suspended earlier in the afternoon, before the negro operators of the place had been brought to trial.

Ola Bradley and Helen Moody, two negro women, who were tried before the recorder for operating the place, were sentenced to service in the stockade Friday by the recorder, and were also bound over to the higher courts on a charge of operating a blind tiger.

The investigation of the Auburn avenue resort commenced on the 15th of the month, it is said, when Captain W. F. Terry, received complaints from residents, who declared that a blind tiger was being operated at 127 Auburn and that policemen, often times in uniform, were seen entering the place. The captain reported the matter to the chief with the result that the probe was started.

The plain clothes men, who bring the charges, Adams and Moon, testify that they saw the three men drinking at a table with the inmates of the resort.

The accused officers strongly intimate that the charges were brought through spite.

Policeman Bailey, at the recorder's court hearing, explained his presence in the place by saying that Ola Bradley had long been known to the police as the best stool pigeon in the city, and that he went to her house to see if she could put him on the trail of certain crooks, who are sought by the police.

MOON ADMITS TAKING DRINK.

During the trial of the cases against the negro woman W. T. Moon, one of the men bringing the charges, admitted that he took a drink of whisky in the place with the proprietress about three weeks ago. He said that he did this simply to get evidence against the woman, who was already under suspicion, to convict her of operating a tiger. The plain clothes man said that he reported the matter immediately to his sergeant, who advised him not to make a raid until additional evidence was secured.

Neither Bailey, Evans nor David has resigned, and the three men expect to fight the charges against them before the board of police commissioners.

Bailey at headquarters Saturday morning, declared that he drank only ice water; that Wood entered the place with him, but drank nothing at all, and he bears out Evans' statement that David did not even enter the house at all, despite the testimony of the two plain clothes men.

It was reported to the chief that two policemen some days back engaged in a fight in the place, and this is one of the many charges, which he is investigating.

A. L. Matthews, a furniture dealer of 158 Edgewood avenue testifies that it is not an uncommon sight to see policemen going into Ola Bradley's avenue resort in the day as well as the night, and as a result the probe has spread to the day watch. Many other citizens corroborate Mathews it is said.

WOOD DENIES "EXPOSE."

Robert A. Wood, at his home at 411 Piedmont avenue, Saturday morning, declared that he had never a thing in the world against the police department of Atlanta and did not even know of any "exposures" which it was said he had threatened to make.

Certainly Mr. Wood had none of the appearance of an indignant ex-policeman who was bottling up all kinds of wrath and shocking revelations.

"First of all," said Mr. Wood, "about how we happened to get fired. I want to deny again that I drank anything but water at that Auburn avenue place. Three months ago I did go there on a call, as we heard there was going to be a dance there. Bailey and I went in, David and Evans stood on the door-step and didn't go in at all.

"Bailey and I just stayed for a few minutes and didn't drink a thing but a glass of ice-water. It was open as the day and of course those two detectives outside could see what we were doing.

Robbed Court, Then Undertaker's, and a Church Next Night

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

COLUMBUS, Ga., June 28.—Burglars are still abroad in the land and the police and county officers appear to be far from equal to the present emergency.

The latest burglary was the Church of the Holy Family on Twelfth street and the undertaking establishment of Herring & Knight, on Broad, both right in the heart of the city. No caskets were stolen in the latter place and the private pews were not disturbed in the former, the thieves being apparently bent on gathering the "cash," for they ransacked the church edifice, scattering the collection baskets in every direction, but it is stated that little in the way of money was found.

In the undertaking establishment some small change was taken, the office ransacked in every corner, but, as stated, coffins were not wanted, it seems.

The robbery of the county court house and of a number of store houses during the past week indicates that a band is boldly operating in the city and the officials are apparently doing all in their power to run down the guilty parties, but all in vain.

MILLIONAIRE LUMBERMAN IS INSANE, SAYS WIFE

ASHEVILLE, N. C., June 27.—Henry Clay Ward, millionaire lumber dealer of Pontiac, Mich., was today ordered confined in a local private asylum, having been adjudged insane. An insanity warrant was sworn out by Ward's wife, and he was given a hearing before the clerk of the superior court.

Two court officers from Pontiac, who have been in charge of Ward since he came here, about 3 months ago, ineffectually resisted the insanity proceedings. Mrs. Ward, who came here yesterday, left for Michigan tonight.

Do you think if there had been anything wrong that we would have done it out there in plain view of everybody?"

Wood asserted that he had been much misquoted when it was published in a local newspaper that he intended to make charges of graft against the police department.

"NO CORRUPTION," SAYS HE.

He repudiated that report, and instead gave high praise to the whole department, its system and its officers.

"The Atlanta police force," he declared, "has less of graft in it, I believe, than any other city in the world. There never has been any corruption, and there is no possible chance that it might grow corrupt in the future. Of course, there are some officers who ought not to be on the force, but in general the police officers of Atlanta are the most efficient and faithful you can find anywhere.

"I admire Chief Beavers. I've got no hard feelings against him or anybody else in the department except two men. The chief is an honest, upright man, and any charge that might be made against him would be ridiculous. I want to say again that I have never intimated that I would make any startling revelations against the department. There aren't any to make, so far as I know.

"As for my resigning, I have intended to resign for some time, and the action of Friday had nothing to do with it. I shall probably go into the grocery or meat business."

(By Associated Press.)

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 28.—Three deaths of adults, in addition to the usual quota of infant deaths, were added to the toll of heat victims here today.

Last night was the hottest of the year, and thousands fled to the parks and beaches for relief. Today the thermometer started out to break all altitude records when a mark of 89 degrees at 9 o'clock.

Ice Deliveries Are Resumed in Cincinnati

(By Associated Press.)

CINCINNATI, June 28.—Three deaths and numerous prostrations this forenoon marked what promised to be Cincinnati's hottest day thus far this summer. The temperature was 95 degrees at 11 o'clock. 2 degrees higher than it was at that time yesterday. Resumption of the delivery of ice despite the fact that the stri kecontinues probably prevented more fatalities.

Mercury Has Risen to 100 Degrees in Kentucky

(By Associated Press.)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 28.—Kentucky has sweltered in the intense heat wave of the past three days. Reports received today from eastern sections of the state say the protracted drouth is damaging corn and hay.

In the vicinity of Pikeille three deaths within five days from the heat are reported, besides numerous prostrations. The thermometer registered 100 at Pikeville yesterday and was near the same mark at noon today.

Showers Bring Relief In Parts of Oklahoma

(By Associated Press.)

KANSAS CITY, June 28.—All Kansas and western Missouri suffered from sweltering heat today. The temperature here had climbed to 89 by 11 o'clock with the prospect, the forecaster said, of nearing the 100 mark before night.

No relief was in sight for Missouri and Kansas, but rain in parts of Oklahoma lowered temperatures there. The early morning temperature at Oklaho*ma City* was 74 and rain was falling.

Numerous Prostrations Are Reported in Chicago

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, June 28.—After sweltering throughout the night, Chicago found itself confronted by another day of intense heat and suffering. The weather forecaster declares there is no relief in sight. Clear skies and a hot breeze *from the west added to the city's dis*comfort.

Charity organizations distributed tons of free ice in the tenement districts today and every public bathing beach was crowded.

The official temperature at 9 o'clock was 88. Numerous prostrations had been reported.

Cooler Weather for East Is in Sight

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 28.—No immediate relief for the middle west, but cooler weather today and tomorrow in the east.

That was the weather bureau's only answer today to the numbers of heat prostrations reported during the last twenty-four hours.

"The weather is not unseasonable and is not breaking any records," said Forecaster Frankenfield. "July is really the worst month o fthe year, though most people don't think so. It's midsummer, and everybody must expect midsummer weather for a while."

"SECOND MARRIAGE A TRIUMPH OF HOPE OVER EXPERIENCE"

Evins & Spence, Atlanta lawyers, Mrs. Keefer declared that her husband was a habitue of New York's white way, and despite his important investments and business in Atlanta could not stay away from the bright lights long.

$300 MONTHLY ALIMONY.

In her bill she asked the court for a rule restraining Keefer from disposing of valuable Atlanta real estate and from withdrawing his bank accounts here.

On hearing of the alimony and counsel fees phase of the suit in Fulton su*perior court Mrs. Keefer was awarded* a judgment of $300 monthly and her counsel a judgment of $3,000 in fees.

Suddenly she left for New York and later became reconciled to her husband. The Atlanta suit was withdrawn and the effect of the judgment nullified.

She came to Atlanta some six weeks ago and took up residence at 80 east Fourteenth street. She brought her daughter, Miss Elinor Macy, aged 16, and her son, Jack Macy, aged 18, with her. It was then she began the construction of the Piedmont avenue apartment house, which is to be her Paris pension over again.

CAR WAS A PRESENT.

Before coming to Atlanta and before the final separation from her husband he presented her, as a peace token, an expensive Lozier car, which she gave to her son.

After the separation Keefer sought to recover the car in proceedings instituted in supreme court in Port Chester. He failed, according to accounts in Port Chester newspapers, to appear at the trial and Mrs. Keefer took a judgment for possession of the car by default.

It was this car that caused the trouble last night. Keefer, seeking to gain possession of it, went with a deputy to serve papers in a civil suit. Young Macy was entertaining at the club but at the appearance of his step-father and Deputy Sheriff Plennie Miner went outside. Words followed and according to eye-witnesses blows also.

Mrs. Keefer was notified and she rushed to the scene followed by the police who had been summoned.

Mr. Keefer, who later went to police headquarters and made $200 bond for his appearance to answer charges, denied vehemently that he struck his wife. He declared that the boy, Jack, had been the whole cause of the trouble between his wife and himself and he said that when he drove away young Macy aided a dry battery after him.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Keefer are wealthy. It is said that when Mrs. Keefer, then the window of John Macy, married Keefer she was very rich. At present she owns valuable Atlanta property and a residence at Port Chester said to be worth $50,000.

Fasted; Ate; Went Crazy

WASHINGTON, June 28.—As the result of a 17 days' fast, Luther Bedford, a New York printer, today is in the Washington asylum for observation as to his sanity. He had been a sufferer from dyspepsia. Friends last night induced him to break his fast with a small piece of bread covered thickly with jam. He did so, and became so violent that the police were called. Physicians believe he will recover.

Teller of Fortunes Began Row Between Wife and Affinity

Nancy Kendall, colored teller of fortunes, cast one horoscope too many when she called on the "speerits" to reveal to her the whereabouts of the recreant husband of one of her dusky neighbors. As a result she was fined $25.75 in police court Saturday morning and was branded by Judge Broyles as the worst fake he has ever seen.

Nancy is a fortune-teller of renown. Many have been wont to consult her at her home, 101 Garnell street, whenever they dreamed about a black cat or lost a dime down the drain in the back yard.

The other day a neighbor came to Nancy with a tale of woe. Her husband, a darky, had eloped, she said, and she wanted to get him back. Nancy went into a trance and revealed the name of the "affinity."

A fight followed, the two women, deserted wife and "siren," were called into court, with Nancy as a witness. The whole story came out, whereupon the scrappers were discharged and Nancy was fined for doing business without a license and severely rebuked by the recorder for what he characterized as her "fake profession."

MR. E. O. REAGIN DIES AT DECATUR

Mr. E. O. Reagin, fifty-four years old, for many years a tax collector in DeKalb county, died at 1 o'clock Saturday morning at his home in Decatur. He was a Mason and a member of the Baptist church and leaves a host of friends.

Surviving him are his wife, seven children, thre brothers and four sisters. The body will be taken to Lithonia, Ga., at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon for funeral and interment.

THE BRILLIANT STARS OF JUNE

By the end of June, Mars, Venus, Saturn and Jupiter will all be morning stars, but Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is at all times the "Star" medicine for coughs, colds, croup and whoop*ing cough. A cold in June is as apt to* develop into bronchitis or pneumonia as at any other time, but not if Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is taken. It will surely head off the cold, and heal the inflamed membrane. The genuine in a yellow package. For sale by all dealers.—(Advt.)

GIDEONS WILL COMPLETE TORONTO TRIP PLANS

At the Gideon meeting this afternoon plans will be completed for the trip o fthe Atlanta delegation to the national convention at Toronto to be held the latter part of July. C. H. Burge, president of the Atlanta camp, will conduct the services.

The Atlanta Gideons yesterday afternoon completed their work of distributing bibles in the hotels of the city. They placed 285 volumes in the rooms of the new Ansley hotel.

THREE STORES LOOTED ON GORDON STREET

Three burglaries in the same block were reported to the police as having been committed during the night Friday. At the Battle Hall pharmacy, 788 Gordon street, money and stamps were taken at the grocery store of P. J. Key, 801 Gordon street, cigar; at the soda fount of F. D. Brtaaon, 803. Gordon, some change from the cash register and some checks. In each case the front window of the store was broken open.

Fortune Grows Out Of 25 cent Capital

NEW YORK, June 28.—Captain Israel J. Merritt, who died several months ago, left a net estate of $681,813, accord*ing to the report filed* with the transfer tax appraiser. Captain Merritt started life in this city with a capital of 25 cents. He obtained a vessel and began dredging in New York harbor for lost anchors. Those that he recovered he sold and thus got his first capital. With it he started in wrecking ventures.

The estate goes to his widow and his four children.

IOWA STATE BAR CONCURS WITH SPEER

(By Associated Press.)

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, June 28.—Concurrence with the declaration of Judge Emory Speer, of Macon, Ga., federal judge of the southern Georgia district, that the espionage of judges and their courts by the department of justice was un-American and should be abolished made in his address Wednesday to the convention, was expressed by resolutions at the meeting of the Iowa State Bar association yesterday.

TOWNS ALONG W. & A. TO DISCUSS LEASE QUESTION

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ADAIRSVILLE, Ga., June 28.—At a mass meeting of citizens here a memorial was issued to towns along the Western and Atlantic railroad asking them to hold similar meetings and discuss the disposition of the road.

It is planned to present the views of each town to the W. & A. convention to be held in Atlanta.

B. L. F. Against Sutherland Bill

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen in annual session here today, went on record in opposition to the workingmen's compensation bill introduced by Senator Sutherland, of Utah. A resolution was adopted opposing the measure on the ground that if enacted into law it would virtually nullify the existing employer's liability act. The Sutherland bill would establish a uniform rate of compensation for injuries.

Three Treaties Extended

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The special arbitration treaties of the United States with Japan, Sweden and Portugal, which would have expired by limitation within the next month, today were extended by protocols signed by Secretary Bryan, the Japanese ambassador and the Swedish and Portuguese ministers.

Atlanta Excursion at Coast

CHARLESTON, S. C., June 28.—An excursion of about 250 people, under the auspices of the Atlanta City Salesmen's association, arrived here this morning enroute to the Isle of Palms for a stay of six days. The excursionists are in charge of President H. L. Simmons and Chairman W. J. McNair.

Full Crew Law Upheld

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 28.—The supreme court of Pennsylvania affirmed today a lower court, upholding the constitutionality of the "full crew law." The Pennsylvania railroad claimed it would increase the road's expenses nearly half a million dollars annually without possessing additional safeguards for the traveling public. The law is similar to those of Arkansas and Indiana which have been passed upon by the United States supreme court. It requires an extra brakeman *on all passen*ger trains of more than three cars and all freight trains with more than thirty cars.
